The Editor's column

We discovered last Friday how little we really know about Chicago. We wish all of our readers could have been with us on the News-a-rama that the Headline Club of Chicago had arranged for delegates and visitors to the 46th annual convention of Sigma Delta Chi.

The 4-day program included talks by editors, writers and men in the know-how of world affairs.

The editors and TV personalities took their hair down and the reporters and small time editors, such as we, discovered that the big fellow's problems are not much different than ours.

We suppose the Chicago police department is keeping the old Chicago avenue police station as a relic of the wild and wooly prohibition days. It is the most dilapidated public building we have ever entered.

It provided an ideal setting, however, for the stories told by 3 veteran reporters who had personally reported the killing of Bannion, the Valentine's day massacre and the story of the capture of Dillinger.

You may say, "That is all old history," but the first hand account by reporters who "were there" when they occurred gave a realistic touch as interesting as any crime fiction.

We wonder how many of our readers have visited the Chicago Historical building, the Museum of Science and Industry or the captured German submarine. The 500 delegates from distant cities as well as from Illinois showed a lot of interest in visits to those places.

They had a brief glance at the past—at Chicago's fame as well as its glories.

The 4-hour tour cannot be told in the 5 minutes it takes for you to read this column. It was with a feeling of awe that we gathered in the room beneath the stands in Stagg Field where the atomic bomb, had its birth December 2, 1942.

The story of the research in which a small group of scientists engaged was vividly told by 2 of them who had a part in the successful release of nuclear energy one of whom was the recipient of the Nobel prize.

In the adjoining laboratory, we were told that the scientists consider futher development of atomic energy as a job for engineers.

They are now trying to discover the source of the universe.

They play with gamma radiation in their studies and electrical energy that runs into the millions of electron volts and requires the expenditure of millions of dollars.

When making the first successful test on that day in December, 1942, the scientists were not certain that they could control the energy that they were about to uncork.

Fearful that the entire southside of Chicago might be destroyed by further experiments in Stagg Field, the war department ordered studies there shut down and removed to a safe place in Palos Park.

As fast as United States scientists build bigger and better betatrons, word comes from Russia that the Communists have greater ones.

Our fears were set at rest, however, when the professor in the laboratory told us that the studies in which Russian and American scientists are "racing" is not for greater war machines. It is purely along scientific lines.

The final result? Only the future can tell.

As the scientists are devoting their lives to discovering new elements, so are the dispensers of public information looking into the future. As one editor said, "What we do and think now makes the future; today's thinking becomes past tense tomorrow."

This editor accepted as vitamin pills what he learned as he sat on the sidelines and listened to the giants of public information discuss the theme of the convention, "Responsible Journalism—Bulwark of Freedom."

Before the next editor's column comes off the press, the people of Arlington Heights will have spoken on city managership. Fortunately there have been few personalities injected into the campaign. Some of the best minds in the community are divided.

There have been many misleading statements made which reminds us of the first high school election that was so severely defeated only to have the community reverse itself a few months later. Today, we hear school patrons blame that first defeat upon this newspaper because they claim it did not nail to the cross some of the statements made by that bond issue.

Again as before, we are not going to call any citizens liars. It is just that we think they are a bit mistaken when they raise the war cry of increased taxes and dictatorship.

Under our democratic form of government, politics enters even village elections. A sure way to divorce politics from municipal operations is by the appointment of a top notch administrative officer and we are confident that the members of the village board are well qualified to hire the right man, once the voters have spoken.

Villagers confused by counterclaims in connection with the manager issue will find much light in this week's Fence Post, on the subject in the letter from the mayor of Evanston, describing that city's experience.

Readers can also learn the provisions of the state manager law by reading the Edmund O'Brien letter in the Fence Post.

Adequate fire protection in Arlington Heights is important and voters should not allow the village manager voting to overshadow the vote for the northside fire house bond issue.

Woman Dies From Rand Road Wreck

Bertha A. Lentz, 45, died Sunday. She had been confined to Sherman hospital, Elgin, since November 3 with serious injuries sustained in an auto wreck.

The Round Lake mother is another victim of the critical hazard of Rand rd., Cook county's death trap.

Mrs. Lentz was injured in the crash at 12 and route 53, 4 miles north of Palatine. Her car collided head-on with one driven by Leo Herbst, 23, of 512 W. Campbell st., Arington Heights.

THE STATE has been casual about the pleas of residents in the northwest area that action be taken to cut the high speed of U. S. 12 between Lake Zurich and Des Plaines.

In the forefront of the struggle to slice the death and accident rate are Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman and members of the county board. Both are powerless to post a speed limit on the unpatrolled roadway, however, because it is solely under state jurisdiction.

Boys Play 'Auto Tag" Damage Public Property

Two boys, apparently playing "tag" with their autos, were picker up by police this week after one lost control of his car and hit a stop sign at Morris Parkway and Northwest hwy., skidded across the road and hit a pipe on the southwest corner of the building occupied by Hilltop Studio, 1716 E. Northwest hwy.

The boys began the "game" in Mt. Prospect, when one flashed his spotlight on the car of the other and the chase followed. The lad who lost control of his car told police the other boy had pulled from one lane into the other and in order to avoid hitting him he had to swerve his car. After the crash, both cars headed back to Mt. Prospect, where the driver of the damaged car got out and did physical damage to the other boy's car.

This action led to the search for Richard F. Palmer, Mt. Prospect, who did the damage. He was picked up by Officer Jack Aldrich of the Arlington Heights police department at the Youth Center and issued a ticket for damaging public property. The other car was driven by Glen H. Petersen of Palatine. He was apprehended by the Mt. Prospect police. (AMP

Threaten To Go On Their Own In $22 Million Water Project

Mayor Olsen, and Robt. Angley of Palatine attended a conference at Elmhurst last week at which they learned that so-called west suburbs are ready to go ahead on a Lake Michigan water project without including the Northwest suburbs through whose area the pipe line would pass.

Representatives of Northwest suburbs have been asked to meet Nov. 30 at Palatine when they will consider their position. Different engineering firms are furthering each project.

The City of Chicago seeks to also enter the picture. It has submitted to the northwest communities a volumnous brochure on the water service that is is in a position to give.

Cook county communities, outside of the Chicago Sanitary district will have the opportunity to vote next year on a metropolitan district, countywide, to handle sewage and drainage.

Doctors Form Committee To Work With Hospital Board

Doctors of the area to be served by the proposed Northwest Community Hospital Center met recently and selected a committee that will act as a liaison between the doctors and the hospital board.

This is another step toward building a hospital for the northwest area, which will serve the townships of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine, Barrington and Schaumburg.

SIX DOCTORS, one from each of the communities in the hospital area, were chosen to serve on the committee. They are: Dr. G. D. Soltz, Arlington Heights; Dr. S. J. Peterson, Barrington; Dr. W. G. Bagnuolo, Mt. Prospect; Dr. J. Fleishmann, Palatine, Dr. M. P. Meisenheimer, Prospect Heights, and Dr. E. L. Larson, Wheeling.

Plans are now underway for the fund raising campaign to be held the early part of next year. Final arrangements are also being made on the site for the proposed hospital.

In the meantime money is still pouring into the hospital "coffers" as a result of benefits and donations being made in the entire area by the public in general.

THE "HALLOWEEN Pennies" now total $2,435.41. A suggestion has been made that this become an annual event, with all money collected by the kiddies going into a fund to be used by the pediatrics division of the hospital.

Mt. Prospect Lions club turned over a check for $1,000 to the hospital fund, out of proceeds earned from its annual carnival.

Palatine boy scout troops have made more than a 100 "penny pots," more than half of which are now in Palatine stores. The "penny pots" are the brainwork of Mrs. Neal T. Dean, Palatine, and as the pots fill up they will be emptied in the window of the Dean and Peters real estate office in Palatine. The pots are filling rapidly and there's a good chance the display window will be filled to overflowing in the not too distant future.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Lions club announced plans to award a 21 inch RCA color television set as a benefit for the hospital. Residents of the area received letters this week telling of the plans.

A total of 7 gifts are scheduled to be given away in connection with this program. The awards will be made December 20, at 8 p.m., following the regular Lions club meeting. The event will take place in the dining room at St. Peter Lutheran school.

Notice

All residents of the village of Arlington Heights are notified to refrain from burning leaves or any other debris on streets within the village as per ordinance.

Elementary School Board Reveals Expansion Plans

Members of the board of education in a letter to parents and friends this week revealed the need for a second Junior high school, to be built on the 19-acre Miner st. site already owned by the school district, and another kindergarten through fifth grade school, to be built in the Westgate Unit II subdivision on 7 acres of land donated for that purpose by the subdivider.

Expansion plans also call for certain alterations or additions at the present Junior high school. These would include a new library to be constructed above the present home economics room, conversion of the room next to the present central offices to provide additional office space for expanded administrative and clerical staff, and a simple addition to the kitchen to provide needed storage and work space.

THE PROPOSED new Junior high school will be designed for possibe expansion to a Junior high school of 900 students. Initial construction would accommodate 540 students, 270 being Junior high and 270 being kindergarten through fifth grade students. At a later date a separate kindergarten through fifth grade unit would be built on this site and the Junior high would then take over the entire original building.

It is estimated this program would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and present plans call for a referendum early in 1956. Architects are now preparing tentative plans.

This action by the board is the result of enrollment studies that show projected enrollment for the Junior high school will be almost 900 by 1957, increasing to 1,200 by 1959. Present enrollment at the Junior high school is 730, with students divided into 24 classes.

NORTH SCHOOL is now overcrowded with an enrollment of 573 pupils. This is expected to increase to 950 by 1957 and to hit 1,250 pupils by 1959-60.

On the 6 school sites now owned by the district the board hopes eventually to have 8 buildings, making a Junior high and 3 kindergarten through fifth grade schools on each side of the railroad tracks. It is believed these 8 buildings, with necessary additions, could accommodate an eventual enrollment of 5,000 pupils. At the present rate of growth this peak will be reached in 1959-60.

Village Votes Saturday On Firehouse, Manager

Cite Urgent Need For New North Firehouse

A $115,000 bond issue for a new northside fire station will be placed before voters Saturday.

The new building, land and improvements will cost $80,000. The additional $35,000 is for a new 1000-gallon pumper, 3000 ft. of hose, a fire siren, gas masks, and other equipment.

If approved, the firehouse will provide the village with 2 good fire trucks on both sides of the railroad tracks.

CHIEF E. J. Winkelman said the new fire station should take care of village needs for many years. Facilities will be provided for adequate quarters of a full-time fire department, when the situation requires a change from the voluntary department.

"This is one essentian bond issue," declared Mayor Goedke, "on which there is no disagreement of members on the village board. Let's give our fire department a real vote of confidence and provide the bonding authority to erect a new fire station and purchase an additional truck."

Growth of the village north of the C&NW tracks has made it imperative for fire fighting facilities to be available in an emergency. At present, trucks could be held up by a train blocking the crossing.

Voting will be from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Republicans Organize Representative Committee

The representative committee of the Republican party for the Sixth Representative District met at Renzlaff's restaurant November 8, and perfected their organization. The 11 Republican township committeemen who have all or parts of their townships in the Sixth District were present. Senator Arthur J. Bidwill presided, and Sherman H. Canty, committeeman of Elk Grove Township, was elected chairman and Arthur E. Simmons, committeeman of Niles Township, was elected secretary of the permanent committee.

The function of the committee is to decide whether the Republican party will nominate 1, 2 or 3 candidates for representative from the district, and to name a person to replace any candidate for the position who is nominated in April and either dies or withdraws from the race before the election in November.

Youth, 14, Killed In Gun Mishap

A 14-year-old Palatine youth was accidentally shot and fatally wounded on his parents' farm, route 3, Saturday morning.

It was the third tragic death of a teenager in a week.

Anthony Geisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geisler, died in his mother's arms while being rushed to St. Joseph hospital in a car being driven by his uncle, Joseph Geisler, 42, who was nearby when the accident occurred. The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

CORONER L. Victor Peterson conducted an inquest Sunday morning. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The boy was shot in the abdomen by a charge of pellets from a .12 gauge shotgun with which he was hunting pheasant while working with his uncle in repairing a fence on the farm.

Joseph Geisler said he had reached the fence and Tony was walking toward him when he heard a muffled shot. He looked around to see the youth fall to the ground. It was believed the boy stumbled while walking across the field and the gun was accidentally discharged as it struck the ground with end of the barrel close to the boy's stomach.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held at St. Theresa church, Palatine, Tuesday morning with interment in St. Boniface cemetery, Chicago.

Anthony was born in Chicago January 20, 1941. He was a student at St. Edward school, Elgin. He is survived by his parents, 2 brothers Alfred and Joseph, and 2 sisters, Mary and Rose Mary.

Earlier in the week 2 Palatine high school students, John Goodwille and Sue Danisch, were killed on Northwest hwy. by a speeding car.

Used Clothing Drive

Lutheran World Relief is sponsoring a used clothing drive again at Thanksgivng time in cooperation with all Lutheran churches of Chicagoland.

St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, is cooperating in this effort again this fall and the public is invited to bring usable clothing or shoes to St. Peter Lutheran school basement or to the Lutheran parsonage, 315 N. Highland ave. by Tuesday, Nov. 22. The Couples club of St. Peter church will pack the items that evening. Mr. Roland Bolte is chairman of the local drive.

The need for winter garments, for children's clothes and shoes is still urgent in Europe, the Near East and the orient.

Lack Of Organized Opposition Spurs Pro-Manager Citizens

One of the most lopsided and confused election campaigns in recent years will be climaxed Saturday when voters decide on village manager government for Arlington Heights.

The election is confused because few voters seem to understand or comprehend the complexities of village managership, pro or con.

It is lopsided by the absence of any public opposition.

A worker in the independent Citizens for Village Manager said Monday it was like Don Quixote battling the windmills. "Opposition, if any, has been tight lipped. There has been nothing but silence; we don't know the people we are fighting."

ALTHOUGH A number of private citizens and village officials have publicly declared themselves in support of manager government, Trustee Forrest F. Davis alone has announced his opposition.

Hopeful for victory, the Citizens group has 300 workers ringing doorbells in a block organization to sell voters on the manager plan.

Also confident of the election outcome is Trustee Davis, who said he is sure voters will reject manager government in Arlington Heights.

Polls will open at 6 a.m. Saturday and close at 5 p.m.

Precinct 1—village hall; precinct 2—1709 W. Miner; precinct 3—115 E. Davis; precinct 4—First Presbyterian church; precinct 5—North school; precinct 6—114 S. Dryden.

THE REFERENDUM vote is being held as a result of action taken Sept. 22 at 2 a.m. by a majority of the village board. Trustee Davis at that time began negotiations to repeal the ordinance creating the office of village manager and to write a new ordinance to create the office of village comptroller.

Interested citizens circulated petitions requesting a referendum, which was approved by County Judge Otto Kerner.

The Citizens committee, under joint chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Chapman, was organized to support the manager plan.

CONFUSION HAS arisen because Arlington Heights since 1954 has been operating under the ordinance manager plan. Under this provision, the village board has complete control over the SYSTEM. They can abondon it at will, or continue it at will.

If voters approve the referendum Saturday, the village board can hire or fire MANAGERS at will, but the voters must d[illegible] by referendum whether o[illegible] abandon the SYSTEM.

Also, the manager has [illegible] powers under the statute under the ordinance plan.

Boy Scout Pancake, Sausage Supper Monday

Troop 7 and Explorer Post 707 boy scouts will hold their annual pancake and sausage supper at the Arlington Heights Methodist church Monday, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained from the scouts or purchased at the door. All profits will be used to purchase equipment for the troop. Scoutmaster Herbert Smith and Explorer Advisor Don Traver are assisting the scouts with arrangements.

South Side Paper Pickup Saturday

The regular bimonthly scrap paper pickup will be made by Arlington Heights boy scouts on the south side of Northwest highway, this Saturday, starting at 9 o'clock.

Securely tied bundles should be placed on the curb by 9 a.m. or brought to the Junior high school grounds before noon. Special handling can be arranged by calling Cl 3-0508 before 9 a.m. Saturday.

Arlington Wants To End 'Free Radio Ride' Given Palatine

Arlington Heights thinks it is time to end the $30 "free ride" that its radio department has been giving Palatine. They say that Palatine now has 4 mobile units served by them. The volume of radio business almost equals their own. They suggest a monthly fee of $150.

Additions to the Palatine police personnel authorized Monday evening will make possible a desk sergeant in the Palatine station 24 hours a day which should lessen calls to Arlington. Palatine has referred the matter to the police committee.

Seek Blanket Rights For Helicopter Service

Some day every community within a 75 mile radius of O'Hare may have helicopter air service.

Notices have been received by village boards that Helicopter Air Service is seeking a certificate of public convenience and necessity to engage in intrastate air transportation over that area.

Name Local Chairmen Of Christmas Seal Drive

Christmas Seals were received by Chicago area residents this week, alerting many to the fact that Christmas is only a little more than a month away.

Contributions sent for the Christmas Seals are used by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County to carry on the chest X-ray, research, rehabilitation and health education programs.

ACCORDING to George W. Dixon, Jr., general chairman for the campaign, 94 per cent of Christmas Seal sale dollars remain in Chicago and Cook County to carry on the fight against tuberculosis here. The other six per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis association for medical research which is constantly finding improved methods for treating and curing tuberculosis.

Mrs. John Allen, 116 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Robert Wilson Jr., 309 N. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, Christmas Seal sale chairmen in their respective comunities, pointed out that the holiday season begins now in many of the million homes where Christmas Seals are received, since thousands of families make their first gift of the season to the fight against TB. The chairmen urged residents to mail their contributions early.

IN ARLINGTON Heights, 1,281 X-rays were taken when the mobile unit visited the community during this year's survey. Of these, 15 showed suspicious signs of tuberculosis.

In Mount Prospect, 771 X-rays were taken when the mobile unit visited the community and 12 showed suspicious signs of tuberculosis.

The companion Christmas Seals this year feature a boy and a girl, each dressed in bright wintry clothing and holding gift packages. Apple green is the background of one Seal and the other is sky blue.

Those who do not receive Christmas Seals or who wish to purchase additional seals may order them by calling TAylor 9-1222.

During 1955 a total of 11,991 X-rays were taken in the following communities: Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Glenview, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Mt. Prospect, Northbrook, Palatine, Park Ridge, and Skokie. Of these 175 suspected cases of tuberculosis were found, 14 of which have been sent to TB sanitariums for treatment. Three of these were from Arlington Heights. (AM

THE CONCERT November 27 will herald the first appearance in the northwest area of Willard Straight, a young pianist frequently compared to the late William Kapell.

Straight is no stranger to the concert stage. He will interrupt an extensive concert tour in order to appear in the benefit.

He has been soloist with several major symphonies, including Chicago and Grant Park. His recital last winter in Orchestra hall was hailed by Chicago critics as heralding the beginning of a brilliant concert artist.

BARBARA LEICHSENRING is well-known to northwest music-lovers. A resident of Mount Prospect, she has won recognition for her solo and oratorio work in the Chicago area. Last spring she was soloist with the Northwest symphony.

Currently studying opera at Indiana university, Miss Leichsenring has also studied at American Conservatory of Music and Roosevelt university.

She will be accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Threaten To Go On Their Own In $22 Million Water Project

Mayor Olsen, and Robt. Angley of Palatine attended a conference at Elmhurst last week at which they learned that so-called west suburbs are ready to go ahead on a Lake Michigan water project without including the Northwest suburbs through whose area the pipe line would pass.

Representatives of Northwest suburbs have been asked to meet Nov. 30 at Palatine when they will consider their position. Different engineering firms are furthering each project.

The City of Chicago seeks to also enter the picture. It has submitted to the northwest communities a volumnous brochure on the water service that is is in a position to give.

Cook county communities, outside of the Chicago Sanitary district will have the opportunity to vote next year on a metropolitan district, countywide, to handle sewage and drainage.

Doctors Form Committee To Work With Hospital Board

Doctors of the area to be served by the proposed Northwest Community Hospital Center met recently and selected a committee that will act as a liaison between the doctors and the hospital board.

This is another step toward building a hospital for the northwest area, which will serve the townships of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine, Barrington and Schaumburg.

SIX DOCTORS, one from each of the communities in the hospital area, were chosen to serve on the committee. They are: Dr. G. D. Soltz, Arlington Heights; Dr. S. J. Peterson, Barrington; Dr. W. G. Bagnuolo, Mt. Prospect; Dr. J. Fleishmann, Palatine, Dr. M. P. Meisenheimer, Prospect Heights, and Dr. E. L. Larson, Wheeling.

Plans are now underway for the fund raising campaign to be held the early part of next year. Final arrangements are also being made on the site for the proposed hospital.

In the meantime money is, still pouring into the hospital "coffers" as a result of benefits and donations being made in the entire area by the public in general.

THE "HALLOWEEN Pennies" now total $2,435.41. A suggestion has been made that this become an annual event, with all money collected by the kiddies going into a fund to be used by the pediatrics division of the hospital.

Palatine boy scout troops have made more than a 100 "penny pots," more than half of which are now in Palatine stores. The "penny pots" are the brainwork of Mrs. Neal T. Dean, Palatine, and as the pots fill up they will be emptied in the window of the Dean and Peters real estate office in Palatine. The pots are filling rapidly and there's a good chance the display window will be filled to overflowing in the not too distant future.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Lions club announced plans to award a 21 inch RCA color television set as a benefit for the hospital. Residents of the area received letters this week telling of the plans.

A total of 7 gifts are scheduled to be given away in connection with this program. The awards will be made December 20, at 8 p.m., following the regular Lions club meeting. The event will take place in the dining room at St. Peter Lutheran school.

Elementary School Board Reveals Expansion Plans

Members of the board of education in a letter to parents and friends this week revealed the need for a second Junior high school, to be built on the 19-acre Miner st. site already owned by the school district, and another kindergarten through fifth grade school, to be built in the Westgate Unit II subdivision on 7 acres of land donated for that purpose by the subdivider.

Expansion plans also call for certain alterations or additions at the present Junior high school. These would include a new library to be constructed above the present home economics room, conversion of the room next to the present central offices to provide additional office space for expanded administrative and clerical staff, and a simple addition to the kitchen to provide needed storage and work space.

THE PROPOSED new Junior high school will be designed for possibe expansion to a Junior high school of 900 students. Initial construction would accommodate 540 students, 270 being Junior high and 270 being kindergarten through fifth grade students. At a later date a separate kindergarten through fifth grade unit would be built on this site and the Junior high would then take over the entire original building.

It is estimated this program would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 and present plans call for a referendum early in 1956. Architects are now preparing tentative plans.

This action by the board is the result of enrollment studies that show projected enrollment for the Junior high school will be almost 900 by 1957, increasing to 1,200 by 1959. Present enrollment at the Junior high school is 730, with students divided into 24 classes.

NORTH SCHOOL is now overcrowded with an enrollment of 573 pupils. This is expected to increase to 950 by 1957 and to hit 1,250 pupils by 1959-60.

On the 6 school sites now owned by the district the board hopes eventually to have 8 buildings, making a Junior high and 3 kindergarten through fifth grade schools on each side of the railroad tracks. It is believed these 8 buildings, with necessary additions, could accommodate an eventual enrollment of 5,000 pupils. At the present rate of growth this peak will be reached in 1959-60.

Village Votes Saturday On Firehouse, Manager

Cite Urgent Need For New North Firehouse

A $115,000 bond issue for a new northside fire station will be placed before voters Saturday.

The new building, land and improvements will cost $80,000. The additional $35,000 is for a new 1000-gallon pumper, 3000 ft. of hose, a fire siren, gas masks, and other equipment.

If approved, the firehouse will provide the village with 2 good fire trucks on both sides of the railroad tracks.

CHIEF E. J. Winkelman said the new fire station should take care of village needs for many years. Facilities will be provided for adequate quarters of a full-time fire department, when the situation requires a change from the voluntary department.

"This is one essentian bond issue," declared Mayor Goedke, "on which there is no disagreement of members on the village board. Let's give our fire department a real vote of confidence and provide the bonding authority to erect a new fire station and purchase an additional truck."

Growth of the village north of the C&NW tracks has made it imperative for fire fighting facilities to be available in an emergency. At present, trucks could be held up by a train blocking the crossing.

Voting will be from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Republicans Organize Representative Committee

The representative committee of the Republican party for the Sixth Representative District met at Renzlaff's restaurant November 8, and perfected their organization. The 11 Republican township committeemen who have all or parts of their townships in the Sixth District were present. Senator Arthur J. Bidwill presided, and Sherman H. Canty, committeeman of Elk Grove Township, was elected chairman and Arthur E. Simmons, committeeman of Niles Township, was elected secretary of the permanent committee.

The function of the committee is to decide whether the Republican party will nominate 1, 2 or 3 candidates for representative from the district, and to name a person to replace any candidate for the position who is nominated in April and either dies or withdraws from the race before the election in November.

Youth, 14, Killed In Gun Mishap

A 14-year-old Palatine youth was accidentally shot and fatally wounded on his parents' farm, route 3, Saturday morning.

It was the third tragic death of a teenager in a week.

Anthony Geisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geisler, died in his mother's arms while being rushed to St. Joseph hospital in a car being driven by his uncle, Joseph Geisler, 42, who was nearby when the accident occurred. The youth was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

CORONER L. Victor Peterson conducted an inquest Sunday morning. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The boy was shot in the abdomen by a charge of pellets from a .12 gauge shotgun with which he was hunting pheasant while working with his uncle in repairing a fence on the farm.

Joseph Geisler said he had reached the fence and Tony was walking toward him when he heard a muffled shot. He looked around to see the youth fall to the ground. It was believed the boy stumbled while walking across the field and the gun was accidentally discharged as it struck the ground with end of the barrel close to the boy's stomach.

FUNERAL SERVICES were held at St. Theresa church, Palatine, Tuesday morning with interment in St. Boniface cemetery, Chicago.

Anthony was born in Chicago January 20, 1941. He was a student at St. Edward school, Elgin. He is survived by his parents, 2 brothers Alfred and Joseph, and 2 sisters, Mary and Rose Mary.

Earlier in the week 2 Palatine high school students, John Goodwille and Sue Danisch, were killed on Northwest hwy. by a speeding car.

Used Clothing Drive

Lutheran World Relief is sponsoring a used clothing drive again at Thanksgivng time in cooperation with all Lutheran churches of Chicagoland.

St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, is cooperating in this effort again this fall and the public is invited to bring usable clothing or shoes to St. Peter Lutheran school basement or to the Lutheran parsonage, 315 N. Highland ave. by Tuesday, Nov. 22. The Couples club of St. Peter church will pack the items that evening. Mr. Roland Bolte is chairman of the local drive.

The need for winter garments, for children's clothes and shoes is still urgent in Europe, the Near East and the orient.

Lack Of Organized Opposition Spurs Pro-Manager Citizens

One of the most lopsided and confused election campaigns in recent years will be climaxed Saturday when voters decide on village manager government for Arlington Heights.

The election is confused because few voters seem to understand or comprehend the complexities of village managership, pro or con.

It is lopsided by the absence of any public opposition.

A worker in the independent Citizens for Village Manager said Monday it was like Don Quixote battling the windmills. "Opposition, if any, has been tight lipped. There has been nothing but silence; we don't know the people we are fighting."

ALTHOUGH A number of private citizens and village officials have publicly declared themselves in support of manager government, Trustee Forrest F. Davis alone has announced his opposition.

Hopeful for victory, the Citizens group has 300 workers ringing doorbells in a block organization to sell voters on the manager plan.

Also confident of the election outcome is Trustee Davis, who said he is sure voters will reject manager government in Arlington Heights.

Polls will open at 6 a.m. Saturday and close at 5 p.m.

Precinct 1—village hall; precinct 2—1709 W. Miner; precinct 3—115 E. Davis; precinct 4—First Presbyterian church; precinct 5—North school; precinct 6—114 S. Dryden.

THE REFERENDUM vote is being held as a result of action taken Sept. 22 at 2 a.m. by a majority of the village board. Trustee Davis at that time began negotiations to repeal the ordinance creating the office of village manager and to write a new ordinance to create the office of village comptroller.

Interested citizens circulated petitions requesting a referendum, which was approved by County Judge Otto Kerner.

The Citizens committee, under joint chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Chapman, was organized to support the manager plan.

CONFUSION HAS arisen because Arlington Heights since 1954 has been operating under the ordinance manager plan. Under this provision, the village board has complete control over the SYSTEM. They can abondon it at will, or continue it at will.

If voters approve the referendum Saturday, the village board can hire or fire MANAGERS at will, but the voters must [illegible] by referendum whether or [illegible] abandon the SYSTEM.

Also, the manager has [illegible] powers under the statute [illegible] under the ordinance plan.

Boy Scout Pancake, Sausage Supper Monday

Troop 7 and Explorer Post 707 boy scouts will hold their annual pancake and sausage supper at the Arlington Heights Methodist church Monday, from 5 to 7 p.m.

Tickets may be obtained from the scouts or purchased at the door. All profits will be used to purchase equipment for the troop. Scoutmaster Herbert Smith and Explorer Advisor Don Traver are assisting the scouts with arrangements.

South Side Paper Pickup Saturday

The regular bimonthly scrap paper pickup will be made by Arlington Heights boy scouts on the south side of Northwest highway, this Saturday, starting at 9 o'clock.

Securely tied bundles should be placed on the curb by 9 a.m. or brought to the Junior high school grounds before noon. Special handling can be arranged by calling Cl 3-0508 before 9 a.m. Saturday.

Arlington Wants To End 'Free Radio Ride' Given Palatine

Arlington Heights thinks it is time to end the $30 "free ride" that its radio department has been giving Palatine. They say that Palatine now has 4 mobile units served by them. The volume of radio business almost equals their own. They suggest a monthly fee of $150.

Additions to the Palatine police personnel authorized Monday evening will make possible a desk sergeant in the Palatine station 24 hours a day which should lessen calls to Arlington. Palatine has referred the matter to the police committee.

Seek Blanket Rights For Helicopter Service

Some day every community within a 75 mile radius of O'Hare may have helicopter air service.

Notices have been received by village boards that Helicopter Air Service is seeking a certificate of public convenience and necessity to engage in intrastate air transportation over that area.

Name Local Chairmen Of Christmas Seal Drive

Christmas Seals were received by Chicago area residents this week, alerting many to the fact that Christmas is only a little more than a month away.

Contributions sent for the Christmas Seals are used by the Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County to carry on the chest X-ray, research, rehabilitation and health education programs.

ACCORDING to George W. Dixon, Jr., general chairman for the campaign, 94 per cent of Christmas Seal sale dollars remain in Chicago and Cook County to carry on the fight against tuberculosis here. The other six per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis association for medical research which is constantly finding improved methods for treating and curing tuberculosis.

Mrs. John Allen, 116 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Robert Wilson Jr., 309 N. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, Christmas Seal sale chairmen in their respective comunities, pointed out that the holiday season begins now in many of the million homes where Christmas Seals are received, since thousands of families make their first gift of the season to the fight against TB. The chairmen urged residents to mail their contributions early.

IN ARLINGTON Heights, 1,281 X-rays were taken when the mobile unit visited the community during this year's survey. Of these, 15 showed suspicious signs of tuberculosis.

In Mount Prospect, 771 X-rays were taken when the mobile unit visited the community and 12 showed suspicious signs of tuberculosis.

The companion Christmas Seals this year feature a boy and a girl, each dressed in bright wintry clothing and holding gift packages. Apple green is the background of one Seal and the other is sky blue.

Those who do not receive Christmas Seals or who wish to purchase additional seals may order them by calling TAylor 9-1222.

During 1955 a total of 11,991 X-rays were taken in the following communities: Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Glenview, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Mt. Prospect, Northbrook, Palatine, Park Ridge, and Skokie. Of these 175 suspected cases of tuberculosis were found, 14 of which have been sent to TB sanitariums for treatment. Three of these were from Arlington Heights. (AM

Push Ticket Sales For Benefit Concert

Five organizations were uniting this week in an effort to swell the hospital fund with donations to a benefit concert November 27.

Members of the groups are offering more than 1,500 tickets to the program expected to aid the northwest hospital center by more than $1,600.

Tickets to the concert at 8 p.m. in Maine Township high school auditorium are 1 dollar with all proceeds turned over to the growing hospital fund.

Willard Straight, pianist, and Barbara Leichsenring, dramatic soprano, will be featured in the concert expected to attract a capacity crowd.

TICKETS MAY be purchased in these towns from the following organizations:

ROLLING MEADOWS: Junior Hi Fellowship.

A limited number of tickets will also be on sale the night of performance.

"This is an opportunity for northwest area resident to support the hospital fund and enjoy an unusual concert at the same time," declared Charles Hayes, concert coordinator. "Both artists are young professionals with great talent."

THE CONCERT November 27 will herald the first appearance in the northwest area of Willard Straight, a young pianist frequently compared to the late William Kapell.

Straight is no stranger to the concert stage. He will interrupt an extensive concert tour in order to appear in the benefit.

He has been soloist with several major symphonies, including Chicago and Grant Park. His recital last winter in Orchestra hall was hailed by Chicago critics as heralding the beginning of a brilliant concert artist.

BARBARA LEICHSENRING is well-known to northwest music-lovers. A resident of Mount Prospect, she has won recognition for her solo and oratorio work in the Chicago area. Last spring she was soloist with the Northwest symphony.

Currently studying opera at Indiana university, Miss Leichsenring has also studied at American Conservatory of Music and Roosevelt university.

She will be accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Tickets to the benefit program are exclusively available in Palatine at Nelson's Flower and Gift shop, 101 W. Chicago ave.

They may also be purchased from Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Christmas Dance

As of Monday almost 70 of the 100 available tickets have already been sold for the second annual Christmas dance to be held December 9 at the Mt. Prospect Country club. These tickets have been sold to members of the association who have phoned either Wally Johnson, Cl. 3-8025, or Don Peterson, Cl. 3-8034, and asked to have tickets reserved for them. Inasmuch as there are more members than there are tickets available, no door to door sale of tickets will be made. The only way of obtaining tickets is to phone either Wally or Don. Members have first chance to purchase tickets; however, the tickets which remain unsold November 25, 2 weeks before the dance, can then be purchased by members for their non-member guests.

Lost

Several weeks ago a large black angora cat named Graylee left home to go for a walk. Although Graylee frequently goes visiting, he would always return home in a couple of days. Home happens to be 913 E. Olive st where Ruth and Ray Epsky also live. However, this time he has not returned and the Epskys' 3 daughters, Barbara, Marilyn and Nancy are broken hearted. If you have seen Graylee will you please phone Ruth at Cl. 3-2780. He can be further identified by a brown leather collar and a little brown and white shading in his black fur.

A small basement fire a week ago Sunday morning in the home of Ruth and Bob Morrisett, 1111 N. Beverly, brought the fire department whizzing through Arlington Greens. Fortunately there was only smoke and little fire, and no real damage was done. The Morrisetts had only praise for the fire department for their speed in answering the call and their helpfullness on the scene. It should be reassuring to all home owners in the Greens to know that calls to the fire department are handled with such speed and efficiency.

Sick List

Gary Waffle has been on the sick list. He was ordered to Resurrection hospital a week ago Sunday for observation and rest and returned home Thursday feeling much improved. He is now back at work, but is still taking things easy.

Margaret Sedlak, 610 Clarendon, underwent surgery at West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, Monday morning. Margaret will be in the hospital for longer than 1 week, so friends wishing to send cards can address them to her at West Suburban hospital.

The evening of November 7 saw some pretty serious bowling on the Association's league at the Beverley Lanes. Team positions were at stake. By winning 2 games, the Rales, who previously had been tied for first place with the Hot Dogs, maintained their first place standing, and the Hot Dogs dropped to second with the Jokers in third place with only one game behind them. The teams begin bowling at 7 every Monday evening, so anyone not interested in the TV programs that come on at that hour is invited to drop over to the bowling lanes to be entertained!

Birthday Club

The Olive st. birthday club is going great guns. After a lull with no birthdays all summer now come four in a row, and the cards and dollars are really flying. Monday evening Mary Sherden entertained for Terry Lynch by baking a spice cake and decorating it with candles. Neighbors on hand for the well wishing were Bette Johnson, Alice Nelson, Gloria Gildemeister, Kay Boehm, Martha Lees, Jill Kaye and your reporter.

Girl Scout Fund Drive

The chairman of the girl scout fund drive, Lorraine Loos, who is captain of the Greens area, and all the mothers who collected for the drive wish to thank everyone who contributed to the fund. Contributions in the Greens came close to $150 which is gratefully appreciated.

Two more coffee parties to add to the already long list of hospital fund raisers were scheduled by Doris Jennings and Rosemary Buttstadt. Doris served a homemade peppermint angelfood cake and coffee to Gert Miller, Maxine Smedberg, Virginia Parkin, Agnes Sahlin, Dottie Funk and Marge Larson. Last Wednesday morning Rosemary made her famous specialty, rosettes, to serve with coffee to Alice Nichols, Doris Davis, Dottie Funk, Peggy Rush, Ruth Epsky and Dorothy Kalkhoff.

This 'N That

Christmas Dance

As of Monday almost 70 of the 100 available tickets have already been sold for the second annual Christmas dance to be held December 9 at the Mt. Prospect Country club. These tickets have been sold to members of the association who have phoned either Wally Johnson, Cl. 3-8025, or Don Peterson, Cl. 3-8034, and asked to have tickets reserved for them. Inasmuch as there are more members than there are tickets available, no door to door sale of tickets will be made. The only way of obtaining tickets is to phone either Wally or Don. Members have first chance to purchase tickets; however, the tickets which remain unsold November 25, 2 weeks before the dance, can then be purchased by members for their non-member guests.

Lost

Several weeks ago a large black angora cat named Graylee left home to go for a walk. Although Graylee frequently goes visiting, he would always return home in a couple of days. Home happens to be 913 E. Olive st where Ruth and Ray Epsky also live. However, this time he has not returned and the Epskys' 3 daughters, Barbara, Marilyn and Nancy are broken hearted. If you have seen Graylee will you please phone Ruth at Cl. 3-2780. He can be further identified by a brown leather collar and a little brown and white shading in his black fur.

A small basement fire a week ago Sunday morning in the home of Ruth and Bob Morrisett, 1111 N. Beverly, brought the fire department whizzing through Arlington Greens. Fortunately there was only smoke and little fire, and no real damage was done. The Morrisetts had only praise for the fire department for their speed in answering the call and their helpfullness on the scene. It should be reassuring to all home owners in the Greens to know that calls to the fire department are handled with such speed and efficiency.

Sick List

Gary Waffle has been on the sick list. He was ordered to Resurrection hospital a week ago Sunday for observation and rest and returned home Thursday feeling much improved. He is now back at work, but is still taking things easy.

Margaret Sedlak, 610 Clarendon, underwent surgery at West Suburban hospital, Oak Park, Monday morning. Margaret will be in the hospital for longer than 1 week, so friends wishing to send cards can address them to her at West Suburban hospital.

The evening of November 7 saw some pretty serious bowling on the Association's league at the Beverley Lanes. Team positions were at stake. By winning 2 games, the Rales, who previously had been tied for first place with the Hot Dogs, maintained their first place standing, and the Hot Dogs dropped to second with the Jokers in third place with only one game behind them. The teams begin bowling at 7 every Monday evening, so anyone not interested in the TV programs that come on at that hour is invited to drop over to the bowling lanes to be entertained!

Birthday Club

The Olive st. birthday club is going great guns. After a lull with no birthdays all summer now come four in a row, and the cards and dollars are really flying. Monday evening Mary Sherden entertained for Terry Lynch by baking a spice cake and decorating it with candles. Neighbors on hand for the well wishing were Bette Johnson, Alice Nelson, Gloria Gildemeister, Kay Boehm, Martha Lees, Jill Kaye and your reporter.

Girl Scout Fund Drive

The chairman of the girl scout fund drive, Lorraine Loos, who is captain of the Greens area, and all the mothers who collected for the drive wish to thank everyone who contributed to the fund. Contributions in the Greens came close to $150 which is gratefully appreciated.

Two more coffee parties to add to the already long list of hospital fund raisers were scheduled by Doris Jennings and Rosemary Buttstadt. Doris served a homemade peppermint angelfood cake and coffee to Gert Miller, Maxine Smedberg, Virginia Parkin, Agnes Sahlin, Dottie Funk and Marge Larson. Last Wednesday morning Rosemary made her famous specialty, rosettes, to serve with coffee to Alice Nichols, Doris Davis, Dottie Funk, Peggy Rush, Ruth Epsky and Dorothy Kalkhoff.

This 'N That

Two year old Judy Cook of Springfield is spending a few weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cook, 1188 Beverley. The Cooks are taking care of Judy while her 4-year old brother is recuperating in the hospital from injuries sustained when he was struck by a car in front of his home.

November 9 was happy anniversary day for Alice and Harold Nelson, 705 Olive st. Harold took his bride of 15 years out to dinner at Paul Peterson's supper club to celebrate.

The Johnsons, Bette and Pete, and Alice and Wally, attended the annual dinner dance of the Concrete Contractors Association at the Morrison hotel Saturday night. After dinner they were entertained by such celebrities as the Meadowlarks, "Peg-Leg" Bates, and Morey Amsterdam.

Just a reminder to all members of the Newcomers club to attend the meeting Thursday night at which time election of officers will take place. Del Hultgren of the Greens has been nominated for recording secretary It promises to be an interesting meeting.

Methodists Lay Cornerstone For New Church Last Sunday

Another milestone in the erection of the new Arlington Heights Methodist church on Euclid ave. was reached Sunday afternoon when the congregation participated in the cornerstone laying ceremony.

Dr. Ray Bond, superintendent of northern district of Rock River conference of the Methodist church, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. Birger Dahl, pastor of the Arlington Heights Methodist church, and Rev. Raymond Kirk, asistant pastor.

Documents installed in the cornerstone are as follows: Dr. B. T. Best's "History of the First Methodist Church;" Program of mortgage burning service, February 5, 1950; pages from the Arlington Heights Herald reporting the mortgage burning; WSCS yearbook, 1955-56; November 4 issue of the Church news; list of church officers; list of officers and teachers of the church school; list of members of choir, organist and choir director; treasurer's report for the year 1954-55; budget 1955-56; Sunday bulletin, November 13, 1955; issue of Arlington Heights Herald, Nov. 10, 1955; news section of the Chicago Daily News, Nov. 12, 1955; Bible, 1955 edition; discipline, 1952 edition; the Methodist hymnal; brief summary of church activities from 1928 to 1955.

The histor yof the Arlington Heights Methodist church dates back to 1838. Through the influence of Rev. Caleb Lamb, a retired Methodist preacher, enough people were organized into a congregation so they could have the services of an active minister. Rev. John Nason received this appointment and in 1838 moved to the settlement. He was termed a circuit rider, having several congregations, widely scattered. He traveled to these churches on horseback.

Rev. Nason's efforts were evidently crowned with success, as in 1840 a church building was erected. It stood on the north side of Higgins rd., about a quarter of a mile west of State rd. in Elk Grove township.

In 1860, under the leadership of Rev. T. L. Olmstead, the present site was purchased in Arlington Heights and a building erected. The continual growth of the community made it necessary to enlarge the original church several times in past years.

During the past 2 years it was quite apparent additional space would be needed if the church were to continue to provide adequate Sunday school space and accommodate the rapidly increasing membership at worship services. As a result the new church on Euclid ave. was planned, a drive for building funds was held and successfully completed, and the new church was on the way to becoming a reality.

The congregation hopes to move into its new quarters early in 1956.

Arlington's Busy Manager Handles Versatile Duties

Editor's Note: After a reporter prepared the following story several weeks ago, we were told by Mr. Buechner that it is contrary to manager ethics to take any personal part in an election.

We respected his desire to keep out of the controversy but we believe that the public has a right to know a bit about the servic that Arlington has rceived from him.

For more than a year and a half, the affable manager has been directing the affairs of a municipality with a budget of $800,000 including expanding water and sewage utilities with some 4,800 customers.

The record indicates that more than 98 per cent of the recommendations submitted by the village manager to the board have been approved by trustees during the 15 months of his encumbancy.

INCLUDED ARE public relations, reporting, conferences with department heads, reviewing and signing requisitions and purchase orders, visual inspections in the field, studying reports from department heads and engineers, viewing plans and specifications for projects, answering inquiries from civic organizations and municipalities, coordinating work of key personnel and municipal activities or services, planning and directing the general work program, research on special proposals, establishing and maintaining a complete filing system, and preparing the weekly village manager's agenda and special reports for the village trustees.

1—Internal procedures were initiated for proper recording, routing, referring, and follow-up. An inter-department memo system operated in conjunction with a service or complaint bureau which is an important adjunt of the manager's office. All complaints and requests are recorded under a sequence numbering system, the original being transmitted to the proper department head and a copy kept in the manager's office for permanent record and follow-up.

2—A "de-icer" was purchased for attachment on the tailgate of village trucks for salting and sanding slippery streets.

3—Complete modern sewer rodding and cleaning equipment was purchased, after preparation of specifications and taking of sealed bids.

4—A MODERN segregated-type budget was prepared by the manager and presented to trustees effecting both a fiscal and work program for the current fiscal year.

5—The accounting service which had broken down in February, 1954, was set up as an integral part of the manager's office with an experienced accountant in charge.

6—Research study was undertaken on refuse systems.

These are examples of the kind of responsibility assumed by a full-time manager for municipal affairs.

Under the statute system, he would also appoint department heads.

At present, Mr. Buechner and the village manager office can be abolished by a vote of the board. If the statute plan is approved Saturday, the board still has the power to fire the men but it cannot abolish the office unless the electorate so determines in another referendum.

Editor, Ex-Trustee Tell Both Sides Of Manager Plan

Self-government versus efficiency in municipal affairs — that was an issue in a discussion on village manager government presented Tuesday night to members of Stonegate Property Owners association. Participating were a former village trustee and a newspaper editor.

Supporting the manager plan was Edward G. Carlisle, member of the village board from 1951 to 1955. He was defeated in last spring's municipal election.

Opponent of village manager by statute was Floyd Fulle, a resident of Arlington Heights for 6 years and editor of the Des Plaines Suburban-Times. His newspaper has been campaigning vigorously to defeat the manager referendum in that city on Saturday.

CITING THE checks and balances provided for in the Constitution, Fulle declared, " We must turn back the pages of history."

"The city manager is a change in government," he said. "It makes the legislator purely legislative by taking away his administrative power. We musn't take away any of his power to implement decisions."

Declaring that much pro-manager propaganda is misleading, the editor said that are 135,000,000 people not living under city manager government compared to some 25,000,000 who are.

"And the 1,300 towns with city manager government have scores of variations in the kind of government," added Fulle. "We must confine our remarks to provisions of the Illinois statute."

He said tax rates have gone up in 8 Chicago suburbs with manager plans. Non-manager suburbs, however, have either lowered their munipical tax rates or kept them static.

In urging defeat of the referendum, Fulle pointed out that under statute city manager has sole, absolute authority to appoint department heads. "Legislators should have a voice in selection of department heads."

In answer to a question, Fulle said he thought 6 full-time trustees and a salaried mayor ($650 a year) can run a city of 17,000 population. He admitted, however, that he had never attended an Arlington Heights village board meeting.

"TOO MUCH village business has been transacted in the mayor's home," said Carlisle in his remarks. "There has been a total lack of coordination in the whole government, everyone has acted independently, village employees never knew who they were responsible to, affairs were loosely handled."

As an example of inefficiency, the former trustee said ordinances would be passed, written up, but never distributed to department heads where it would have to be enforced.

"Too much time was devoted to petty matters brought before the board," he explained. "Trustees never had time to get to important things such as ordinances, bringing codes up to date, establishing policy, etc." He said the manager has corrected this.

He denied that a village manager by statute would change Arlington Heights' form of government. "It would be the same as now, except an administrative officer would be added."

"Manager by ordinance can become, as it has, a political football. If the board won't cooperate, the plan won't work. By statute, the manager can be removed at any time by a vote of 4 trustees, but the system can't be abandoned without approval of the electorate."

Carlisle was 1 of 4 trustees who passed the original manager ordinance in 1954.

TO VOTERS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

An important election being held on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1955, submits for referendum the BUILDING AND EQUIPPING OF A NORTH SIDE FIRE STATION.

DO WE NEED A NORTH SIDE FIRE STATION?

YES — And here are a few reasons why you should go to the polls and cast your ballot for the Fire Department Bond Issue.

1. At the present time all of our Fire Fighting Equipment is concentrated in a crowded station south of the C. & N. W. Ry. at the Village Hall.
2. A new Fire Station has been purchased and facilities for housing same will have to be provided.
3. Grade crossings of the C. & N. W. Ry. are frequently blocked to cross traffic, particularly during the late afternoon and early evening hours.
4. Traffic on Northwest highway (U. S. 14) is becoming increasingly heavy and more difficult to control.
5. Homes north of the C. & N. W. Ry. at the present time exceed in number those of the south side by nearly 700.
6. The Board of Fire Underwriters earnestly recommended the program contemplated. Better Fire Fighting facilities reflect lower fire insurance costs.
7. A northside Fire Station will speed up the arrival of fire fighting equipment which will mean added protection for the area north of the track.
8. At the present time we have an efficient VOLUNTEER Fire Department. However, these men are scattered throughout the Village and at times it takes precious moments to summon the Firemen to duty and get them on their way. Every fire causes loss and anguish to a degree limited only by the extent of the fire. A quick response nips catastrophe in the bud and the first minutes are the most important in minimizing disaster and loss.

CAN WE AFFORD TO RISK DELAYS?

WILL OUR GOOD LUCK HOLD?

REMEMBER—THE HOME THAT BURNS DOWN—MAY BE YOUR OWN AND YOUR NEIGHBORS!

9. Every time the Fire Siren sounds at the present time an expense item approximating $100 is incurred. And danger lurks everywhere as an excited populace seeks to outrace the Firemen. Honestly—Don't you think it is about time we place FIRST THINGS FIRST—and the importance of the Fire Fighting function on a sensible and modern basis?
10. The primary responsibility of your Village Government is PUBLIC SAFETY.

Arlington's Busy Manager Handles Versatile Duties

Editor's Note: After a reporter prepared the following story several weeks ago, we were told by Mr. Buechner that it is contrary to manager ethics to take any personal part in an election.

We respected his desire to keep out of the controversy but we believe that the public has a right to know a bit about the servic that Arlington has rceived from him.

For more than a year and a half, the affable manager has been directing the affairs of a municipality with a budget of $800,000 including expanding water and sewage utilities with some 4,800 customers.

The record indicates that more than 98 per cent of the recommendations submitted by the village manager to the board have been approved by trustees during the 15 months of his encumbancy.

INCLUDED ARE public relations, reporting, conferences with department heads, reviewing and signing requisitions and purchase orders, visual inspections in the field, studying reports from department heads and engineers, viewing plans and specifications for projects, answering inquiries from civic organizations and municipalities, coordinating work of key personnel and municipal activities or services, planning and directing the general work program, research on special proposals, establishing and maintaining a complete filing system, and preparing the weekly village manager's agenda and special reports for the village trustees.

1—Internal procedures were initiated for proper recording, routing, referring, and follow-up. An inter-department memo system operated in conjunction with a service or complaint bureau which is an important adjunt of the manager's office. All complaints and requests are recorded under a sequence numbering system, the original being transmitted to the proper department head and a copy kept in the manager's office for permanent record and follow-up.

2—A "de-icer" was purchased for attachment on the tailgate of village trucks for salting and sanding slippery streets.

3—Complete modern sewer rodding and cleaning equipment was purchased, after preparation of specifications and taking of sealed bids.

4—A MODERN segregated-type budget was prepared by the manager and presented to trustees effecting both a fiscal and work program for the current fiscal year.

5—The accounting service which had broken down in February, 1954, was set up as an integral part of the manager's office with an experienced accountant in charge.

6—Research study was undertaken on refuse systems.

These are examples of the kind of responsibility assumed by a full-time manager for municipal affairs.

Under the statute system, he would also appoint department heads.

At present, Mr. Buechner and the village manager office can be abolished by a vote of the board. If the statute plan is approved Saturday, the board still has the power to fire the men but it cannot abolish the office unless the electorate so determines in another referendum.

Editor, Ex-Trustee Tell Both Sides Of Manager Plan

Self-government versus efficiency in municipal affairs — that was an issue in a discussion on village manager government presented Tuesday night to members of Stonegate Property Owners association. Participating were a former village trustee and a newspaper editor.

Supporting the manager plan was Edward G. Carlisle, member of the village board from 1951 to 1955. He was defeated in last spring's municipal election.

Opponent of village manager by statute was Floyd Fulle, a resident of Arlington Heights for 6 years and editor of the Des Plaines Suburban-Times. His newspaper has been campaigning vigorously to defeat the manager referendum in that city on Saturday.

CITING THE checks and balances provided for in the Constitution, Fulle declared, " We must turn back the pages of history."

"The city manager is a change in government," he said. "It makes the legislator purely legislative by taking away his administrative power. We musn't take away any of his power to implement decisions."

Declaring that much pro-manager propaganda is misleading, the editor said that are 135,000,000 people not living under city manager government compared to some 25,000,000 who are.

"And the 1,300 towns with city manager government have scores of variations in the kind of government," added Fulle. "We must confine our remarks to provisions of the Illinois statute."

He said tax rates have gone up in 8 Chicago suburbs with manager plans. Non-manager suburbs, however, have either lowered their munipical tax rates or kept them static.

In urging defeat of the referendum, Fulle pointed out that under statute city manager has sole, absolute authority to appoint department heads. "Legislators should have a voice in selection of department heads."

In answer to a question, Fulle said he thought 6 full-time trustees and a salaried mayor ($650 a year) can run a city of 17,000 population. He admitted, however, that he had never attended an Arlington Heights village board meeting.

"TOO MUCH village business has been transacted in the mayor's home," said Carlisle in his remarks. "There has been a total lack of coordination in the whole government, everyone has acted independently, village employees never knew who they were responsible to, affairs were loosely handled."

As an example of inefficiency, the former trustee said ordinances would be passed, written up, but never distributed to department heads where it would have to be enforced.

"Too much time was devoted to petty matters brought before the board," he explained. "Trustees never had time to get to important things such as ordinances, bringing codes up to date, establishing policy, etc." He said the manager has corrected this.

"Manager by ordinance can become, as it has, a political football. If the board won't cooperate, the plan won't work. By statute, the manager can be removed at any time by a vote of 4 trustees, but the system can't be abandoned without approval of the electorate."

Seventh Graders Enjoy Weeks Campout at Reinberg

The experimental outdoor education program conducted by the Arlington Heights Junior high school this fall was a success, according to Donald V. Grote, principal.

Grote, in revealing the results of an opinion survey conducted among the parents of children participating, said that, almost without exception, the school was encouraged to continue the week's camping experience next year.

THE PROGRAM included a week at Camp Reinberg for some sixty 7th grade children. Much of the school's regular program was continued at the camp, in addition to the many hours spent in studying the wild life in the woods and streams surrounding the cabins.

While no definite decision has been made concerning next year, the school is continuing its evaluation of the program. As a part of the study, Philip Rendone, seventh grade science and arithmetic teacher, attended an outdoor ecucation workshop for Cook county teachers October 11 to 13 at Camp Sagawau. The camp is located on Illinois Route 83, one quarter mile east of Sag Bridge, and includes 10,000 acres of forest preserve.

The workshop was jointly sponsored by Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, and the conservation department of the forest preserve.

THE 3-DAY conference provided a large group of teachers an opportunity to increase their knowledge of wild life, to collect teaching materials from the woods, and to gain experience in conducting outdoor field trips.

Hikes were conducted by the forest preserve naturalists. The secrets of the fall flora, the forest floor, and fish and other aquatic life were revealed. In addition, each teacher made and stocked a terrarium. Mr. Rendone returned with much information to share with the teaching staff.

Still Time To Donate To Girl Scout Fund

Girl scout fund drive chairman, captains and workers are making every endeavor this week to make contacts with businesses and residences, thus making sure that everyone who wishes to contribute to the annual drive will have an opportunity.

The quota of $13,050 has not been met yet in this district of the Girl Scout Council of Northwest Cook county, which includes the towns of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Prospect Heights and Wheeling and other unincorporated or rural areas surrounding.

All contributions are used within the council area and at an approximate cost of $7.50 per girl scout, the council is enabled to carry out its objectives. Important functions of the council include: training leaders, training camp personnel, providing camp facilities, and paying professional services. The girl scout program emphasizes citizenship training, homemaking, camping skills and nature study, creative activities and service to others.

Following are the names of the chairmen in the various neighborhoods who will be glad to accept contributions, checks to be made out to "Girl Scouts"; Edward G. Carlisle, 1006 S. Vail, or G. W. Sullivan, 415 Windsor, Arlington Heights; John Hubbard, 217 S. George, Mt. Prospect; Charles Zanie, 54 E. Daniels, Palatine; Bi White, 2507 Sigwalt, Rolling Meadows; William Leitner, 205 S. Parkway, Prospect Heights; and Fred Harper, Wheeling.

Favorites For Flavor

No muss, no fuss, but you'll have chicken with that delicious "fried" crispiness if you prepare it according to Mrs. Helen Peterson's method.

And there is no need to get the top of your stove grease-splattered from frying, for you'll get the same results using her recipe and baking the chicken in the oven.

To make this oven-fried chicken, Mrs. Peterson uses Wesson Oil and bread crumbs. The chicken will brown evenly without turning, will have a crispy skin and appealing flavor.

He bakes the chicken in butter and orange juice, using nutmeg as a seasoning. Mrs. Peterson says that it has an unusual flavor and is quite delicious.

Mrs. Peterson's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pellegrinetti and son, Mark, 2½, who she lives with at 634 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, highly enjoy chicken prepared by both of these methods.

Mrs. Peterson also has another son, Gordon. She is a member of the Catholic Womens club of Our Lady of the Wayside church.

Oven-Fried Chicken

Clean and dry chicken which has been cut in serving pieces.

Season with salt and pepper and dip in Wesson Oil, then in bread crumbs.

Place chicken in a baking dish, skin side up. Add additional Wesson Oil and place in 350 degree oven for one hour.

No basting is necessary and chicken will brown evenly without turning.

Chicken al la McCutcheon

Clean and dry chicken which has been cut in serving pieces. Place in baking dish.

Melt a quarter pound of butter in one cup orange juice. Pour over chicken.

Bake in 350 degree oven for one hour, basting frequently. About 15 minutes before removing from oven, sprinkle chicken with nutmeg.

Seventh grade children from Arlington Heights Junior high school who spent the week of September 12 at Camp Reinberg. The camping is part of the outdoor program which is undergoing experimentation at the school. A story concerning the enthusiastic response of parents to the program can be found in another part of the paper. —Campbell Photo

Hours of the open house will be 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on December 8. Place is St. Norbert's parish hall, school foyer, and the corridor connecting the two buildings on Walters avenue in Northbrook. Floor plan will be that of a suburban home during the holiday season, complete with Christmas tree and festive decorations. —Glenview Studio

Seventh Graders Enjoy Weeks Campout at Reinberg

The experimental outdoor education program conducted by the Arlington Heights Junior high school this fall was a success, according to Donald V. Grote, principal.

Grote, in revealing the results of an opinion survey conducted among the parents of children participating, said that, almost without exception, the school was encouraged to continue the week's camping experience next year.

THE PROGRAM included a week at Camp Reinberg for some sixty 7th grade children. Much of the school's regular program was continued at the camp, in addition to the many hours spent in studying the wild life in the woods and streams surrounding the cabins.

While no definite decision has been made concerning next year, the school is continuing its evaluation of the program. As a part of the study, Philip Rendone, seventh grade science and arithmetic teacher, attended an outdoor ecucation workshop for Cook county teachers October 11 to 13 at Camp Sagawau. The camp is located on Illinois Route 83, one quarter mile east of Sag Bridge, and includes 10,000 acres of forest preserve.

The workshop was jointly sponsored by Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, and the conservation department of the forest preserve.

THE 3-DAY conference provided a large group of teachers an opportunity to increase their knowledge of wild life, to collect teaching materials from the woods, and to gain experience in conducting outdoor field trips.

Hikes were conducted by the forest preserve naturalists. The secrets of the fall flora, the forest floor, and fish and other aquatic life were revealed. In addition, each teacher made and stocked a terrarium. Mr. Rendone returned with much information to share with the teaching staff.

Still Time To Donate To Girl Scout Fund

Important functions of the council include: training leaders, training camp personnel, providing camp facilities, and paying professional services. The girl scout program emphasizes citizenship training, homemaking, camping skills and nature study, creative activities and service to others.

Following are the names of the chairmen in the various neighborhoods who will be glad to accept contributions, checks to be made out to "Girl Scouts"; Edward G. Carlisle, 1006 S. Vail, or G. W. Sullivan, 415 Windsor, Arlington Heights; John Hubbard, 217 S. George, Mt. Prospect; Charles Zanie, 54 E. Daniels, Palatine; Bi White, 2507 Sigwalt, Rolling Meadows; William Leitner, 205 S. Parkway, Prospect Heights; and Fred Harper, Wheeling. (B7

Favorites For Flavor

No muss, no fuss, but you'll have chicken with that delicious "fried" crispiness if you prepare it according to Mrs. Helen Peterson's method.

And there is no need to get the top of your stove grease-splattered from frying, for you'll get the same results using her recipe and baking the chicken in the oven.

To make this oven-fried chicken, Mrs. Peterson uses Wesson Oil and bread crumbs. The chicken will brown evenly without turning, will have a crispy skin and appealing flavor.

He bakes the chicken in butter and orange juice, using nutmeg as a seasoning. Mrs. Peterson says that it has an unusual flavor and is quite delicious.

Mrs. Peterson's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Pellegrinetti and son, Mark, 2½, who she lives with at 634 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, highly enjoy chicken prepared by both of these methods.

Mrs. Peterson also has another son, Gordon. She is a member of the Catholic Womens club of Our Lady of the Wayside church.

Oven-Fried Chicken

Clean and dry chicken which has been cut in serving pieces.

Season with salt and pepper and dip in Wesson Oil, then in bread crumbs.

Place chicken in a baking dish, skin side up. Add additional Wesson Oil and place in 350 degree oven for one hour.

No basting is necessary and chicken will brown evenly without turning.

Chicken al la McCutcheon

Clean and dry chicken which has been cut in serving pieces. Place in baking dish.

Melt a quarter pound of butter in one cup orange juice. Pour over chicken.

Many Groups Attend Little Theatre Confab

A feeling of enthusiasm prevailed at the Illinois Wisconsin regional conference of community theatres, November 12, in the Palatine high school cafeteria. Palatine players served as hosts.

The visiting thespian groups included; Village Theatre, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines Guild, Decatur Little Theatre, Downers Grove Civic Theatre, Elgin Community Players, Theatre of Western Springs, Suburban Players, Geneva Playmakers, Peoria Players, Springfield Group, Belfry Players of Wisconsin, and Chicago Heights Dramatic Group.

Gladys Kuhn, chairman, introduced the moderators of the 3 round-tables. Howard Paul, who spoke on "selling the show," discussed various publicity gambits and their value and effect on box-office receipts. Ella Hiembrodt discussed "Children's Theatre," and maintained the theatre, embracing all the arts, offers an opportunity for the fullest realization of children's creative potentialities.

Rev. Richard Winkler who spoke on the "The Theatre's place in the Community" stressed that little theatre groups serve as a civic organization. The group suggested several services that could be offered to local organizations.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Mary Cattell, trustee of the National Association of Community Theatres. A motion to change the semi-annual meetings to an annual September meeting was voted on and passed by the conferees.

Charles Poeckler, of Evanston high school, followed with a lecture on scene design. With the aid of illustrative slides he demonstrated the fabulous sets and unique use of lighting that can be achieved with a thorough knowledge of the subject.

The event concluded with a tour of the stage and examination of the exhibits. (AMP

Motorists Should Act As If Under Attack, Warns Skoog

The first day of December will be observed throughout the nation as S-D Day.

That's the "Safe-Driving" day when every community in the United States, including Arlington Heights, will do its best to go 24 hours without a traffic death.

When asked what each driver could do to help keep S-D Day accident free, Chief Carl Skoog said, "A safe driver drives defensively. Now, the average car owner may never have heard of defensive driving, but it's a well-known term to those professional drivers who rack up thousands of miles of accident free driving each year.

"THE DEFENSIVE driver acts as though he is always under attack. His 'enemies' are careless motorists, careless pedestrians and unsafe traffic conditions. The defensive driver makes allowance for these highway culprits. He avoids accidents by anticipating and allowing for the hazards created by the unsafe acts of others and by adverse traffic and weather conditions."

Chief Skoog asked every driver in Arlington Heights to check himself to see whether he is driving defensively. The defensive driver can answer "yes" to all the following questions:

Do you drive so that you are never surprised by the actions of other motorists or pedestrians?

At intersections do you make sure no one is approaching from your right or left even though you may have the right-of-way?

Do you constantly check your rear-view mirror to see what's happening behind you?

DO YOU WATCH out for pedestrians even though they may be crossing against the light?

Do you keep a sharp eye out for oncoming cars that might suddenly make left turns in front of you?

On slippery pavement do you check your braking to see how much traction you have in case you must make an emergency stop?

In short, you are a defensive driver when you drive for the other fellow as well as for yourself.

On S-D Day and every other day of the year be your brother's keeper by driving safely and doing your part to stop accidents, Chief Skoog said.

That's the "Safe-Driving" day when every community in the United States, including Arlington Heights, will do its best to go 24 hours without a traffic death.

When asked what each driver could do to help keep S-D Day accident free, Chief Carl Skoog said, "A safe driver drives defensively. Now, the average car owner may never have heard of defensive driving, but it's a well-known term to those professional drivers who rack up thousands of miles of accident free driving each year.

"THE DEFENSIVE driver acts as though he is always under attack. His 'enemies' are careless motorists, careless pedestrians and unsafe traffic conditions. The defensive driver makes allowance for these highway culprits. He avoids accidents by anticipating and allowing for the hazards created by the unsafe acts of others and by adverse traffic and weather conditions."

Chief Skoog asked every driver in Arlington Heights to check himself to see whether he is driving defensively. The defensive driver can answer "yes" to all the following questions:

Do you drive so that you are never surprised by the actions of other motorists or pedestrians?

At intersections do you make sure no one is approaching from your right or left even though you may have the right-of-way?

Do you constantly check your rear-view mirror to see what's happening behind you?

DO YOU WATCH out for pedestrians even though they may be crossing against the light?

On slippery pavement do you check your braking to see how much traction you have in case you must make an emergency stop?

In short, you are a defensive driver when you drive for the other fellow as well as for yourself.

On S-D Day and every other day of the year be your brother's keeper by driving safely and doing your part to stop accidents, Chief Skoog said.

Only 3 cents' worth of electricity brings you 4 hours of the best in drama, sports, and comedy on TV.

How Public Service Company keeps your electric bill down (while everything else goes up)

Most things have doubled in price . . . but not electricity. Although you're using far more of it today, electricity actually costs you less per kilowatt-hour than in 1930.

One way we keep your electric bill low is through continuing research. Our engineers have found many ways of increasing efficiency of all kinds of standard equipment. Recently, for example, they added 15% to the load-carrying capacity of "pipe-type" cable simply by burying the line deeper.

As a result of this constant search for a "better way", today you're getting almost twice as much electricity for your money as you did 25 years ago.

William Paul Addy Jr., 525 S. Evergreen, was traveling south on Evergreen when his car collided with one driven by Alice Meyer, 511 N. Elm, Mt. Prospect, which was traveling east on Sigwalt. Gov. Williams to Address Young Democrats Saturday

Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan is the latest addition to a panel of prominent midwest leaders who will speak to a county-wide gathering of young Democrats Saturday, Nov. 19. Speakers already scheduled to appear are Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman Charles Diggs of Michigan, and Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman. The public is invited to attend the forum, which will start at 1:30 p.m. in the Williford room of the Conrad Hilton hotel.

"WE ARE VERY much gratified that Gov. Williams' schedule has permitted him to accept our invitation," stated Nicholas J. Melas, YD county chairman, in announcing this addition to the roster of speakers. " 'Partisan Commitment and Political Morality' is the subject our 4 speakers will discuss, and we shall continue to emphasize this concept throughout the coming momentous national election year.

"Many young people today are basically democratic in their thinking, but have never taken an active role in party organization. Actually, the Democratic party offers a far greater opportunity for an individual to make himself felt than do so-called 'independent' or 'nonpartisan' political groups.

"We invite independents and split-ticket voters to come and discuss with us their relationship to the Democratic party. We will show them that there is a welcome waiting for them." (B7

At 14 he entered a school of ministry in St. Paul and went to his first congregation in 1930 in Stillwater, Okla. He ministered there for 12 years to a congregation of university students. About Your Health

Tuberculosis is a disease caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus. Every single case comes from the invasion of the body by the tubercle bacillus, generally from contact with a person who is an open active case of tuberculosis. When the germ gets into the body it may remain quiet without causing much trouble for a long period of time.

In fact, if not too many germs have entered the body and if the general health and state of nutrition remain good, these germs may be prevented from spreading and growing by the health of the body itself. If this is so, tuberculosis as a disease may never occur, the educational committee of the Illinois state medical society observes.

THUS THE FIRST step in the prevention of tuberculosis is the maintenance of one's good health, not only by regular physical examinations by the family physician, but adherence to regulations governing balanced mental and physical activity.

Since the cause and control of tuberculosis are known, it is important to find those people who have the disease and to treat them. Thus, since it is almost a certainly that early detection offers complete arrest of the disease, not only do the victims of tuberculosis benefit themselves. but eliminate the possibility of spreading the infection to others through contact.

FOR MANY YEARS it was felt the unfortunate person who acquired this disease would never be really well again. But with the advance of science and with the progress that is being made in the treatment of all diseases, the attitude toward tuberculosis has changed. It is no longer necessary to go to some far off climate in the search for complete recovery.

Skillful medical treatment, and not climate, is the means toward arresting the disease. Some people need only rest, others have their lungs collapsed, some have surgical operations. New drugs are available which, when used at the right time and on the right case, prove valuable. The decision as to their use, however, must be made on the basis of the individual picture of each case.

FOR A LONG TIME, emphasis in treatment, as well as in case-finding, has been on adolescents and young adults because of the heavy incidence in these age groups. Without relaxing in efforts to prevent and control the disease in these young people, special attention must be directed to the large group of persons who have already passed their fortieth birthday, those in their fifties, their sixties, seventies and even those in the eighties. In the older patient active and communicable tuber culosis may produce no symptoms that are in the least suspicious, but the xray film will show the disease to be present.

Rev. Stephan Marks 25th Year As Lutheran Pastor

Rev. Luther V. Stephan, pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church was honored Sunday evening by members of the congregation and friends on his 25th anniversary as a Lutheran minister.

A church service with Martin W. Bangert, student pastor, officiating and the adult and children's choirs participating, preceded a reception honoring Pastor Stephan and his family.

Lester Rush, acted as toastmaster and introduced friends of the pastor who presented him with gifts. They included Adolph Obermann representing the faculty of the Lutheran school; Eugene Brandt, Walter league; Mrs. Leonard C. Reckwerdt, Mothers club; Miss Donna Siemro, choir; Mrs. Floyd Burns, Dorcas aid; Carl Klehm, congregation; Mrs. William Behn, Ladies aid; and Frederick Koehler, student pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in Rolling Meadows.

REV. HILMAR Rosenberg, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, told of his experiences as a classmate of Pastor Stephan. Daniel Stephan, representing the family, honored his father in a short talk; while Gloria Stephan sang a selection from a light opera.

Eugene Freeman, a young member of the congregation sang the Lord's Prayer, and the Arlington Height's barbershop quarter presented several selections.

Pastor Stephan is an active member of the church and community being chaplain of the Lion's club, boy scout chaplain; Little League board member and chaplain, chairman of the Illinois pension board and member of the program committee for pastoral conferences in the Chicago area. He was one of the organizers of the Trinity Lutheran church in Rolling Meadows.

Pastor Stephan, as superintendent of St. Peter Lutheran Christian day school, has taken an active interest in educational problems of the community. He is working on the committee to establish a Lutheran high school in this area.

Pastor Stephan has masters degrees in theology and history. He also attended Iowa state university for a course in dramatics. When he accompanied Mrs. Stephan on her trip to New York as Homemaker of 1955, he renewed acquaintance with McDonald Carey who had taken dramatics with him. Carey was playing the lead in a Broadway show to which Pastor and Mrs. Stephan had been given tickets.

LUTHER V. Stephan was born in Sioux City, Iowa, the son of a Lutheran pastor. He has 10 brothers and sisters. He is the fourth generation of Lutheran pastors. At 14 he entered a school of ministry in St. Paul and went to his first congregation in 1930 in Stillwater, Okla. He ministered there for 12 years to a congregation of university students. He then served for a year on the armed services commission in Milwaukee, Wis. He has been in Arlington Heights for 12 years.

Pastor Oscar Fedder, chairman of the Synodical pension fund for the Missouri Synod sent a letter of commendation on the work done by Pastor Stephan in his own congregation and in the entire synod.

Pastor Stephan's 9 children were all present to honor their father on the occasion of his 25th year as a minister.

Pastor Stephan estimates he has performed 300 marriages and christened 800 infants.

The committee who arranged the anniversary celebration were LeRoy Walsh, chairman assisted by John Meyn, Walter Hahnfeld, Roland Bolte, Glen Granzin, and Otto Goebbert. The members of Dorcas aid served the refreshments.

About Your Health

Tuberculosis is a disease caused by a germ, the tubercle bacillus. Every single case comes from the invasion of the body by the tubercle bacillus, generally from contact with a person who is an open active case of tuberculosis. When the germ gets into the body it may remain quiet without causing much trouble for a long period of time.

In fact, if not too many germs have entered the body and if the general health and state of nutrition remain good, these germs may be prevented from spreading and growing by the health of the body itself. If this is so, tuberculosis as a disease may never occur, the educational committee of the Illinois state medical society observes.

THUS THE FIRST step in the prevention of tuberculosis is the maintenance of one's good health, not only by regular physical examinations by the family physician, but adherence to regulations governing balanced mental and physical activity.

Since the cause and control of tuberculosis are known, it is important to find those people who have the disease and to treat them. Thus, since it is almost a certainly that early detection offers complete arrest of the disease, not only do the victims of tuberculosis benefit themselves. but eliminate the possibility of spreading the infection to others through contact.

FOR MANY YEARS it was felt the unfortunate person who acquired this disease would never be really well again. But with the advance of science and with the progress that is being made in the treatment of all diseases, the attitude toward tuberculosis has changed. It is no longer necessary to go to some far off climate in the search for complete recovery.

Skillful medical treatment, and not climate, is the means toward arresting the disease. Some people need only rest, others have their lungs collapsed, some have surgical operations. New drugs are available which, when used at the right time and on the right case, prove valuable. The decision as to their use, however, must be made on the basis of the individual picture of each case.

FOR A LONG TIME, emphasis in treatment, as well as in case-finding, has been on adolescents and young adults because of the heavy incidence in these age groups. Without relaxing in efforts to prevent and control the disease in these young people, special attention must be directed to the large group of persons who have already passed their fortieth birthday, those in their fifties, their sixties, seventies and even those in the eighties. In the older patient active and communicable tuber culosis may produce no symptoms that are in the least suspicious, but the xray film will show the disease to be present.

Chicago Educator To Speak At Jr. High

A research chemist and physicist who turned educator and author will address Junior high school parents next Tuesday evening at 8:15, Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at the University of Chicago, will speak on "How Do Boys and Girls Become Industrious?"

Professor Havighurst was reared in Illinois, attended Ohio Wesleyan university where he received a Ph.D. in chemistry. He did research work in chemistry and physics for several years and taught these subjects at Miami university in Ohio and the University of Wisconsin. Then, becoming interested in problems of education, he changed his field of work to that of education, teaching at Ohio State university and the University of Chicago, where he has been professor of education since 1941.

Human development at all age levels has been the field of intense research by Professor Havighurst, who is also the author or co-author of the following books: "Who shall be Educated?" "Father of the Man," "Adolescent Character and Personality," "Human Development and Education," "Older People," "The Meaning of Work and Retirement."

A demonstration of advanced tumbling by seventh and eighth grade boys and girls under the direction of Mr. Spinks, will precede Dr. Havighurst's address. Refreshments will be served following the meeting with mothers of sections 4 and 5 of the sixth grade acting as hostesses.

Feets Too Big?

Children will be children, and no matter how you plan it, that means that last year's boots will be too small for this year's feet.

The ways and means committee has devised the perfect solution to the problem, by setting up an exchange where outgrown boots, rubbers and skates may be sold at a price set by the owner, and sturdy footgear of the right size may be purchased at a considerable saving. The PTA retains 20 per cent of the purchase price, and the rest is returned to the seller.

Today and tomorrow, children may bring to school their outgrown boots, rubbers, skates (ice skates and roller skates), with the price desired marked plainly on the articles, together with the owners' names. Hours for receiving the items are 9 to 9:30 a.m. to 1 to 1:30 p.m. at the elementary schools, and 8 to 8:30 a.m. and noon to 12:30 p.m. at Junior high school.

The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, Nov. 19. Money will be returned to owners only between noon and 2 p.m. following the sale, and all unsold items should be picked up at this time. Mrs. Glenn Buckley, CL 3-0539, is in charge of the exchange.

Chicago Educator To Speak At Jr. High

A research chemist and physicist who turned educator and author will address Junior high school parents next Tuesday evening at 8:15. Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at the University of Chicago, will speak on "How Do Boys and Girls Become Industrious?"

Professor Havighurst was reared in Illinois, attended Ohio Wesleyan university where he received a Ph.D. in chemistry. He did research work in chemistry and physics for several years and taught these subjects at Miami university in Ohio and the University of Wisconsin. Then, becoming interested in problems of education, he changed his field of work to that of education, teaching at Ohio State university and the University of Chicago, where he has been professor of education since 1941.

Human development at all age levels has been the field of intense research by Professor Havighurst, who is also the author or co-author of the following books: "Who shall be Educated?" "Father of the Man," "Adolescent Character and Personality," "Human Development and Education," "Older People," "The Meaning of Work and Retirement."

A demonstration of advanced tumbling by seventh and eighth grade boys and girls under the direction of Mr. Spinks, will precede Dr. Havighurst's address. Refreshments will be served following the meeting with mothers of sections 4 and 5 of the sixth grade acting as hostesses.

Feets Too Big?

Children will be children, and no matter how you plan it, that means that last year's boots will be too small for this year's feet.

The ways and means committee has devised the perfect solution to the problem, by setting up an exchange where outgrown boots, rubbers and skates may be sold at a price set by the owner, and sturdy footgear of the right size may be purchased at a considerable saving. The PTA retains 20 per cent of the purchase price, and the rest is returned to the seller.

Today and tomorrow, children may bring to school their outgrown boots, rubbers, skates (ice skates and roller skates), with the price desired marked plainly on the articles, together with the owners' names. Hours for receiving the items are 9 to 9:30 a.m. to 1 to 1:30 p.m. at the elementary schools, and 8 to 8:30 a.m. and noon to 12:30 p.m. at Junior high school.

The sale will be held from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday, Nov. 19. Money will be returned to owners only between noon and 2 p.m. following the sale, and all unsold items should be picked up at this time. Mrs. Glenn Buckley, CL 3-0539, is in charge of the exchange.

Westgate News

Congratulations

October 29 Mr. and Mrs. James J. Moos, 307 N. Yale ave., became the parents of a boy, Jeffrey Steven, who weighed in at 7 pounds 4 ounces at Resurrection hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Moos have 2 other sons, Joseph, 8, and James, almost 5. Staying with them at the present time is Mrs. Moos' mother, Mrs. Peter Denn of Iron Mountain, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, 1611 Johanna tr., have a new addition to their family, a girl, Carol Therese, born November 2 at St. Anne's hospital, Chicago and weighing 5 pounds 8 ounces. The Smiths' other children are Larry, 11, Terry, 9, Nancy, 8, Jerry, 5, Patty, 3, Joan, 2, and Maurita, 1 year old.

Condolences

Friends and neighbors extend their sympathy to Robert A. Dover, 403 N. Wilkie rd., whose father recently passed away in Elkhart, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hines have moved to Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, where Mr. Hines has been transferred by his employer. Their home at 214 N. Yale ave. has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Shader and family.

Last Wednesday a group of Mrs. Hines' neighbors had a surprise kaffee klatsch for her as a farewell gesture.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Wendt, 312 N. Reuter ave., are enjoying a visit by Mr. Wendt's mother, Mrs. Meta Wendt of Modesto, Cal. She will be their guest for about 10 days.

This-N-That

November 14 an Emmons jewelry demonstration was held at the home of Marty Nicol, 407 N. Wilkie ave. The deomonstration was attended by 12 neighborhood women.

A record of 100,000 miles passenger flying time has been achieved by Howard W. Huff, 1411 W. Euclid ave. In recognition of this fact United Air Lines recently presented Mr. Huff with a bronze plaque, lapel pin and card.

Participants in a couples bowling party at the Hi-Way recreation hall were Marty and Bob Nicol, Flo and Mike Mullner, Eleanor and Bud Dezanna and Elaine and Dick Hoppe. After the bowling the group gathered at the Hoppe home, 319 N. Wilkie rd., for a party.

Parents of young boys interested in scouting will be pleased to know that plans are being made for another cub scout den in Westgate. Further information concerning this matter will appear in the column just as soon as the details are available.

"The best laid plans of mice and men ...." What was intended to be a gala evening in town turned out to be a jinxed night for Mr. and Mrs. John Vork, 415 Yale ave., last Friday, when Jay sprained her ankle just as she was leaving for the loop and John developed car trouble on the outer drive.

November 9 brownie troop 362 held its investiture and flag ceremony. During the flag ceremony, Mrs. Fred Hauth, of the American Legion, presented the troop with its American flag. Seven girls were invested in the traditional horseshoe ceremony and received their brownie pins. These girls were Linda Dieball, Lynn Franck, Janice Heinz, Diana Kerr, Kathleen Murphy, Diane Quigley and Nancy Smith. Ten other girls, transfers to the troop, received year pendants. These were Diane Baker, Karen Ballou, Bonnie Downing, Janice Kleim, Paula Krueger, Diane Lien, Sharon Lister, Kathleen McDonald, Dorothy Schwind and Catherine Wrobel. The meeting was closed with refreshments, celebrating the occasion.

Attention

A group of Westgate residents gathered November 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vork, 415 Yale ave., to discuss the formation of a community association. A door to door poll is being made by the men who attended this meeting to determine the number of people in this area who are interested in such an association. News of further developments will appear in the column as they occur.

Residents are reminded to vote on the village manager plan, Saturday. Polling place for this area is the model house at 1709 Miner st. and the polls are open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The readers of this column have shown fine cooperation in supplying the writer with material for this issue. It is very much appreciated.

PLAN ON SERVING A Jewel Turkey THIS YEAR!

INSPECTED FOR WHOLESOMENESS BY U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Jewel Food Stores

Your Thanksgiving dinner is one of the big events of the year for you, isn't it? Why take a chance on disappointments — there'll be so many counting on you.

Serve a Jewel turkey this year. Here are just 4 reasons why you'll want a Jewel turkey:

1. U. S. GOVERNMENT INSPECTED
To make sure you buy only the finest, all Jewel turkeys carry a "Government Inspected by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture" seal. That's our way and your way of knowing the turkey you buy at Jewel is wholesome and healthy.
2. JUST THE SIZE YOU WANT
Small dinner . . . big dinner? You'll find just the size turkey you want at Jewel. You can buy a 4-lb. or 22-lb. Jewel turkey—whatever size best suits your needs.
3. JEWEL GUARANTEE
When we say you buy the best—we mean it. But if for any reason you're not pleased with your Jewel turkey (or anything you buy at your Jewel) . . . your money back and with a great big Jewel smile.
4. PICK OUT YOUR OWN TURKEY

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, 1611 Johanna tr., have a new addition to their family, a girl, Carol Therese, born November 2 at St. Anne's hospital, Chicago and weighing 5 pounds 8 ounces. The Smiths' other children are Larry, 11, Terry, 9, Nancy, 8, Jerry, 5, Patty, 3, Joan, 2, and Maurita, 1 year old.

Condolences

Friends and neighbors extend their sympathy to Robert A. Dover, 403 N. Wilkie rd., whose father recently passed away in Elkhart, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hines have moved to Tinker Field, Oklahoma City, where Mr. Hines has been transferred by his employer. Their home at 214 N. Yale ave. has been rented by Mr. and Mrs. Shader and family.

Last Wednesday a group of Mrs. Hines' neighbors had a surprise kaffee klatsch for her as a farewell gesture.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Wendt, 312 N. Reuter ave., are enjoying a visit by Mr. Wendt's mother, Mrs. Meta Wendt of Modesto, Cal. She will be their guest for about 10 days.

This-N-That

November 14 an Emmons jewelry demonstration was held at the home of Marty Nicol, 407 N. Wilkie ave. The deomonstration was attended by 12 neighborhood women.

A record of 100,000 miles passenger flying time has been achieved by Howard W. Huff, 1411 W. Euclid ave. In recognition of this fact United Air Lines recently presented Mr. Huff with a bronze plaque, lapel pin and card.

Participants in a couples bowling party at the Hi-Way recreation hall were Marty and Bob Nicol, Flo and Mike Mullner, Eleanor and Bud Dezanna and Elaine and Dick Hoppe. After the bowling the group gathered at the Hoppe home, 319 N. Wilkie rd., for a party.

Parents of young boys interested in scouting will be pleased to know that plans are being made for another cub scout den in Westgate. Further information concerning this matter will appear in the column just as soon as the details are available.

"The best laid plans of mice and men . . . ." What was intended to be a gala evening in town turned out to be a jinxed night for Mr. and Mrs. John Vork, 415 Yale ave., last Friday, when Jay sprained her ankle just as she was leaving for the loop and John developed car trouble on the outer drive.

November 9 brownie troop 362 held its investiture and flag ceremony. During the flag ceremony, Mrs. Fred Hauth, of the American Legion, presented the troop with its American flag. Seven girls were invested in the traditional horseshoe ceremony and received their brownie pins. These girls were Linda Dieball, Lynn Franck, Janice Heinz, Diana Kerr, Kathleen Murphy, Diane Quigley and Nancy Smith. Ten other girls, transfers to the troop, received year pendants. These were Diane Baker, Karen Ballou, Bonnie Downing, Janice Kleim, Paula Krueger, Diane Lien, Sharon Lister, Kathleen McDonald, Dorothy Schwind and Catherine Wrobel. The meeting was closed with refreshments, celebrating the occasion.

Attention

A group of Westgate residents gathered November 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vork, 415 Yale ave., to discuss the formation of a community association. A door to door poll is being made by the men who attended this meeting to determine the number of people in this area who are interested in such an association. News of further developments will appear in the column as they occur.

Residents are reminded to vote on the village manager plan, Saturday. Polling place for this area is the model house at 1709 Miner st. and the polls are open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m.

New residents, registrations open at the Village hall from November 15 to just after the first of the year.

The readers of this column have shown fine cooperation in supplying the writer with material for this issue. It is very much appreciated.

Hunters And Boys Take Toll Of Songbirds, Not Ol' Tabby

Of all of God's lesser creatures hindered by fallacies, old wives' tales and misinformation, the Cat ranks first as a victim of man's thoughtless abuse, vilification and maltreatment.

It is always popular to believe that song birds, so highly valued for their insectivorous nature and musical attribues, are destroyed by cats.

This oft-repeated charge simply is not true. The facts, as gathered by the various wild life organizations, state highway department technicians and biologists and individual investigators, prove otherwise.

Mouse meat	38.1%
Young rabbit	25.6%
Rat	11.4%
Table scraps (including vegetables)	6.9%
Turtle and fish	2.7%
Pork	2.4%
Grasshoppers	2.4%
Chicken	1.5%
Bulk matter (including cat food fillers)	1.8%
Grass, herbs, hair and liquid	7.2%

One notes the complete absence of bird meat or even feathers!

On the other hand, it is extremely unpopular to mention that the nation's sportsmen slaughter untold thousands of birds to increase their skill of marksmanship, seldom bothering to identify while aloft these tiny winged creatures. Later, when the evidence of such wanton destruction is discovered, tabby is blamed and, if he happens to be in sight, is subject to instant or horrible maiming, depending upon the degree of skill of the second gun-wielder.

TOO, CATS are decimated in considerable numbers by small boys who have developed unbelievable accuracy with slingshots, the more modern zip gun or the conventional air rifle.

Again, a factor seldom considered is that the general inroads of civilization, the gradual reduction of fruit trees, the paucity of safe nesting locations and the lack of interest in nature and her wonders by a generation of T-V addicts and sports car enthusiasts, all have contributed enormously to reducing the number of birds in all categories.

DURING THE PAST few years, numerous anti-cat measures have been introduced in municipal and state legislatures, in the guise of "bird-protection" or "tax" bills. The latter, of course, appealing to tax-hungry officials, always on the prowl for new forms of revenue which to meet the ever-mounting costs of government.

Billions For Travel

Better accommodations lure the nation's vacationers the Chicago Motor Club reports as motel, hotel and resort owners evaluated the past touring season.

An estimated 8½ billion dollars was spent by American families on vacations, plus another 2 billion dollars for week-end trips. About 85 per cent of the traveling was done by auto.

Farmers Launch Meat Promotion Campaign

Illinois farmers are launching a meat sales promotion campaign, Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, announced.

Objects of the campaign, Steffey said, are to call attention of housewives to present bargains in meat and to bolster livestock prices and farm income.

The IAA president pointed out that housewives today can buy for 89 cents meat that a year ago would have cost them $1.

"With meat at such bargain prices, consumers can afford to eat more meat," he said.

DURING THE MEAT promotion campaign, representatives of the 99 county farm bureaus plan to visit grocery stores, restaurants, retailers, hotel managers and other places that serve or handle meat.

"They will be urged to cooperate in this self-help plan of farmers to increase the consumption of pork, beef, lamb, and poultry," the Farm Bureau president said.

Aiding in the sales drive will be advertisements promoting meat which will appear in various media throughout the state, Steffey said.

As part of the campaign, 100 farmers and 15 farm wives will arrive in Chicago Nov. 3, and will point out to housewives in stores that meat is a bargain food.

Meanwhile, farmer members of marketing committees in downstate communities will visit meat counters all over the state and urge more consumption of meat.

SIMILAR to a dairy promotion campaign sponsored by the county farm bureaus and the IAA last year, the meat campaign is a self-help attempt by farmers to channel meat into consumption rather than seek government aid, Steffey said.

Steffey said concerted action by the nation's two million farm families could easily raise the price of livestock $1 per hundredweight.

"This could boost the price of livestock $1 per hundredweight and mean at least $500 more income in the average Illinois farmer," Steffey estimated.

The United States ranks fifth among nations in the per capita consumption of meat, he continued. From the standpoint of health, this consumption should be increased beyond the estimated 183 pounds of meat eaten by men, women, and children in 1955, Steffey declared.

Motorists Beware! Winter Is Near— Are You Ready?

With Indian Summer and most of fall behind us, the National Safety council has issued some tips for motorists.

The advice comes from the council's committee on winter driving hazards—a group of engineers and city and state officials. The committee staff has tested its winter driving recommendations in January and February of the past several years on frozen lakes and snow covered roads in Michigan and Wisconsin.

First, says the committee, have your car "winterized." And this, they add, means more than adding anti-freeze. It means a check as well of lights, battery, voltage regulator, wiper blades, heater defroster, tires, tire chains, brakes, steering and muffler. The driver's seat, too, should be adjusted so that the right foot rests fully on the accelerator pedal; otherwise heavy foot pressure will be required and any slight foot movement will make the car jump.

On snow or ice, the experts recommend starting in second gear. If your car has an automatic transmission, better yet, says the committee report, commenting, "These handle well on ice and snow and respond smoothly to precise accelerator action."

Lowering tire pressure to get more traction is not recommended. Committee tests show modern extra low pressure tires do, not work better if pressure is lowered below normal.

Snow tires, the committe reports, are better than regular tires in loose snow and slush. "But," the experts add, "don't let this lead you to feel there is a similar advantage on ice or closely packed snow; snow tires are not much more effective than regular tires for these conditions.

Zurich Heights is a lively place nowdays.

Sheriff's police reported that several persons were injured in a scuffle at a residence Saturday night when a 28-year-old man threatened a friend's wife with a butcher knife. She hit him over the head with a beer bottle while he was choking her husband.

Another couple appeared before county judge to explain why they left their 5 small children home alone while they drank in a tavern. The children had been found by police in an unheated cottage without food. The parents had been arrested in the tavern after being found in an intoxicated condition.

Farm economists at the University of Illinois have designed a new livestock-share model lease form which suggests arrangements that can result in more profits from a rented farm and better landlord-tenant relationships.

Hunters And Boys Take Toll Of Songbirds, Not Ol' Tabby

Of all of God's lesser creatures hindered by fallacies, old wives' tales and misinformation, the Cat ranks first as a victim of man's thoughtless abuse, vilification and maltreatment.

It is always popular to believe that song birds, so highly valued for their insectivorous nature and musical attribues, are destroyed by cats.

This oft-repeated charge simply is not true. The facts, as gathered by the various wild life organizations, state highway department technicians and biologists and individual investigators, prove otherwise.

Mouse meat	38.1%
Young rabbit	25.6%
Rat	11.4%
Table scraps (including vegetables)	6.9%
Turtle and fish	2.7%
Pork	2.4%
Grasshoppers	2.4%
Chicken	1.5%
Bulk matter (including cat food fillers)	1.8%
Grass, herbs, hair and liquid	7.2%

One notes the complete absence of bird meat or even feathers!

On the other hand, it is extremely unpopular to mention that the nation's sportsmen slaughter untold thousands of birds to increase their skill of marksmanship, seldom bothering to identify while aloft these tiny winged creatures. Later, when the evidence of such wanton destruction is discovered, tabby is blamed and, if he happens to be in sight, is subject to instant or horrible maiming, depending upon the degree of skill of the second gun-wielder.

TOO, CATS are decimated in considerable numbers by small boys who have developed unbelievable accuracy with slingshots, the more modern zip gun or the conventional air rifle.

Again, a factor seldom considered is that the general inroads of civilization, the gradual reduction of fruit trees, the paucity of safe nesting locations and the lack of interest in nature and her wonders by a generation of T-V addicts and sports car enthusiasts, all have contributed enormously to reducing the number of birds in all categories.

DURING THE PAST few years, numerous anti-cat measures have been introduced in municipal and state legislatures, in the guise of "bird-protection" or "tax" bills. The latter, of course, appealing to tax-hungry officials, always on the prowl for new forms of revenue which to meet the ever-mounting costs of government.

Billions For Travel

Better accommodations lure the nation's vacationers the Chicago Motor Club reports as motel, hotel and resort owners evaluated the past touring season.

An estimated 8½ billion dollars was spent by American families on vacations, plus another 2 billion dollars for week-end trips. About 85 per cent of the traveling was done by auto.

Farmers Launch Meat Promotion Campaign

Illinois farmers are launching a meat sales promotion campaign, Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, announced.

Objects of the campaign, Steffey said, are to call attention of housewives to present bargains in meat and to bolster livestock prices and farm income.

The IAA president pointed out that housewives today can buy for 89 cents meat that a year ago would have cost them $1.

"With meat at such bargain prices, consumers can afford to eat more meat," he said.

DURING THE MEAT promotion campaign, representatives of the 99 county farm bureaus plan to visit grocery stores, restaurants, retailers, hotel managers and other places that serve or handle meat.

"They will be urged to cooperate in this self-help plan of farmers to increase the consumption of pork, beef, lamb, and poultry," the Farm Bureau president said.

Aiding in the sales drive will be advertisements promoting meat which will appear in various media throughout the state, Steffey said.

As part of the campaign, 100 farmers and 15 farm wives will arrive in Chicago Nov. 3, and will point out to housewives in stores that meat is a bargain food.

Meanwhile, farmer members of marketing committees in downstate communities will visit meat counters all over the state and urge more consumption of meat.

SIMILAR to a dairy promotion campaign sponsored by the county farm bureaus and the IAA last year, the meat campaign is a self-help attempt by farmers to channel meat into consumption rather than seek government aid, Steffey said.

Steffey said concerted action by the nation's two million farm families could easily raise the price of livestock $1 per hundredweight.

"This could boost the price of livestock $1 per hundredweight and mean at least $500 more income in the average Illinois farmer," Steffey estimated.

The United States ranks fifth among nations in the per capita consumption of meat, he continued. From the standpoint of health, this consumption should be increased beyond the estimated 183 pounds of meat eaten by men, women, and children in 1955, Steffey declared.

Motorists Beware! Winter Is Near— Are You Ready?

With Indian Summer and most of fall behind us, the National Safety council has issued some tips for motorists.

The advice comes from the council's committee on winter driving hazards—a group of engineers and city and state officials. The committee staff has tested its winter driving recommendations in January and February of the past several years on frozen lakes and snow covered roads in Michigan and Wisconsin.

First, says the committee, have your car "winterized." And this, they add, means more than adding anti-freeze. It means a check as well of lights, battery, voltage regulator, wiper blades, heater defroster, tires, tire chains, brakes, steering and muffler. The driver's seat, too, should be adjusted so that the right foot rests fully on the accelerator pedal; otherwise heavy foot pressure will be required and any slight foot movement will make the car jump.

On snow or ice, the experts recommend starting in second gear. If your car has an automatic transmission, better yet, says the committee report, commenting, "These handle well on ice and snow and respond smoothly to precise accelerator action."

Lowering tire pressure to get more traction is not recommended. Committee tests show modern extra low pressure tires do, not work better if pressure is lowered below normal.

Snow tires, the committe reports, are better than regular tires in loose snow and slush. "But," the experts add, "don't let this lead you to feel there is a similar advantage on ice or closely packed snow; snow tires are not much more effective than regular tires for these conditions.

Roughest Crop

Winter rye is the roughest, toughest cereal crop of them all, says a University of Illinois agronomist.

Zurich Heights Is 'Lively' Town

Zurich Heights is a lively place nowdays.

Sheriff's police reported that several persons were injured in a scuffle at a residence Saturday night when a 28-year-old man threatened a friend's wife with a butcher knife. She hit him over the head with a beer bottle while he was choking her husband.

Another couple appeared before county judge to explain why they left their 5 small children home alone while they drank in a tavern. The children had been found by police in an unheated cottage without food. The parents had been arrested in the tavern after being found in an intoxicated condition.

Lease Form

Farm economists at the University of Illinois have designed a new livestock-share model lease form which suggests arrangements that can result in more profits from a rented farm and better landlord-tenant relationships.

Modern Etiquette

by Roberta Lee

Q. Should a person always rise when performing an introduction?

A. In most cases, yes. However, there are certain circumstances where this would prove awkward. If an introduction is performed at a banquet table, for instance, then rising would not be necessary.

Q. When should announcements be sent of a marriage which has been kept secret for several weeks or months?

A. Since a secret marriage is not a prescribed affair, there is no definite time for mailing announcements. It is entirely optional.

Q. Is it really improper to butter an entire slice of bread before beginning to eat at the dinner table?

A. Yes, it is. The proper, and only accepted, form is to break off one mouthful at a time and butter it.

Q. Are the letters, popularly written at the bottoms of invitations, all supposed to be capitalized as, R.S.V.P.?

A. No; only the first letter is capitalized, as, "R.s.v.p."

Q. If a young man sends a girl a corsage to wear to some particular affair, but the flowers do not harmonize with the one suitable gown she must wear, what should she do?

A. Wear them anyway, or carry them. It would certainly be very rude to leave them at home.

Q. When a wife is writing a note of thanks, is she supposed to sign her husband's name as well as her own?

A. No; she should sign her own name only. But in the note she may say, "Bob and I both appreciate your hospitality," or whatever the thanks are for.

Q. How can a new bride in a strange city best go about making new friends?

A. By joining a church group, the local garden club, or some similar organization which interests her, she will very likely meet women with tastes congenial to her own.

Q. How may a woman know whether or not to offer her hand to a man when being introduced?

A. There is no rule for this. It is altogether optional with the woman. She may remember, however, that the proferred hand is her way of showing sincere and genuine pleasure over the introduction.

Q. Should the prongs of the fork be pointed upward when lifting the fork to the mouth?

A. Yes, always.

Q. Isn't the bridegroom supposed to buy his own wedding ring?

A. No. He should, of course, buy his bride's ring, but she should buy his ring.

Q. If a girl is to be married to a man who has been married previously, is it proper for her to have a big wedding, wear a white gown and veil?

A. Certainly. The fact that her bridegroom has been married before does not alter the fact that this is her first wedding. If, however, she has been married previously, she should not have a big wedding nor wear white.

Q. When two men and two girls are eating together in a public place, at a small table, how should they be seated?

A. The girls should be seated opposite each other.

Q. When jelly is served on the dinner plate, how is it meant to be eaten?

A. With the fork, as it goes with the meat.

Q. When a girl is being introduced to a man whom she believes she has met before, should she mention it to him?

A. If his memory does not seem so good as hers, it would be better not to make mention of the former meeting, but merely to acknowledge with, "How do you do, Mr. Lee."

Q. Is it proper for a guest to express a choice of food when the host or hostess requests it?

A. Certainly. When requested, it is much more proper to state a preference than to say, "It doesn't matter," or, "Anything at all."

Q. Is the bride supposed to do the cutting of the wedding cake?

A. Only the first piece. Then each guest can cut his own piece, or some friend can be asked to do this, or a maid can cut it.

Q. When a hostess is serving cocktails and knows that one or two of her guests do not care for them, what should she do?

A. She should be prepared in advance for any such eventualities, and serve these guests some soft drinks.

Q. If one is eating in a public place where small butter pats are served in little paper containers, is it all right to let the knife rest on the pat when not in use?

A. Never. The knife, when not in use, should rest along the upper right part of the plate—and never, of course, with the handle of the knife resting on the table.

Q. When you have been asked to pass a dish at the table, and you were just about to partake of that dish yourself, is it all right to help yourself first?

A. No; this would be very crude and ill-bred, unless of course the other person insists that you help yourself first.

Q. When one receives an invitation to an "open house," does this mean one is obligated to bring a gift?

A. No. An "open house" is simply an invitation to come and see the new home. It is neither expected nor customary for the guests to bring gifts.

Q. When it is necessary for a male member of a dinner party to leave the table, should all the other men rise undil he has departed?

A. This is not necessary.

Q. How much time is the bride expected to spend with her guests at the wedding reception?

A. She doesn't have to remain more than two hours. She may then retire to her room with her maid-of-honor to change into her traveling costume.

Q. If a small paper cup of applesauce is served on one's dinner plate, and it is too small to eat from with a fork or spoon, is it all right to empty the contents into the dinner plate?

A. Yes. Scoop out the contents with your fork. Then put the empty cup on the dinner plate to one side, out of your way.

Q. Would it be all right for a girl to send a young man a birthday card, even though he has never sent her a card or given her a gift?

A. Yes; there is nothing at all wrong with this. This is merely a thoughtful gesture, and the young man would be presumptuous to think it anything else.

Q. How and when does the bridegroom give his fee to the minister who performs the wedding ceremony?

A. He should give the money or check (enclosed in an envelope) to his best man, who gives it to the minister after the ceremony, and of course privately.

Q. Since it is always a problem to get all the guests who are invited to a wedding and reception to reply, wouldn't it be all right to enclose reply cards with the invitations?

A. Although still not universally done, reply cards are in many cases included—and this is quite all right.

Q. When a girl and her escort are attending a buffet supper, does the girl fill her own plate or does she allow her escort to take care of this for her?

A. It would probably be better for her to take care of her own plate, although either way is correct.

Q. When a man is dining with a woman in a public place, is it permissible for him to suggest something on the menu?

A. This is quite all right, and especially if his companion seems undecided.

Do not deceive yourself by attempting self treatments. It is worth many times your Physician's charge to know that your health is in capable hands. When he tells you that your illness is not serious, as most often is the case, it is a wonderful feeling. Should some more difficult sickness threaten your health, an early treatment usually prevents any serious consequences.

Twelve Phones For Service

CLearbrook 3-1520 Palatine 10

Modern Etiquette

by Roberta Lee

Q. Should a person always rise when performing an introduction?

A. In most cases, yes. However, there are certain circumstances where this would prove awkward. If an introduction is performed at a banquet table, for instance, then rising would not be necessary.

Q. When should announcements be sent of a marriage which has been kept secret for several weeks or months?

A. Since a secret marriage is not a prescribed affair, there is no definite time for mailing announcements. It is entirely optional.

Q. Is it really improper to butter an entire slice of bread before beginning to eat at the dinner table?

A. Yes, it is. The proper, and only accepted, form is to break off one mouthful at a time and butter it.

Q. Are the letters, popularly written at the bottoms of invitations, all supposed to be capitalized as, R.S.V.P.?

A. No; only the first letter is capitalized, as, "R.s.v.p."

Q. If a young man sends a girl a corsage to wear to some particular affair, but the flowers do not harmonize with the one suitable gown she must wear, what should she do?

A. Wear them anyway, or carry them. It would certainly be very rude to leave them at home.

Q. When a wife is writing a note of thanks, is she supposed to sign her husband's name as well as her own?

A. No; she should sign her own name only. But in the note she may say, "Bob and I both appreciate your hospitality," or whatever the thanks are for.

Q. How can a new bride in a strange city best go about making new friends?

A. By joining a church group, the local garden club, or some similar organization which interests her, she will very likely meet women with tastes congenial to her own.

Q. How may a woman know whether or not to offer her hand to a man when being introduced?

A. There is no rule for this. It is altogether optional with the woman. She may remember, however, that the proferred hand is her way of showing sincere and genuine pleasure over the introduction.

Q. Should the prongs of the fork be pointed upward when lifting the fork to the mouth?

A. Yes, always.

Q. Isn't the bridegroom supposed to buy his own wedding ring?

A. No. He should, of course, buy his bride's ring, but she should buy his ring.

Q. If a girl is to be married to a man who has been married previously, is it proper for her to have a big wedding, wear a white gown and veil?

A. Certainly. The fact that her bridegroom has been married before does not alter the fact that this is her first wedding. If, however, she has been married previously, she should not have a big wedding nor wear white.

Q. When two men and two girls are eating together in a public place, at a small table, how should they be seated ?

A. The girls should be seated opposite each other.

Q. When jelly is served on the dinner plate, how is it meant to be eaten?

A. With the fork, as it goes with the meat.

Q. When a girl is being introduced to a man whom she believes she has met before, should she mention it to him?

A. If his memory does not seem so good as hers, it would be better not to make mention of the former meeting, but merely to acknowledge with, "How do you do, Mr. Lee."

Q. Is it proper for a guest to express a choice of food when the host or hostess requests it?

A. Certainly. When requested, it is much more proper to state a preference than to say, "It doesn't matter," or, "Anything at all."

Q. Is the bride supposed to do the cutting of the wedding cake?

A. Only the first piece. Then each guest can cut his own piece, or some friend can be asked to do this, or a maid can cut it.

Q. When a hostess is serving cocktails and knows that one or two of her guests do not care for them, what should she do?

A. She should be prepared in advance for any such eventualities, and serve these guests some soft drinks.

Q. If one is eating in a public place where small butter pats are served in little paper containers, is it all right to let the knife rest on the pat when not in use?

A. Never. The knife, when not in use, should rest along the upper right part of the plate—and never, of course, with the handle of the knife resting on the table.

Q. When you have been asked to pass a dish at the table, and you were just about to partake of that dish yourself, is it all right to help yourself first?

A. No; this would be very crude and ill-bred, unless of course the other person insists that you help yourself first.

Q. When one receives an invitation to an "open house," does this mean one is obligated to bring a gift?

A. No. An "open house" is simply an invitation to come and see the new home. It is neither expected nor customary for the guests to bring gifts.

Q. When it is necessary for a male member of a dinner party to leave the table, should all the other men rise undil he has departed?

A. This is not necessary.

Q. How much time is the bride expected to spend with her guests at the wedding reception?

A. She doesn't have to remain more than two hours. She may then retire to her room with her maid-of-honor to change into her traveling costume.

Q. If a small paper cup of applesauce is served on one's dinner plate, and it is too small to eat from with a fork or spoon, is it all right to empty the contents into the dinner plate?

A. Yes. Scoop out the contents with your fork. Then put the empty cup on the dinner plate to one side, out of your way.

Q. Would it be all right for a girl to send a young man a birthday card, even though he has never sent her a card or given her a gift?

A. Yes; there is nothing at all wrong with this. This is merely a thoughtful gesture, and the young man would be presumptuous to think it anything else.

Q. How and when does the bridegroom give his fee to the minister who performs the wedding ceremony?

A. He should give the money or check (enclosed in an envelope) to his best man, who gives it to the minister after the ceremony, and of course privately.

Q. Since it is always a problem to get all the guests who are invited to a wedding and reception to reply, wouldn't it be all right to enclose reply cards with the invitations?

A. Although still not universally done, reply cards are in many cases included—and this is quite all right.

Q. When a girl and her escort are attending a buffet supper, does the girl fill her own plate or does she allow her escort to take care of this for her?

A. It would probably be better for her to take care of her own plate, although either way is correct.

Q. When a man is dining with a woman in a public place, is it permissible for him to suggest something on the menu?

A. This is quite all right, and especially if his companion seems undecided.

When a Physician becomes sick he always goes to another Physician to diagnose his ailment. He knows that no one can properly treat himself. Symptoms of illness must be carefully noted and studied impassionately.

Do not deceive yourself by attempting self treatments. It is worth many times your Physician's charge to know that your health is in capable hands. When he tells you that your illness is not serious, as most often is the case, it is a wonderful feeling. Should some more difficult sickness threaten your health, an early treatment usually prevents any serious consequences.

Young Democrat Rally November 19 At Hilton

Five hundred young Democrats from the city and suburbs are expected to attend a county-wide rally November 19, being held in conjunction with the 3-day Chicago meeting of the Democratic national committee. Miss Mary Alice Disch, 45 N. Milwaukee ave., Wheeling, is a member of the arrangements committee for this workshop.

The rally, which is open to the public, will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon in the Williford Room of the Conrad Hilton hotel under the sponsorship of the Young Democrats of Cook county. Theme of the meeting is "Partisan Commitment and Political Morality."

Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Congressman Charles Diggs of Detroit, and Sheriff Joseph Lohman of Cook county will speak on the main theme. After formal statements by the speakers, the meeting will be thrown open to questions and dis-

Our Saviour Church To Mark First Anniversary Sunday

The first anniversary of Our Saviours United Lutheran church will be celebrated Sunday with a festive service at 10:45 a.m. in Dryden school and a birthday dinner at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of the junior high school. The Rev. John P. Petersen, pastor, will conduct the morning worship and preach the sermon as the congregation commemorates the anniversary of its first service, which was held November 21, 1954.

Seventy-two persons were in attendance at the first service of the mission church, organized by the Rev. George Hoog. It is estimated that more than twice that number will be present Sunday to mark the first year of the church's existence, a year which has seen progress in all aspects of the church's activities.

During the past year the church has organized its Sunday school, senior choir, a guild with 3 service circles for women of the church, a brotherhood, and a Luther league for its young people. Property has been acquired for the future church building, located at Olive and N. State rd., and a parsonage has been purchased for Pastor Petersen and his family.

As part of the worship service Sunday morning, the pastor will conduct a service of dedication of a set of red altar paraments which will be used for the first time. The paraments are the gift of the altar guild.

Celebration of the anniversary will take on a more informal note Sunday evening at the birthday dinner. Vern Heim, chairman of the dinner program, announces that the program will feature discussions of the building plans for the church, including the reports of the various organizations on what they would like to see incorporated into the proposed building.

Assisting Mr. Heim, who will preside at the dinner, are the following committee members, Byrd Miller, Donald Quigley, Irvin Slepicka, Ted Meyer, Edgar Neas and Pastor Petersen. Acting as representatives of the guild in planning the serving of the dinner and taking the reservations are Mrs. Raymond Woodruff, Mrs. Ben Carns and Mrs. William Anderson.

Reservations may still be made by calling Mrs. Woodruff or Mrs. Anderson. A limited number can still be accepted as late as Sunday morning.

Our Saviour Church To Mark First Anniversary Sunday

The first anniversary of Our Saviours United Lutheran church will be celebrated Sunday with a festive service at 10:45 a.m. in Dryden school and a birthday dinner at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of the junior high school. The Rev. John P. Petersen, pastor, will conduct the morning worship and preach the sermon as the congregation commemorates the anniversary of its first service, which was held November 21, 1954.

Seventy-two persons were in attendance at the first service of the mission church, organized by the Rev. George Hoog. It is estimated that more than twice that number will be present Sunday to mark the first year of the church's existence, a year which has seen progress in all aspects of the church's activities.

During the past year the church has organized its Sunday school, senior choir, a guild with 3 service circles for women of the church, a brotherhood, and a Luther league for its young people. Property has been acquired for the future church building, located at Olive and N. State rd., and a parsonage has been purchased for Pastor Petersen and his family.

As part of the worship service Sunday morning, the pastor will conduct a service of dedication of a set of red altar paraments which will be used for the first time. The paraments are the gift of the altar guild.

Celebration of the anniversary will take on a more informal note Sunday evening at the birthday dinner. Vern Heim, chairman of the dinner program, announces that the program will feature discussions of the building plans for the church, including the reports of the various organizations on what they would like to see incorporated into the proposed building.

Assisting Mr. Heim, who will preside at the dinner, are the following committee members, Byrd Miller, Donald Quigley, Irvin Slepicka, Ted Meyer, Edgar Neas and Pastor Petersen. Acting as representatives of the guild in planning the serving of the dinner and taking the reservations are Mrs. Raymond Woodruff, Mrs. Ben Carns and Mrs. William Anderson.

Reservations may still be made by calling Mrs. Woodruff or Mrs. Anderson. A limited number can still be accepted as late as Sunday morning.

I do not enjoy paying $20 more premium than necessary on auto insurance, but this is what happened when I financed my new car, and they wrote my insurance as part of the deal. Could I have insisted that the insurance be with my regular agent?

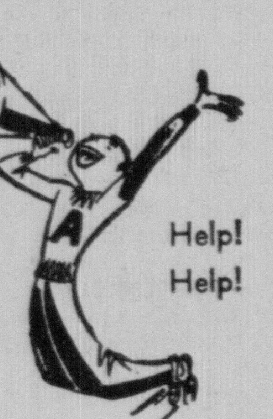
Cards To Open Cage Season At Woodstock Friday Night

KICKIN' IT AROUND



by Bob Paddock

THE GRID SUITS have been hung up to dry and another football season is over at Old Siwash. We can remember when Knox college had the longest football loss record in history, 27-in-a-row, until Hobart lost 28. Old Siwash then scheduled Principia, an ex- junior college, and broke the string. A lot of water has gone over the dam since that time 20 years ago, including several winning football teams.

Frank Stanicek

Bright light of this year's Knox team has been Frank Stanicek, Hinsdale grad, who carried the colors of the West Suburban league to 4 touchdowns and 3 extra points against opponents, though just a junior. Frank has been 1 of the standouts for Coach Al Parlin and "is showing the greatness he indicated his freshman year, coming back strong after an injury-plagued soph season." Frank was all-league in high school his senior year, could make all-midwest college next season.

Two other West Suburban loop boys are keeping Stanicek company at Knox. Larry Fichter of Maine has performed at guard. The college's No. 1 pass receiver has been George Olson of York, a junior who has just won his second letter.

PADDOCK BOWLING TOURNAMENT among first place teams of men's and women's leagues participating within the area served by Paddock Publications, has 3 rules additions this year, including the major one of not permitting any bowler to compete more than once. In past years, a few bowlers have competed with more than 1 team in the same tourney.

This year, in case a kegler is a member of 2 different teams making the tourney, he will have to choose to compete with 1 of them and provide a substitute for the other.

We think it's a good idea, possibly enabling more bowlers to participate in the prize money. Exceptions to the rule are possible when tourneys meet certain "fraternal, church, etc." qualifications but ABC does not have any such category for the Paddock meet.

First place teams of all men's leagues at local alleys as of Dec. 17 will compete in the tournament at Beverly Lanes, Arlington Heights, Jan. 8. First place teams of all women's leagues at local alleys as of Dec. 24 will compete at Trausch-Linden Recreation, Bensenville, Jan. 15.

IT ISN'T TOO OFTEN the officials who set dates for wildfowl seasons can hit it so well as they did this year. The weather very frequently trips them up but this year in Illinois the weather man has cooperated very well and ducks came down just as though they too wanted to cooperate.

The stormy, coolish weather even convinced the big ducks, primarily the mallards, that it was time to move and numerous duck hunters agree there were more mallards around than usual for this time of year.

Plenty of rain has made more water available throughout Illinois. Rivers that have been low for several years at this time of year are now up in good shape. Even drainage ditches and minor sloughs are well filled with water attracting a reasonable number of migrators.

PETE SWANSON is a name you never saw in football statistics, but was the student behind the scenes for Arlington High this year . . . Pete has a head for figures, kept all statistics for the Cardinals, is called a "walking Sporting News" . . . Next time you see him, ask what Babe Ruth's average his 7th year in the majors was, and he'll tell you . . . Pete is near the top of his class scholastically, too, and will be covering many games for Paddock Publications this year.

Arlington ranked third defensively in the WSC, behind Hinsdale and LaGrange . . . Same Cardinals scored first on 7 of 8 opponents this year, indicating more reserves might have brought home the title.

Not that it matters, but of 5 Heights lads named on West Suburban all-star team, or given honorable mention, 2 of them, Dennis Striegel and John Sujack, are listed on the same page of the phone book, with Jim Summers just 5 names off on the next page . . . Niles frosh gridders had a 5-1-1 record, so look out in '57 . . . Globetrotters will play at Niles Dec. 21 . . . Tatum and Haynes will be at Libertyville Nov. 25 . . . Jack Stickels, Hinsdale line coach, is a cousin of Gov. Stratton . . . Libertyville has taken up wrestling for the first time, opens at McHenry Dec. 9.

MARV BERSCHET, Arlington grad still with the Redskins pro footballers, will be in Chicago Sunday when his team meets the Cardinals at Comiskey Park . . . Marv is back on the reserve list for the Redskins, practices every day, travels with the team, but does not play . . . Owner George Marshall was impressed with Berschet's loyalty and promising performance in his rookie year and put him on the reserve list.

Cards' Dick Winterbauer missed Saturday's Yale game at Princeton due to a virus, and will miss the season final this week against Harvard . . . He was expected to be released from the hospital this week but is not expected to dress Saturday.

Wayne Haemker was named honorary captain of the Heights cross country team by his mates . . . Card soph gridders selected Greg Rose captain, Howie Berg most valuable . . . Arlington track coach Russ Attis is looking for track meets in April and May . . . At Fenton frosh and soph cage coaches alternate jobs, keeping the same boys 2 seasons.

OHIO STATE football players have "given" their university an average of $14,000 apiece annually by playing sparkling football and attracting fans who shell out ticket money . . . Statistician revealed that 64 gridders spent 266 hours preparing for and playing football, and brought $993,000 into the till . . . Every one of Wisconsin's 5 home games was a sell out this season, attracting 53,529 persons per tilt . . . Badgers have won 310, lost 179 since 1889 . . . Quick quotes by Ohio State's Woody Hayes before the season opened: I think we'll be good defensively (rank 10th in Big 10) . . . You have to be sound defensively to win (Buckeyes won their first 3 league games) . . . Libertyville frosh-soph cagers will play in St. Charles Christmas tourney.

Northwestern has second smallest enrollment in the Big 10, Illinois the largest . . . Unidentified NU coach recently stated the school could never win football games when the dates conflicted with sailing weather and polo dates.

Illinois	11,408	Purdue	8,000
Ohio State	10,500	Wisconsin	7,609
Michigan	10,315	Indiana	7,449
Mich. State	10,100	Northwestern	4,900
Minnesota	9,794	Iowa	4,500

Only major league player to gain 6 hits in 1 game this year was Kansas City shortstop Joe DeMaestri, who averaged .249 . . . Ten of Urbana high's 11 starters are seniors . . . Hinsdale's Tom Skubich suffered a knee injury in scrimmage and will be out of the final grid game for DeKalb . . . Ohio State has averaged 81,355 fans in 6 home football games.

Palatine 2nd Year Squad Won Mythical Title

This past season Palatine high had the most successful frosh-soph football season in the history of the school with seven victories over Northwest Conference teams and a tie with Barrington. Following a 7-7 tie the Pirates scored 34 touchdowns and averaged 32.5 points a game to two touchdowns and 1.8 points a game for the opposition.

Coach Claude Bailey, who was ably assisted by John Ellis, had a well balanced team with a hard working line and a backfield which had plenty of speed and spirit. The regular backfield of Dick Wisner, Dan Lemanski, Bob Nordin, and Don Teegan along with the ends, Jordan Danforth and Jim Eldridge piled up a season total of 1,893 yards from scrimmage to opponents' 677.

BY RUSHING the Pirates had 1,336 yards to 343 for the opposition. Dick Wisner alone had 657 yards by rushing, threw 21 complete passes in 55 attempts for 408 yards and caught five passes for 131 yards. Adding punt and kickoff returns and pass interceptions Wisner had a total offense of 1,470 in eight games Wisner had a ball carrying average of 7.64 yards a try while Bob Norden had 6.49 and Don Teegan 5.25. Dan Lemanski was a blocker and tackler of varsity caliber and the key man on the team on offense though he seldom carried the b[illegible]

Wisner, who would have made the varsity backfield in most of the schools of the league outside of Glenbrook, scored 74 points while Nordin had 43, Danforth 39, Lemanski 30, and Teegan 24.

Jordan Danforth was the top pass catcher with 10 receptions for 276 yards. Teegan intercepted seven passes for 98 yards and Wisner six for 151 yards. Wisner averaged 33.1 yards on 13 punts and returned four kickoffs for 92 yards.

THE NORTHWEST Conference does not have frosh-soph standings or championships. Palatine and Glenbrook were the only teams which did not have their best sophomores on the varsity squad. That made the advantage of the large schools that much more onesided in frosh-soph ball when carried on through the playing of doubleheaders.

Palatine won all their games in the conference by lopsided scores except the 13-0 Glenbrook game, but this was the latter team's first loss in three years and they won all the rest of their games this season. Palatine has fine material coming up to the varsity next year which should be ready a year later in 1957 to make a real bid for first place.

Fenton Host To St. Procopius Tuesday Eve

That was the picture facing Coach Frank Novatny at Fenton high school where the cagers introduced each other Monday for the first time. Postponed Ela-Vernon grid clash was played Friday, holding up appearance of basketball hopefuls 1 week.

Of 29 boys now on the varsity team, 12 have taken off the shoulder pads in the hurried effort to be ready for the cage opener Friday.

THREE VETERANS are back for Novatny, all of whom will be among starters against Hampshire. Phi Johnson, regular last year, stands 6'4", will start at right forward. Dick D'Hooge, a regular in the last 4 games last season, stands 6'3" and will share starting spot at left forward with Tony Tecza, 6'1" senior who developed fast the end of last year.

Lars Hendriksen, 5'11" junior guard, was an outstanding frosh-soph last season, will start at guard. The other guard spot will probably be filled by either Tom Clark or Dave Helm, both sophomores. Helm was outstanding with the freshmen last year, though standing only 5'8". Clark stands 5'7".

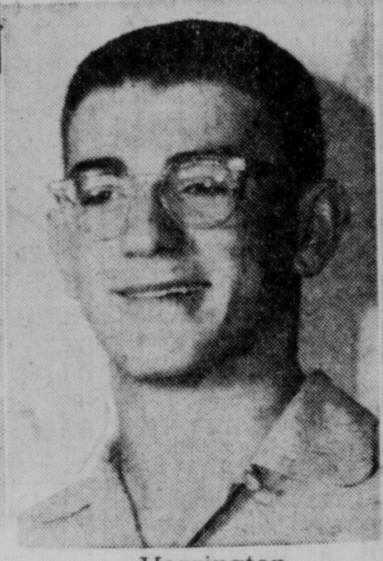
VARSITY SQUAD has been divided into varsity and JV, with Denny Whitlow slated to coach the reserves. JV schedule will open Dec. 3, though complete slate has not been announced to date.

First home game for the varsity and frosh-sophs, after Friday night's opener at Hampshire, will host St. Procopius Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Sujack, Harrington and Malzahn Named To WSC All-Star Gridders

Sujack



Harrington

Malzahn

Striegel

Summers

Three Arlington gridders made the coaches' West Suburban league all-star team, with 2 more gaining honorable mention. John Sujack, Wayne Malzahn and Bob Harrington all made the team, with Dennis Striegel and Jim Summers gaining honorable mention.

The mythical squad was named last week by coaches meeting at Maine high school selecting a group that included 1 repeater from last year, Bill Zersen of York. It also named just 1 junior, Dick Soderberg of LaGrange.

THE ENDS include Dick Winkler of Hinsdale, Lee Meyer of LaGrange, Don Schloemer of York and Bob Harrington of Arlington. Harrington came along fast for Arlington, became one of the best defensive ends in the league. He was a good blocker, fair receiver, didn't talk much on the grid but played hard football.

Winkler was the most outstanding end seen at Hinsdale for several years, was highest scoring end in the loop, excellent pass receiver, a good defensive man. League coaches are pushing him for all-state recognition, along with Sujack of Heights.

Meyer was one of LaGrange co-captins, good tackler and pass receiver, was "like having a defensive coach on the field" according to Coach Chuck Bennett as Meyer did an almost perfect job calling defensive signals.

THE TACKLES included Wayne Malzahn of Arlington, Fred Liedtke of LaGrange, Ken Kraml of Hinsdale and Bob Spachman of Riverside-Brookfield. Malzahn was very aggressive on both offense and defense. His competitive spirit made him the leader in the forward wall, never complained of minor hurts, is looking forward to college ball.

Liedtke was co-captain, played end on offense, tackle on defense, one of the hardest working ends ever seen at LaGrange. He and Meyer held the line together and generated the spirit that helped the team in the last 4 or 5 games.

Kraml was a regular at Hinsdale 2 years, led the team in defensive tackle 2 years in a row.

Spachman was a regular 2 years at Riverside, lettered 3 years, was the second boy in 15 years to accomplish that feat. Bob missed just 1 play all season, never missed a practice, has good speed, likes to play football. R-B coaches rated him the best there other than Johnny Damore, last year's Northwestern U. captain who lettered at NU 4 years.

THE GUARDS included Dick Gruhler of Hinsdale, Dick Soderberg of LaGrange, Karl Wendell of York and Whitey Krause of Downers. Gruhler is a good consistent player, played offense 2 years, defensive tackle, has good speed for a guard, was a great help to Hinsdale's running attack.

Soderberg played offensive guard for LaGrange, end, tackle and guard on defense, a very hard worker, is the only junior named to the all-star squad.

Wendell was the strongest lineman at York, handicapped by a charley horse much of the season, powerful defensive player. Line was weak without him.

Krause was the best offensive guard at Downers the past 2 years, was linebacker on defense and co-captain.

THE CENTERS included Don Burcham of Maine and Bob Wormley of LaGrange. Burcham was voted honorary captain, good team man, hard worker, steady workhorse on both offense and defense, was dependable.

Wormley was a good steady center for LaGrange, never made a bad pass in 2 years, good team boy who wanted to win.

THE BACKS included John Sujack of Arlington, Bill Zersen of York, Keith Evans of LaGrange, Jack Rezney and Blair Stanicek of Hinsdale, Gregg Gilbert of Glenbard and John Sienkowski of Downers.

Sujack was undoubtedly the individual standout of the league, is being pushed for all-state honors. Some league coaches acclaimed him best all time back in the WSC. John excelled as a triple threat on offensive, was a devastating tackler on defense, good pass defender.

Zersen was one of the best backs in the league, gained almost 700 yards for York. He was a good defensive halfback, an able leader, good student. He is the only repeater on the all-star team. This was Bill's third year as a defensive regular.

EVANS WAS A short, stocky player who performed remarkably well for his build at LaGrange. Keith came of age in the Arlington game, gaining 175 yards in 25 carries, looked exceptional from then on, was a good runner.

Rezney was outstanding on both offense and defense all year, one of the best defensive men seen at Hinsdale in years. He was also a good offensive man. Stanicek was regular fullback at Hinsdale 2 years, best ground gainer for the Red Devils with 530 yards for a 6.1 average, pretty good passer.

Moline was the workhorse of the Maine backfield had a 7.2 rushing average. Don took up the slack of the missing tailback, good blocker, line backer on defense.

Sienkowski was split-T quarterback for Downers, hurt before the Hinsdale game and missed most of the last 3 tilts. John was best passer for Downers, good defensive back, best punt and kickoff return man.

HONORABLE MENTION ratings were given 15 boys, including Dennis Striegel and Jim Summers of Arlington. Striegel was not quite as consistent a blocker and tackler as Malzahn for the Cardinals, but carried his share of the load. He could prove to be an excellent college prospect. Dennis showed a world of potential as defensive standout.

Summers came back to the team after a 2-year lapse and proved capable of WSC competition. When defense zoned to stop Sujack, Summers was quick to pick up the ball carrying load. Had Jim not missed 2 years competition due to eye trouble, he would probably have looked still better this season.

Midget Football Award Night At Heights Nov. 19

An excellent program has been arranged for the participants in the Arlington Heights park district football program Saturday night, Nov. 19.

Every boy will want to be present at the field house as individual award certificates will be presented and members of the Lions squad coached by Tom Kouras will be awarded special recognition shields for their efforts in winning the 1955 championship.

Four teams sponsored by the league this year with approximately 160-180 boys taking part. Each team played 9 scheduled contests for a total of 18 games plus a playoff game between the Lions and Cards.

The all-star game played November 5 concluded a very successful season for the program.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS park district board is to be commended for extending their recreation program into the fall months. The four coaches, Tom Kouros, Bob Baker, Ted Wissen and Al Hopkins did an excellent job in teaching good sportsmanship as well as the fundamentals in football. Development of leadership and learning to get along with others are 2 of the principle purposes of this program.

There will be a full length movie shown of the 1955 All-Star football game between the All-Stars and the Cleveland Browns, plus a movie of the exciting 20-13 victory posted by AHHS Cardinals over the champion Hinsdale Red Devils. Short speeches will be given by Jack Ebert, the Cardinals 1955 football captain, and Wally Grace, the AHHS athletic chief.

The evening of entertainment will be concluded with refreshments.

TO DATE only about one half of the equipment issued to the boys this fall has been returned. As a reminder coach Bus Ormsbee, director of the program, would like for each parent to make a special effort to see that their boy has returned all equipment to the field house by noon Saturday, Nov. 19. Unless this equipment is returned it will almost be impossible to carry on the program in '56.

Heights Sports Menu

Friday, Nov. 18, varsity and frosh-soph basketball, Woodstock, there, 7:00.

Coal Facts

Manufactured articles from coal are many and the latest is a battery box for the battery in modern automobiles. About 4 pounds of coal are used to produce each box.

Arlington Has 7 Lettermen Back For Action

Seven senior lettermen head the cage outlook at Arlington Heights high school with 4 juniors pushing them for starting positions. The Cardinals open the season at Woodstock Friday night, then come home to face Palatine Wednesday, Nov. 23, followed by Elgin the night after Thanksgiving.

Fourteen of the first 15 are 6' or taller, but Coach Howard Lester reports he still lacks the real tall boy necessary for a successful season. "Transition from football to basketball is hard," continues Lester. "You may remember how Woodstock murdered us the last quarter last year with 3 of our first 4 out on fouls.

"THAT COULD happen again unless the boys settle down to steady basketball and forget rough and tough football reactions. This year we have several promising juniors who'll be pushing the veteran seniors, and may be able to take up the slack."

There's a fine spirit on the squad and determination to make starting positions. Ball handling is weak, however. Passes are slipshod and dropping to the floor, a sure way to lose games once the whistle blows.

THE LETTERMEN back for more action on the Heights court, all seniors, include Denny Striegel and Dick Siech, a pair of 6' 3" boys at center; forwards Wayne Malzahn 6' 2" and Bill Randag 6' 3"; and guards Ron Ashley 6', John Sujack 6' and Jim Summers 6'.

Three others expected to make the trip to Woodstock include junior Jerry Klement 6'4" at center, senior Wayne Haemker 6' at forward, and senior Bob Uhlhorn 5'8" at guard.

ALMOST CERTAIN starters against Woodstock are Randag, Sujack and Striegel. Nos. 4 and 5 might be Ashley and Jacobsen, though Malzahn has been improving fast and could be ready to start. Palmer is another who ccould start Friday providing he steadies this week.

Brownell, Jacobsen and Vittum are making determined bids for starting positions and are certain to keep the seniors on their toes. Not much is known of Woodstock, though it is believed a 6'8" sophomore of last year is probably with the varsity this time.

Heights squad is divided into 2 groups with Coach "Bus" Ormsbee, JV coach, assisting Lester. Boys not playing in varsity games will compete in JV contests the next morning during the season.

Preliminary at Woodstock will start at 7:00.

Arlington Must Replace 7 Wrestlers Who Graduated

Wholesale graduation of 7 lettermen has made the wrestling picture at Arlington Heights high school a bleak one—except for the future outlook of 68 boys reporting for frosh-soph grappling.

And those frosh-sophs, under direction of Coach Maurice Kellogg, may hold the key to Coach Mudge's varsity record this year. Because varsity turnout is only 23, smallest number in history of the sport at Heights, there will be 4 weights open for first or second year men.

THE CARDINALS have a schedule "tougher than ever," believing the way to beat competition is to meet it, head-on. McHenry and Zion-Benton, which haven't developed the sport as fast as Heights, have been replaced by Oak Lawn and Tilden, grappling powers which finished just behind Arlington in the state meet last season.

The season record probably will suffer as a result, but Coach Mudge is determined to provide his squad with best competition possible in hopes of making still stronger wrestlers in the future.

A RUNDOWN on squad numbers: Of 23 man varsity, 6 have first team experience, 9 have frosh-soph experience, 8 are new to the sport. Of the 68 reporting to Coach Kellogg 18 are experienced sophs, 20 are brand new second year men. Those 38 provide a bright varsity light for a year from now.

Introduction of wrestling to a large number of grade school boys within the high school district the past couple of years is believed to be one of the factors bringing out 30 freshmen. This introduction has been very brief but has created interest in the sport.

THE BIG 7 lettermen no longer hitting the mats at Arlington include Vic Carlino, Ken Bredfeldt, Wally Mulso, John Heintz, Floyd Burns, Bruce Wilkerson and Ken Piepenbrink. Those returning include Ed Beier, Ralph Carlino, Al Rose and Capt. Jack Ebert.

Conditioning has been the first order of business thus far, with 5 practices now history as of Tuesday. Varsity group is small, but has plenty of spirit and cooperation, and is working hard.

Opening doubleheader is scheduled for Dec. 2 at Leyden, a school the Heights sophs lost to, but the varsity beat, a year ago. Possible starters at the 12 weights will include 4 seniors, 4 juniors and 4 freshmen or sophomores.

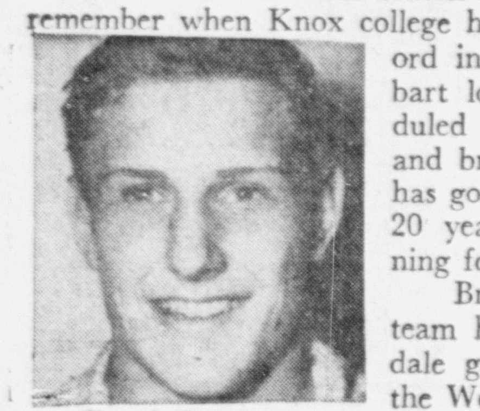
Cards To Open Cage Season At Woodstock Friday Night

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by Bob Paddock

THE GRID SUITS have been hung up to dry and another football season is over at Old Siwash. We can remember when Knox college had the longest football loss record in history, 27-in-a-row, until Hobart lost 28. Old Siwash then scheduled Principia, an ex- junior college, and broke the string. A lot of water has gone over the dam since that time 20 years ago, including several winning football teams.



Frank Stanicek

Bright light of this year's Knox team has been Frank Stanicek, Hinsdale grad, who carried the colors of the West Suburban league to 4 touchdowns and 3 extra points against opponents, though just a junior. Frank has been 1 of the standouts for Coach Al Parlin and "is showing the greatness he indicated his freshman year, coming back strong after an injury-plagued soph season." Frank was all-league in high school his senior year, could make all-midwest college next season.

Two other West Suburban loop boys are keeping Stanicek company at Knox. Larry Fichter of Maine has performed at guard. The college's No. 1 pass receiver has been George Olson of York, a junior who has just won his second letter.

PADDOCK BOWLING TOURNAMENT among first place teams of men's and women's leagues participating within the area served by Paddock Publications, has 3 rules additions this year, including the major one of not permitting any bowler to compete more than once. In past years a few bowlers have competed with more than 1 team in the same tourney.

This year, in case a kegler is a member of 2 different teams making the tourney, he will have to choose to compete with 1 of them and provide a substitute for the other.

We think it's a good idea, possibly enabling more bowlers to participate in the prize money. Exceptions to the rule are possible when tourneys meet certain "fraternal, church, etc." qualifications but ABC does not have any such category for the Paddock meet.

First place teams of all men's leagues at local alleys as of Dec. 17 will compete in the tournament at Beverly Lanes, Arlington Heights, Jan. 8. First place teams of all women's leagues at local alleys as of Dec. 24 will compete at Trausch-Linden Recreation, Bensenville, Jan. 15.

IT ISN'T TOO OFTEN the officials who set dates for wildfowl seasons can hit it so well as they did this year. The weather very frequently trips them up but this year in Illinois the weather man has cooperated very well and ducks came down just as though they too wanted to cooperate.

The stormy, coolish weather even convinced the big ducks, primarily the mallards, that it was time to move and numerous duck hunters agree there were more mallards around than usual for this time of year.

Plenty of rain has made more water available throughout Illinois. Rivers that have been low for several years at this time of year are now up in good shape. Even drainage ditches and minor sloughs are well filled with water attracting a reasonable number of migrators.

PETE SWANSON is a name you never saw in football statistics, but was the student behind the scenes for Arlington High this year . . . Pete has a head for figures, kept all statistics for the Cardinals, is called a "walking Sporting News" . . . Next time you see him, ask what Babe Ruth's average his 7th year in the majors was, and he'll tell you . . . Pete is near the top of his class scholastically, too, and will be covering many games for Paddock Publications this year.

Arlington ranked third defensively in the WSC, behind Hinsdale and LaGrange . . . Same Cardinals scored first on 7 of 8 opponents this year, indicating more reserves might have brought home the title.

Not that it matters, but of 5 Heights lads named on West Suburban all-star team, or given honorable mention, 2 of them, Dennis Striegel and John Sujack, are listed on the same page of the phone book, with Jim Summers just 5 names off on the next page . . . Niles frosh gridders had a 5-1-1 record, so look out in '57 . . . Globetrotters will play at Niles Dec. 21 . . . Tatum and Haynes will be at Libertyville Nov. 25 . . . Jack Stickels, Hinsdale line coach, is a cousin of Gov. Stratton . . . Libertyville has taken up wrestling for the first time, opens at McHenry Dec. 9.

MARV BERSCHET, Arlington grad still with the Redskins pro footballers, will be in Chicago Sunday when his team meets the Cardinals at Comiskey Park . . . Marv is back on the reserve list for the Redskins, practices every day, travels with the team, but does not play . . . Owner George Marshall was impressed with Berschet's loyalty and promising performance in his rookie year and put him on the reserve list.

Cards' Dick Winterbauer missed Saturday's Yale game at Princeton due to a virus, and will miss the season final this week against Harvard . . . He was expected to be released from the hospital this week but is not expected to dress Saturday.

Wayne Haemker was named honorary captain of the Heights cross country team by his mates . . . Card soph gridders selected Greg Rose captain, Howie Berg most valuable . . . Arlington track coach Russ Attis is looking for track meets in April and May . . . At Fenton frosh and soph cage coaches alternate jobs, keeping the same boys 2 seasons.

OHIO STATE football players have "given" their university an average of $14,000 apiece annually by playing sparkling football and attracting fans who shell out ticket money . . . Statistician revealed that 64 gridders spent 266 hours preparing for and playing football, and brought $993,000 into the till . . . Every one of Wisconsin's 5 home games was a sell out this season, attracting 53,529 persons per tilt . . . Badgers have won 310, lost 179 since 1889 . . . Quick quotes by Ohio State's Woody Hayes before the season opened: I think we'll be good defensively (rank 10th in Big 10) . . . You have to be sound defensively to win (Buckeyes won their first 3 league games) . . . Libertyville frosh-soph cagers will play in St. Charles Christmas tourney.

Northwestern has second smallest enrollment in the Big 10, Illinois the largest . . . Unidentified NU coach recently stated the school could never win football games when the dates conflicted with sailing weather and polo dates.

Illinois	11,408	Purdue	8,000
Ohio State	10,500	Wisconsin	7,609
Michigan	10,315	Indiana	7,449
Mich. State	10,100	Northwestern	4,900
Minnesota	9,794	Iowa	4,500

Only major league player to gain 6 hits in 1 game this year was Kansas City shortstop Joe DeMaestri, who averaged .249 . . . Ten of Urbana high's 11 starters are seniors . . . Hinsdale's Tom Skubich suffered a knee injury in scrimmage and will be out of the final grid game for DeKalb . . . Ohio State has averaged 81,355 fans in 6 home football games.

Palatine 2nd Year Squad Won Mythical Title

This past season Palatine high had the most successful frosh-soph football season in the history of the school with seven victories over Northwest Conference teams and a tie with Barrington. Following a 7-7 tie the Pirates scored 34 touchdowns and averaged 32.5 points a game to two touchdowns and 1.8 points a game for the opposition.

Coach Claude Bailey, who was ably assisted by John Ellis, had a well balanced team with a hard working line and a backfield which had plenty of speed and spirit. The regular backfield of Dick Wisner, Dan Lemanski, Bob Nordin, and Don Teegan along with the ends, Jordan Danforth and Jim Eldridge piled up a season total of 1,893 yards from scrimmage to opponents' 677.

BY RUSHING the Pirates had 1,336 yards to 343 for the opposition. Dick Wisner alone had 657 yards by rushing, threw 21 complete passes in 55 attempts for 408 yards and caught five passes for 131 yards. Adding punt and kickoff returns and pass interceptions Wisner had a total offense of 1,470 in eight games Wisner had a ball carrying average of 7.64 yards a try while Bob Norden had 6.49 and Don Teegan 5.25. Dan Lemanski was a blocker and tackler of varsity caliber and the key man on the team on offense though he seldom carried the ball.

Wisner, who would have made the varsity backfield in most of the schools of the league outside of Glenbrook, scored 74 points while Nordin had 43, Danforth 39, Lemanski 30, and Teegan 24.

Jordan Danforth was the top pass catcher with 10 receptions for 276 yards. Teegan intercepted seven passes for 98 yards and Wisner six for 151 yards. Wisner averaged 33.1 yards on 13 punts and returned four kickoffs for 92 yards.

THE NORTHWEST Conference does not have frosh-soph standings or championships. Palatine and Glenbrook were the only teams which did not have their best sophomores on the varsity squad. That made the advantage of the large schools that much more onesided in frosh-soph ball when carried on through the playing of doubleheaders.

Palatine won all their games in the conference by lopsided scores except the 13-0 Glenbrook game, but this was the latter team's first loss in three years and they won all the rest of their games this season. Palatine has fine material coming up to the varsity next year which should be ready a year later in 1957 to make a real bid for first place.

Fenton Host To St. Procopius Tuesday Eve

That was the picture facing Coach Frank Novatny at Fenton high school where the cagers introduced each other Monday for the first time. Postponed Ela-Vernon grid clash was played Friday, holding up appearance of basketball hopefuls 1 week.

Of 29 boys now on the varsity team, 12 have taken off the shoulder pads in the hurried effort to be ready for the cage opener Friday.

THREE VETERANS are back for Novatny, all of whom will be among starters against Hampshire. Phi Johnson, regular last year, stands 6'4", will start at right forward. Dick D'Hooge, a regular in the last 4 games last season, stands 6'3" and will share starting spot at left forward with Tony Tecza, 6'1" senior who developed fast the end of last year.

Lars Hendriksen, 5'11" junior guard, was an outstanding frosh-soph last season, will start at guard. The other guard spot will probably be filled by either Tom Clark or Dave Helm, both sophomores. Helm was outstanding with the freshmen last year, though standing only 5'8". Clark stands 5'7".

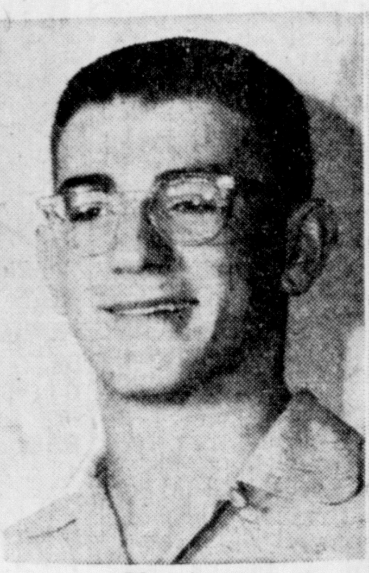
VARSITY SQUAD has been divided into varsity and JV, with Denny Whitlow slated to coach the reserves. JV schedule will open Dec. 3, though complete slate has not been announced to date.

First home game for the varsity and frosh-sophs, after Friday night's opener at Hampshire, will host St. Procopius Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Sujack, Harrington and Malzahn Named To WSC All-Star Gridders

Sujack



Harrington

Malzahn

Striegel

Summers

Three Arlington gridders made the coaches' West Suburban league all-star team, with 2 more gaining honorable mention. John Sujack, Wayne Malzahn and Bob Harrington all made the team, with Dennis Striegel and Jim Summers gaining honorable mention.

The mythical squad was named last week by coaches meeting at Maine high school selecting a group that included 1 repeater from last year, Bill Zersen of York. It also named just 1 junior, Dick Soderberg of LaGrange.

THE ENDS include Dick Winkler of Hinsdale, Lee Meyer of LaGrange, Don Schloemer of York and Bob Harrington of Arlington. Harrington came along fast for Arlington, became one of the best defensive ends in the league. He was a good blocker, fair receiver, didn't talk much on the grid but played hard football.

Winkler was the most outstanding end seen at Hinsdale for several years, was highest scoring end in the loop, excellent pass receiver, a good defensive man. League coaches are pushing him for all-state recognition, along with Sujack of Heights.

Meyer was one of LaGrange co-captins, good tackler and pass receiver, was "like having a defensive coach on the field" according to Coach Chuck Bennett as Meyer did an almost perfect job calling defensive signals.

THE TACKLES included Wayne Malzahn of Arlington, Fred Liedtke of LaGrange, Ken Kraml of Hinsdale and Bob Spachman of Riverside-Brookfield. Malzahn was very aggressive on both offense and defense. His competitive spirit made him the leader in the forward wall, never complained of minor hurts, is looking forward to college ball.

Liedtke was co-captain, played end on offense, tackle on defense, one of the hardest working ends ever seen at LaGrange. He and Meyer held the line together and generated the spirit that helped the team in the last 4 or 5 games.

Kraml was a regular at Hinsdale 2 years, led the team in defensive tackle 2 years in a row.

Spachman was a regular 2 years at Riverside, lettered 3 years, was the second boy in 15 years to accomplish that feat. Bob missed just 1 play all season, never missed a practice, has good speed, likes to play football. R-B coaches rated him the best there other than Johnny Damore, last year's Northwestern U. captain who lettered at NU 4 years.

THE GUARDS included Dick Gruhler of Hinsdale, Dick Soderberg of LaGrange, Karl Wendell of York and Whitey Krause of Downers. Gruhler is a good consistent player, played offense 2 years, defensive tackle, has good speed for a guard, was a great help to Hinsdale's running attack.

Soderberg played offensive guard for LaGrange, end, tackle and guard on defense, a very hard worker, is the only junior named to the all-star squad.

Wendell was the strongest lineman at York, handicapped by a charley horse much of the season, powerful defensive player. Line was weak without him.

Krause was the best offensive guard at Downers the past 2 years, was linebacker on defense and co-captain.

THE CENTERS included Don Burcham of Maine and Bob Wormley of LaGrange. Burcham was voted honorary captain, good team man, hard worker, steady workhorse on both offense and defense, was dependable.

Wormley was a good steady center for LaGrange, never made a bad pass in 2 years, good team boy who wanted to win.

THE BACKS included John Sujack of Arlington, Bill Zersen of York, Keith Evans of LaGrange, Jack Rezney and Blair Stanicek of Hinsdale, Gregg Gilbert of Glenbard and John Sienkowski of Downers.

Sujack was undoubtedly the individual standout of the league, is being pushed for all-state honors. Some league coaches acclaimed him best all time back in the WSC. John excelled as a triple threat on offensive, was a devastating tackler on defense, good pass defender.

Zersen was one of the best backs in the league, gained almost 700 yards for York. He was a good defensive halfback, an able leader, good student. He is the only repeater on the all-star team. This was Bill's third year as a defensive regular.

EVANS WAS A short, stocky player who performed remarkably well for his build at LaGrange. Keith came of age in the Arlington game, gaining 175 yards in 25 carries, looked exceptional from then on, was a good runner.

Rezney was outstanding on both offense and defense all year, one of the best defensive men seen at Hinsdale in years. He was also a good offensive man. Stanicek was regular fullback at Hinsdale 2 years, best ground gainer for the Red Devils with 530 yards for a 6.1 average, pretty good passer.

Moline was the workhorse of the Maine backfield had a 7.2 rushing average. Don took up the slack of the missing tailback, good blocker, line backer on defense.

Sienkowski was split-T quarterback for Downers, hurt before the Hinsdale game and missed most of the last 3 tilts. John was best passer for Downers, good defensive back, best punt and kickoff return man.

HONORABLE MENTION ratings were given 15 boys, including Dennis Striegel and Jim Summers of Arlington. Striegel was not quite as consistent a blocker and tackler as Malzahn for the Cardinals, but carried his share of the load. He could prove to be an excellent college prospect. Dennis showed a world of potential as defensive standout.

Summers came back to the team after a 2-year lapse and proved capable of WSC competition. When defense zoned to stop Sujack, Summers was quick to pick up the ball carrying load. Had Jim not missed 2 years competition due to eye trouble, he would probably have looked still better this season.

Conditioning has been the first order of business thus far, with 5 practices now history as of Tuesday. Varsity group is small, but has plenty of spirit and cooperation, and is working hard.

Midget Football Award Night At Heights Nov. 19

An excellent program has been arranged for the participants in the Arlington Heights park district football program Saturday night, Nov. 19.

Every boy will want to be present at the field house as individual award certificates will be presented and members of the Lions squad coached by Tom Kouras will be awarded special recognition shields for their efforts in winning the 1955 championship.

Four teams sponsored by the league this year with approximately 160-180 boys taking part. Each team played 9 scheduled contests for a total of 18 games plus a playoff game between the Lions and Cards.

The all-star game played November 5 concluded a very successful season for the program.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS park district board is to be commended for extending their recreation program into the fall months. The four coaches, Tom Kouros, Bob Baker, Ted Wissen and Al Hopkins did an excellent job in teaching good sportsmanship as well as the fundamentals in football. Development of leadership and learning to get along with others are 2 of the principle purposes of this program.

There will be a full length movie shown of the 1955 All-Star football game between the All-Stars and the Cleveland Browns, plus a movie of the exciting 20-13 victory posted by AHHS Cardinals over the champion Hinsdale Red Devils. Short speeches will be given by Jack Ebert, the Cardinals 1955 football captain, and Wally Grace, the AHHS athletic chief.

The evening of entertainment will be concluded with refreshments.

TO DATE only about one half of the equipment issued to the boys this fall has been returned. As a reminder coach Bus Ormsbee, director of the program, would like for each parent to make a special effort to see that their boy has returned all equipment to the field house by noon Saturday, Nov. 19. Unless this equipment is returned it will almost be impossible to carry on the program in '56.

Arlington Has 7 Lettermen Back For Action

Seven senior lettermen head the cage outlook at Arlington Heights high school with 4 juniors pushing them for starting positions. The Cardinals open the season at Woodstock Friday night, then come home to face Palatine Wednesday, Nov. 23, followed by Elgin the night after Thanksgiving.

Fourteen of the first 15 are 6' or taller, but Coach Howard Lester reports he still lacks the real tall boy necessary for a successful season. "Transition from football to basketball is hard," continues Lester. "You may remember how Woodstock murdered us the last quarter last year with 3 of our first 4 out on fouls.

"THAT COULD happen again unless the boys settle down to steady basketball and forget rough and tough football reactions. This year we have several promising juniors who'll be pushing the veteran seniors, and may be able to take up the slack."

There's a fine spirit on the squad and determination to make starting positions. Ball handling is weak, however. Passes are slipshod and dropping to the floor, a sure way to lose games once the whistle blows.

THE LETTERMEN back for more action on the Heights court, all seniors, include Denny Striegel and Dick Siech, a pair of 6' 3" boys at center; forwards Wayne Malzahn 6' 2" and Bill Randag 6' 3"; and guards Ron Ashley 6', John Sujack 6' and Jim Summers 6'.

Three others expected to make the trip to Woodstock include junior Jerry Klement 6'4" at forward, senior Wayne Haemker 6' at forward, and senior Bob Uhlhorn 5'8" at guard.

ALMOST CERTAIN starters against Woodstock are Randag, Sujack and Striegel. Nos. 4 and 5 might be Ashley and Jacobsen, though Malzahn has been improving fast and could be ready to start. Palmer is another who ccould start Friday providing he steadies this week.

Brownell, Jacobsen and Vittum are making determined bids for starting positions and are certain to keep the seniors on their toes. Not much is known of Woodstock, though it is believed a 6'8" sophomore of last year is probably with the varsity this time.

Heights squad is divided into 2 groups with Coach "Bus" Ormsbee, JV coach, assisting with Lester. Boys not playing in varsity games will compete in JV contests the next morning during the season.

Preliminary at Woodstock will start at 7:00.

ATHLETIC BOOSTER CLUBS are becoming a common thing in communities of this area as well as downstate. Their purpose is to promote interest in high school sports through publicity, aids to the school program, and organized backing for the teams leading to increased attendance. Such clubs are good as long as those persons in charge keep strictly away from interfering with school policies, state association athletic policies and rules, and administration of the athletic program by those hired to do so. Arlington Heights, Barrington, Glenbrook, and Bensenville are neighboring schools supported by booster clubs.

At Palatine such a club has been functioning for several years as a "Dads Club" but recently brought the mothers of the students into the picture with reorganization into a "Parents Club." The Palatine group is organized for support of all school activities, not just athletics.

With the basketball season opening this weekend and the conference schedule in the Northwest circuit shortly after Thanksgiving it is interesting to note that two of the most highly favored in the pre-season polls have the tallest players in the league as veteran returning centers. Eddie Okpisz of Wauconda stands 6' 7" and Sheldon Spalding of Glenbrook's Spartans stands 6' 5". Neither was too active last year, though both were regulars. This year both should be the key men in their team's plans.

ONE OF THE BEST offense records in the Northwest conference either on varsity or frosh-soph level has been chalked up by little 135 pound Dick Wisner, quarterback of the Palatine frosh-soph team which just finished an undefeated season.

Wisner had a total offense yardage of 1,470 yards in eight games. His best effort was in ball carrying with 657 yards from scrimmage.

He also threw passes which gained 408 yards and caught passes himself for 131 yards along with lesser amounts on punt returns, kickoff returns, and runs on intercepted passes. Wisner also averaged 33.1 yards on punts and had 21 completed passes in 55 attempts.

HOW LONG IS GRIDIRON greatness remembered? Not for long, especially when someone just a bit better comes along to get the spotlight of attention. Down at Illinois J. C. Caroline is the forgotten All-American as another colored flash, Bob Mitchell of Little Rock, Arkansas, has taken over for the Illini. Michigan and Wisconsin, rated pre-season as the strongest in the west, have been beaten in a row by Illinois thanks to Mitchell's great running. Bob Mitchell was clocked in :09.7 for 100 yards as a frosh last year at Illinois and in addition he cuts sharply, is elusive, and runs with power.

Ivy Williamson who has moved up to the athletic directorship at the University of Wisconsin, but down the pay scale, states he likes college football better with the present rules rather than the two platoon system. "Two platoon is easier to coach and easier to play but it does not prove the football players like the single platoon," states Williamson.

To our way of thinking high school ball with the two platoon makes it easy to get most of your squad in the game and no one should be injured through being tired, but it is our opinion the same thing Williamson states about college ball would happen with a different high school substitution rule and that is a better quality of playing. The coaches could not do the signal calling as easily. That would help the game and give some basis to the argument that football develops leadership. We have not noticed much chance for leadership in the games we have watched this year in the Northwest conference.

STEVE ROAKE, who was an all state end playing for Barrington several years ago, is one of the top quarterbacks in Pacific Coast football for the University of Washington. In a writeup of the UCLA-Washington game which the Uclans won in the last 18 seconds with a field goal, we quote the following: "The individual standout was Washington quarterback Steve Roake, a converted end, whose brilliant ball handling and ground gaining put the Huskies ahead in the second period and kept them there until late in the final period when he boldly gave UCLA a safety in hope that a 17-16 lead would hold up with two minutes to play." However, UCLA moved down to the 19 and Decker kicked a field goal with 18 seconds to go to assure the Uclans an assignment to the Rose Bowl.

WE WERE OUT IN North Iowa over the past holiday weekend and noticed 3 things in the area sport page which interested us. Four conferences in the section had done some shifting of members to form circuits having more even competition, less distance to travel, and with more even enrollment. A similar move is on here.

Also, some of the small school conferences open the basketball season with a jamboree. At one school site all basketball teams of the league gather. They draw for a 4 against 4 or 3 against 3 setup and draw for opponents. Each team plays 2 quarters against their drawn opponent which, with an 8 team league, is the equivalent for the evening of 8 quarters or 64 minutes of basketball with every team in the conference in action. They say it creates interest in the league as fans get a chance to see the whole league in action before the conference schedule officially opens.

Incidentally, it makes quite a little money for the conference to use for operating expenses. Third, a number of conferences were having football banquets with top notch speaking talent for the entire conference with each school bringing their varsity lettermen and parents of the players. We know this last is done in parts of Illinois not far distant and think it is a conference project for football and basketball which would be very much worth having.

Home Run Club

Seven major leaguers were admitted to the exclusive 100 home run club in 1955 to raise the membership of players active through last season to 39, according to The Sporting News. The players who reached the century mark last season were Gus Bell, Al Dark, Walt Dropo, Whitey Lockman, Mickey Mantle, Willie Mays and Earl Torgeson.

Plan Schedule For New Conference

The new conference of high schools, including newly formed Medinah, will be named this week in a meeting of superintendents at Bellwood.

Group discussed athletic policies, plus an over-all sports program to include football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf, cross country and possibly wrestling.

There will eventually be both frosh-soph and varsity schedules, though this will come in steps. There will be a complete basketball conference for next year with other slates to be announced later.

Schools included in the new loop include Medinah, Marmion, Elmwood Park, No. Chicago, and Round Lake. William Herbster of North Chicago is president of the group.

Defending Antioch In Tough Spot To Repeat In NW: Ela Better

by G. A. McELROY

Defending champion Antioch is due to find tougher going in the basketball season just ahead than for several years. The Sequoits lost their first 8 men by graduation from a squad which compiled a remarkable 22-3 season record last year and won the Northwest conference championship with a 13-1 mark. Their only defeat was an upset at Palatine.

Only 2 lettermen remain as a nucleus for the 1955-56 team and they saw the minimum of action to win a letter. Frank Walsh a 5'11" forward, and Al Reckers, a 5'10" guard, are the only lettermen but there are a number of boys who are probably just about as good and competition for first team berths should be spirited.

THOUGH ANTIOCH has few boys with varsity experience they have a big squad of boys who played championship frosh-soph ball. The past 3 seasons Antioch took double championships, though the frosh-sophs tied with Grant and Ela-Vernon in the 1953-54 season. These groups will be seniors at their respective schools. Antioch has players available from 2 conference champ outfits and should be able to maintain a first division spot and possibly make a strong bid for their fourth title in a row.

If new coach Larry Leon can get his boys past the first few conference games in good shape, they might stay on top all the way. The time and experience element is Antioch's only weakness.

BOYS DEPENDED upon by the new coach to make a strong bid are Jim Fish, Jerry Huml, Sid Parker, Lonnie Christenson, Ed Hastie, Wayne Herbst, Art Princing, Vern Burdick, Lynn Bolton, and Bill Barnstable. Dick Scott, who directed the Antioch varsity the past championship years moved to Sycamore as guidance director and assistant coach.

Antioch opens the season at home to Libertyville Friday and next Wednesday will play at Richmond.

ELA-VERNON, coached by former home town cage star Norman Ladd, is rated as one of the better teams in the coming season. Ladd's seniors were tied for the championship as sophs but two of the best boys of that unit are gone, one by transfer, the other through injuries. Ladd has more experienced boys than last year but he does not have George Severance, who paced last year's club to a 16-8 over all mark and 9-5 for the conference season.

Ela is not likely to imporve very much on last year's league mark and Ladd rates Wauconda, Glenbrook, Antioch, and Grant above his team as far as prospects are concerned.

Ela has three regulars returning in Ronnie Soos, 5'9" guard; Al Bathrick, 5'11" guard; and Lynn Becker, 6'2" forward. Ken Stanciu a 6' guard and Lee Bathrick a 6' center are lettermen who saw limited action last year but are counted on to make themselves known this season. Bob Benson a 6'2" forward who, not able to join the team until mid-season last year due to a football injury, is lost for this year completely due to an extremely serious head injury suffered in an automobile accident early this month. Benson was counted on as one of the prime factors in Ela's bid this year but some members of last years soph team may develop to take his place.

COUNTED ON to help the cage situation are John Schuchardt, 6' center; Norm Jesse, 6' center; Tom Wesner, 6' forward; Erv Pohlman, 6' guard; Jim Buciak, 5'9" guard; and Ron Meyer, 5'10" guard. Ela will lack height among their best boys with Becker the only lanky veteran.

Friday Ela opens at home against Maryville and next Wednesday, the night before Thanksgiving, travels to North Chicago. Friday November 25 the Bears play at Geneva getting in three non-conference games before the league season opens December 2.

(Next week—Wauconda and Grant).

Key Injuries Held Palatine Gridders To Just 1 Victory

Palatine's varsity team opened the season with a close 14-7 defeat at the hands of Barrington which, in itself, made the local fans optimistic concerning the league schedule. However, 3 key players were lost after that game and the team slumped to a record of 1 win, 2 ties and 4 defeats.

John Dilks, one of the best backs of 1954, and Leonard Rhode, outstanding lineman in both 1953 and 1954, were out of action until the last three games of the season and then saw very limited action except against Antioch and Ela-Vernon.

Jeff Lehmann, who played an outstanding game at end against Barrington was lost for the season due to illness. Palatine revived in the last three games to beat Bensenville and tie with Ela while losing to a very strong Antioch team which had reached its peak.

COACH CHARLEY FEUTZ had the assistance of Gene Moylan as line coach and the two of them directed a squad of 46 players through the season. Thirty boys qualified for letters among whom were six who will receive awards on a four year service basis rather than on the number of quarters played.

Season statistics showed Palatine on the short end in most respects. Palatine's best mark was in total yards gained by rushing where they had 1,012 compared with 1,275 by opponents. The Pirates had a punting edge of 29.9 and Ormel Prust had 35 kicks averaging 30 yards. Palatine recovered 16 opponents' fumbles to nine of their own grabbed by the opposition.

JIM HESS, John Grabowy, John Dilks, and Bob Coates did most of the ball carrying. Hess gained 353 yds. for a 4.71 aver., Grabowy 291 for 4.04, Dilks 160 for 4.44, and Coates 153 for an average of 3.33. In all 14 different boys played in the Palatine backfield and carried the ball 1 or more times. Coates scored 18 points, Hess 14, and Grabowy 12. George Beyer completed seven passes in 17 tries for 96 yards and Coates had five of 16 for 60 yards.

Grabowy caught three passes for 65 yards and Ormel Prust snared four for 43 yards. Steve Cornwell intercepted two passes for 60 yards in returns. Grabowy returned nine kickoffs a total of 147 yards and Hess seven for 103 yards. Steve Cornwell averaged 41.9 yards and Curtis Lewin 37.6 as each had eight kickoffs.

Palatine had the heaviest defensive line in the league but was next to last in defense, allowing the opponents to score 131 points for a three touchdown a game average or 19 points while Palatine averaged 8.5 points. Again Palatine lacked a forward passing offense to supplement their ground game and this year the lack was more noticable as they lacked an Alan Eck to spread the opposition with his wide sweeps and open field running.

More than anything else the Pirates lacked player leadership. They had as fine a group of young men as any coach could ask for but there were no players with the fiery, team inspiring type of personality to give the team the leadership it needed. In plain words most of the Palatine boys did not really enjoy the competitive, contact aspect of football. It is hard to become a good football player unless you love the contact that comes through hard tackling and blocking. Charley Feutz did a good job with the material at his disposal and in view of the handicap of injuries that was with him all season.

Fenton May (Or May Not) Have Wrestling Now

Fast changing high school wrestling program in the Chicago area may or may not include Fenton this year.

Original plans included the grappling sport, with Coach Paul Henry slated to direct. No equipment had been secured, though, as of Monday afternoon and the sport is being held in abeyance pending final action of the board.

Coach Henry directed wrestling at Howe military academy before coming to Fenton. Quite a few boys have indicated an interest in the sport.

Fenton Rallies But Fails To Close Gap At Ela-Vernon

BY BILL RIPPERGER

Trailing by 13 points, the Fenton Bisons staged a rally in the closing minutes of the game Friday, but were unable to make the grade and lost, 13-7, at Ela-Vernon. The most outstanding player of the game was Ela's little quarterback, Ron Soos, as he was responsible for most of the yardage gained against the Bisons. Fenton takes credit, however, for the best play of the game as they returned a kickoff for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The first half was rather uneventful and the ball exchanged hands many times. Neither team was able to break the scoring "ice" and the only scoring threat was stopped when the half ended while Ela was on Fenton's 2 yard line.

FOLLOWING the halftime intermission, the Lake Zurich squad began showing some offensive power. Near the end of the third period, they drove steadily down the field, where a pass from Soos to Al Bathrick put them on the Bison 3 yard line. Soos then carried for the touchdown.

Another Ela march in the fourth quarter resulted in a first down and goal to go situation on Fenton's 9 yard line. Soos carried the ball to the 9 yard line and Bathrick took it over from there. Ken Stanciu booted the pigskin successfully for the conversion and Ela led 13-0 as they prepared to kickoff to the Bisons.

THE KICK was a long one, carrying all the way to the Fenton 2 yard line where it was caught by Dick Driggett, who had been outstanding in punt returns for the Bisons in previous games. Dick raced toward the right sideline, and with the help of two excellent blocks thrown by Bob Heinrich, went 91 yards for the touchdown. Bob Gullborg added the extra point and the Bisons trailed only 13-7 with three and a half minutes remaining in the game.

On the first play following the kickoff, Fenton recovered an Ela-Vernon fumble and started another scoring drive in hopes of victory. The hopes were short lived, though as the Bears intercepted a pass to stop the drive and cinch their victory. Final score was Ela-Vernon 13, Fenton Bisons 7.

by G. A. McELROY

Defending champion Antioch is due to find tougher going in the basketball season just ahead than for several years. The Sequoits lost their first 8 men by graduation from a squad which compiled a remarkable 22-3 season record last year and won the Northwest conference championship with a 13-1 mark. Their only defeat was an upset at Palatine.

Only 2 lettermen remain as a nucleus for the 1955-56 team and they saw the minimum of action to win a letter. Frank Walsh a 5'11" forward, and Al Reckers, a 5'10" guard, are the only lettermen but there are a number of boys who are probably just about as good and competition for first team berths should be spirited.

THOUGH ANTIOCH has few boys with varsity experience they have a big squad of boys who played championship frosh-soph ball. The past 3 seasons Antioch took double championships, though the frosh-sophs tied with Grant and Ela-Vernon in the 1953-54 season. These groups will be seniors at their respective schools. Antioch has players available from 2 conference champ outfits and should be able to maintain a first division spot and possibly make a strong bid for their fourth title in a row.

If new coach Larry Leon can get his boys past the first few conference games in good shape, they might stay on top all the way. The time and experience element is Antioch's only weakness.

BOYS DEPENDED upon by the new coach to make a strong bid are Jim Fish, Jerry Huml, Sid Parker, Lonnie Christenson, Ed Hastie, Wayne Herbst, Art Princing, Vern Burdick, Lynn Bolton, and Bill Barnstable. Dick Scott, who directed the Antioch varsity the past championship years moved to Sycamore as guidance director and assistant coach.

Antioch opens the season at home to Libertyville Friday and next Wednesday will play at Richmond.

ELA-VERNON, coached by former home town cage star Norman Ladd, is rated as one of the better teams in the coming season. Ladd's seniors were tied for the championship as sophs but two of the best boys of that unit are gone, one by transfer, the other through injuries. Ladd has more experienced boys than last year but he does not have George Severance, who paced last year's club to a 16-8 over all mark and 9-5 for the conference season.

Ela is not likely to imporve very much on last year's league mark and Ladd rates Wauconda, Glenbrook, Antioch, and Grant above his team as far as prospects are concerned.

Ela has three regulars returning in Ronnie Soos, 5'9" guard; Al Bathrick, 5'11" guard; and Lynn Becker, 6'2" forward. Ken Stanciu a 6' guard and Lee Bathrick a 6' center are lettermen who saw limited action last year but are counted on to make themselves known this season. Bob Benson a 6'2" forward who, not able to join the team until mid-season last year due to a football injury, is lost for this year completely due to an extremely serious head injury suffered in an automobile accident early this month. Benson was counted on as one of the prime factors in Ela's bid this year but some members of last years soph team may develop to take his place.

COUNTED ON to help the cage situation are John Schuchardt, 6' center; Norm Jesse, 6' center; Tom Wesner, 6' forward; Erv Pohlman, 6' guard; Jim Buciak, 5'9" guard; and Ron Meyer, 5'10" guard. Ela will lack height among their best boys with Becker the only lanky veteran.

Friday Ela opens at home against Maryville and next Wednesday, the night before Thanksgiving, travels to North Chicago. Friday November 25 the Bears play at Geneva getting in three non-conference games before the league season opens December 2.

(Next week—Wauconda and Grant).

Key Injuries Held Palatine Gridders To Just 1 Victory

Palatine's varsity team opened the season with a close 14-7 defeat at the hands of Barrington which, in itself, made the local fans optimistic concerning the league schedule. However, 3 key players were lost after that game and the team slumped to a record of 1 win, 2 ties and 4 defeats.

John Dilks, one of the best backs of 1954, and Leonard Rhode, outstanding lineman in both 1953 and 1954, were out of action until the last three games of the season and then saw very limited action except against Antioch and Ela-Vernon.

Jeff Lehmann, who played an outstanding game at end against Barrington was lost for the season due to illness. Palatine revived in the last three games to beat Bensenville and tie with Ela while losing to a very strong Antioch team which had reached its peak.

COACH CHARLEY FEUTZ had the assistance of Gene Moylan as line coach and the two of them directed a squad of 46 players through the season. Thirty boys qualified for letters among whom were six who will receive awards on a four year service basis rather than on the number of quarters played.

Season statistics showed Palatine on the short end in most respects. Palatine's best mark was in total yards gained by rushing where they had 1,012 compared with 1,275 by opponents. The Pirates had a punting edge of 29.9 and Ormel Prust had 35 kicks averaging 30 yards. Palatine recovered 16 opponents' fumbles to nine of their own grabbed by the opposition.

JIM HESS, John Grabowy, John Dilks, and Bob Coates did most of the ball carrying. Hess gained 353 yds. for a 4.71 aver., Grabowy 291 for 4.04, Dilks 160 for 4.44, and Coates 153 for an average of 3.33. In all 14 different boys played in the Palatine backfield and carried the ball 1 or more times. Coates scored 18 points, Hess 14, and Grabowy 12. George Beyer completed seven passes in 17 tries for 96 yards and Coates had five of 16 for 60 yards.

Grabowy caught three passes for 65 yards and Ormel Prust snared four for 43 yards. Steve Cornwell intercepted two passes for 60 yards in returns. Grabowy returned nine kickoffs a total of 147 yards and Hess seven for 103 yards. Steve Cornwell averaged 41.9 yards and Curtis Lewin 37.6 as each had eight kickoffs.

Palatine had the heaviest defensive line in the league but was next to last in defense, allowing the opponents to score 131 points for a three touchdown a game average or 19 points while Palatine averaged 8.5 points. Again Palatine lacked a forward passing offense to supplement their ground game and this year the lack was more noticable as they lacked an Alan Eck to spread the opposition with his wide sweeps and open field running.

More than anything else the Pirates lacked player leadership. They had as fine a group of young men as any coach could ask for but there were no players with the fiery, team inspiring type of personality to give the team the leadership it needed. In plain words most of the Palatine boys did not really enjoy the competitive, contact aspect of football. It is hard to become a good football player unless you love the contact that comes through hard tackling and blocking. Charley Feutz did a good job with the material at his disposal and in view of the handicap of injuries that was with him all season.

Fenton May (Or May Not) Have Wrestling Now

Fast changing high school wrestling program in the Chicago area may or may not include Fenton this year.

Original plans included the grappling sport, with Coach Paul Henry slated to direct. No equipment had been secured, though, as of Monday afternoon and the sport is being held in abeyance pending final action of the board.

Coach Henry directed wrestling at Howe military academy before coming to Fenton. Quite a few boys have indicated an interest in the sport.

BY BILL RIPPERGER

Trailing by 13 points, the Fenton Bisons staged a rally in the closing minutes of the game Friday, but were unable to make the grade and lost, 13-7, at Ela-Vernon. The most outstanding player of the game was Ela's little quarterback, Ron Soos, as he was responsible for most of the yardage gained against the Bisons. Fenton takes credit, however, for the best play of the game as they returned a kickoff for a touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The first half was rather uneventful and the ball exchanged hands many times. Neither team was able to break the scoring "ice" and the only scoring threat was stopped when the half ended while Ela was on Fenton's 2 yard line.

FOLLOWING the halftime intermission, the Lake Zurich squad began showing some offensive power. Near the end of the third period, they drove steadily down the field, where a pass from Soos to Al Bathrick put them on the Bison 3 yard line. Soos then carried for the touchdown.

Another Ela march in the fourth quarter resulted in a first down and goal to go situation on Fenton's 9 yard line. Soos carried the ball to the 9 yard line and Bathrick took it over from there. Ken Stanciu booted the pigskin successfully for the conversion and Ela led 13-0 as they prepared to kickoff to the Bisons.

THE KICK was a long one, carrying all the way to the Fenton 2 yard line where it was caught by Dick Driggett, who had been outstanding in punt returns for the Bisons in previous games. Dick raced toward the right sideline, and with the help of two excellent blocks thrown by Bob Heinrich, went 91 yards for the touchdown. Bob Gullborg added the extra point and the Bisons trailed only 13-7 with three and a half minutes remaining in the game.

On the first play following the kickoff, Fenton recovered an Ela-Vernon fumble and started another scoring drive in hopes of victory. The hopes were short lived, though as the Bears intercepted a pass to stop the drive and cinch their victory. Final score was Ela-Vernon 13, Fenton Bisons 7.

A 22-game basketball schedule for 1955-56 has been announced for the Carthage college Redmen by Coach Art Keller. Eleven of the contests will be played on the home court.

A newcomer to the lineup this year is Midland college, Fremont, Neb. The Midlanders will play the Redmen in their second tilt of the season on Saturday, Dec. 3.

The Redmen will also participate in the annual Navy Pier tournament to be held in Chicago on Dec. 15-17.

NOTRE DAME football team concludes its 1955 home season next Saturday, Nov. 19, when it meets the University of Iowa in Notre Dame stadium at 1 p.m. CST.

The Notre Dame-Iowa rivalry is a bitterly contested one. The Hawkeyes were victorious the first 3 times they met Notre Dame. Iowa topped the Irish 10-7, in 1921, in the first football meeting between the 2 schools. In 1930, Iowa was victorious, 7-6, and in 1940, the Hawkeyes shut out Notre Dame 7-0.

Three times the 2 schools have fought to a deadlock. The most memorable of the tie games was the 1953 contest when N.D. scored in the final seconds of each half on passes from Ralph Guglielmi to Dan Shannon to make it 14-14. In 1950, the score was 14-14 and in 1951, 20-20. Notre Dame has won the other seven games in the 13-game series.

MICHIGAN STATE Spartans will close out the 1955 season Saturday at Macklin Field when they entertain the Marquette Warriors.

However, Daugherty is not taking the Marquette team lightly. The Warriors haven't beaten the Spartans since 1942, when they won 28-7, but twice in the last 4 years they have battled 2 of the State's finest teams right down to the wire before bowing by 1 touchdown.

In 1951 the Spartans were undefeated, but had to go all out to down Marquette, 20-14, in one of the toughest games of the season. In 1953, when State was waiting for the Rose Bowl bid, the Warriors forced MSU to come from behind to win, 21-15.

Last year, the Spartans ended their dismal season on a high note by trouncing the Warriors, 40-10, and in 1952, they handed Marquette its worst licking by a Michigan State team since 1915, 62-13.

ILLINOIS WILL BE attempting to deadlock its football series with Northwestern when the 2 teams meet at Evanston Saturday. Of their 48 games, the Wildcats have won 23, Illini have won 22, and there have been 3 ties.

Northwestern took the lead in the series with a 20-7 victory at Champaign last year. The previous season had brought a 39-14 Illinois victory in Dyche Stadium. The Wildcats won 28-26 in 1952.

Probably one of the most thrilling of the many contests was one which produced as little scoring as any game since 1900. That was the 1951 tussle at Evanston.

Little Sam Rebecca, who had specialized in place kicks for Illinois for 3 seasons, got off an extra special kick in that 1951 game. It wasn't a particularly booming kick in itself, but its impact was immediately felt in the Big Ten and ultimately was to echo in the Pacific Coast conference, 2,000 miles away.

Made from Northwestern's 17-yard line at Dyche Stadium, it went straight and true between the goal posts and was worth the works as far as 1951 Illinois football was concerned.

The victory over NU clinched the Big Ten title—Illinois' 10th—and completed an undefeated season—the first for Illinois since 1927. Illinois went on to the Rose Bowl, and there the Illini treated themselves to a happy New Year's Day, routing Stanford 40-7.

No less than 18 different Boilermakers have figured on the terminal end of Purdue's 95 completed passes so far this season.

Individual honors are well divided. Bob Khoenle leads in catches with 18; Lamar Lundy in yardage with 221, and Jim Whitmer in scoring passes with 2.

Purdue's 6 leading ball carriers have all averaged approximately 4 yards a crack or better on running plans from scrimmage so far this season.

Although forced out of action early in the Northwestern game with a chest injury, co-captain and fullback Bill Murakowski, is still well out in front in the yardage column with 493 yards in 125 attempts for a 3.96 average.

Fenton Sophs Were Champs As Frosh

Starting 5 will be selected from 6 boys for the Fenton high school frosh-soph opener at Hampshire Friday night, according to Coach Bill Jonkheer. The sophomores won the Northwest conference tourney last year and will be after more of the same this year.

A big lift has been given morale at Fenton with the new gym, the baskets just a week old at this writing. Last year's frosh 5 won 10 of 12 league games, losing the opener to Glenbrook and the final to Grant. They then won 3 games in the frosh tourney for the title.

THE STARTERS Friday will include Dave Helm, 5'8" forward who may be with the varsity instead, and Bernie Sell, 5'10", at forward. At center will probably be Chuck Christiansen, 6'3".

Three guards include Bob Meyer 5'8", Jerry Biefeld 5'9" and Brian Seeman, 5'7". The squad of 16 boys still has plenty of rough spots, though Coach Jonkheer hopes they'll be smooth in time for the conference opener against Glenbrook December 2.

R-B Has 7 Lettermen

Seven lettermen form the nucleus of the Riverside-Brookfield cage squad, including 6 boys measuring 6' to 6'5". Ron Buecking is the only man failing to hit the magic mark, standing 5'11".

8 Seniors Head Gymnastics Team At Arlington

State gymnastic champs at Arlington Heights high school are out to repeat this year, though Tilden and other schools are "loaded for b'ar". Coach Gay Hughes' Cardinal squad is working on new, more difficult routines in an attempt to keep ahead of the field.

Sixty-five freshmen are working out during gym classes, though Coach Hughes is unable to meet with them as a complete team. A half dozen of these boys look promising, though more future team members may be discovered as they learn more about gymnastics.

EIGHT LETTERMEN, all seniors, are back to defend state title laurels won last year. Only boy missing is Bill Tegtmeyer, a soph last season, who moved to Milwaukee.

Other lettermen back for more include Bob Hawk, Norb Flowers, Dick Kimbrough, John Koeppen, Dick Neiland, Fritz Snyder, Tom Pendleton and Carl Kraustwurst. Status of Krautwurst is doubtful at this time. Returning manager is Joe Pollard.

Bob Bass, a senior, just missed a letter last year, will be back this time and may be a mainstay of the team. Three juniors who will possibly see action include John Kimbrough, Mike Spalding and Dan Schock.

$64,000 Question

The Sporting News discloses the question that Grandma Myrt would have had to answer if she had tried for the $64,000 question. It was based on the 1946 World's Series. Reportedly she would have been asked to describe in full the play in the last of the eighth inning of the seventh game when Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals scored all the way from first with the winning run on a single while Red Sox Shortstop Johnny Pesky held the ball.

Meets All Comers

Scramble For 5th Man On F-S Cage At Heights

There's a scramble for the No. 5 spot among frosh-soph basketball starters at Arlington Heights high school with Coach Maurice Klotz fairly certain of his first 4 boys.

They include Bruce Bjorklund 5'10" guard, Denny Thill 5'7" guard, Jack Weber 6'2" center and Bob Lockwood 6'1" forward. Beyond that are 6 boys, any of whom might make the starting 5 against Woodstock Friday night. The squad will come home to meet Palatine the night before Thanksgiving and Elgin the night after.

ALAN HUTCHINSON 5'8", Sam Caltagirone 5'11", Jim Peery 5'9", Greg Rose 5'11", Dick Fischer 5'9" and Ed Whitelaw 6'1" are all battling for that fifth spot. The squad has been cut to 19 from the original 40 reporting to Coach Maurice Klotz.

A couple of transfers that may help the sophomores after the first 4 games are Bob Mors and Jim Anderson. The pair just transferred to Arlington and will have to attend classes for 30 days before becoming eligible.

Mors is a former Heights lad just back from Kansas City. He stands 5'10". Anderson is a transfer from Morton of Cicero, stands 6'. Howie Berg, outstanding football man the last half of the season, reported to Klotz Tuesday for the first time, and may be of help to the team.

Name Hutchinson Manager In Spite Of Tradition Vs. Pitchers

In picking Freddie Hutchinson as his field manager, Frank Lane, new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has flown into the face of tradition. Hutchinson is a former pitcher. And The Sporting News this week points out that pitchers who took over managing jobs in the past made rather unimpressive records. That goes for both major leagues.

As a matter of fact and record, club owners and officials have long shied away from pitchers as pilots. Look over the present lineup. Not one manager, outside of Hutchinson, is a former pitcher. In the National League, Charlie Grimm of the Braves was a first baseman, Bill Rigney of the Giants was a second baseman, Mayo Smith of the Phillies an outfielder, Walter Alston of the Dodgers a first baseman, Birdie Tebbetts of the Redlegs a catcher and Stan Hack of the Cubs played third base. The Pirate front office has not yet named a successor to Fred Haney.

Only one former pitcher has ever won a pennant in the American Legue. That's Clark Griffith, now owner of the Washington club. He did it with the White Sox in 1901. In the National, going all the way back to 1876, only four former pitchers have won pennants. Al Spalding did it with Chicago in 1876 and Bill McGunnigle won with Brooklyn in 1890. Then it wasn't until 1918 that a former pitcher had won a pennant, when Fred Mitchell brought the Cubs out on top. It was 28 years later when Eddie Dyer, a former hurler, won the honors with the Cardinals. Dyer, incidentally, is the only former pitcher who led his club to a World Series title. Spalding and Griffith were managers before the World Series came into being in 1903.

JUST WHAT IS there abut a former pitcher that doesn't seem to fit him into a manager's role? Well, J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, says the suspicion is that a former pitcher knowing that pitching is 65 per cent of the game, is prone is pay too much attention to his mound problems and not eough to the rest of the club.

As for Hutchinson, when he succeeded Red Rolfe as manager of the Tigers in 1952, his club came in eighth. This can hardly be charged to Hutchinson, but later on his own he finished sixth, then fifth. And look what happened to Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson, two of the greatest pitchers who ever lived. Johnson managed both Washington and Cleveland, and Mathewson piloted Cincinnati. Neither was conspicuously outstanding.

What Hutchinson will do with the Cardinals, who finished seventh this year, remains to be seen. With Lane as general manager, the Cards aren't expected to stay down very long. But it's still going to be another chapter in baseball history in which tradition is flaunted with a pitcher at the helm.

Sizzling On The College Grid

A 22-game basketball schedule for 1955-56 has been announced for the Carthage college Redmen by Coach Art Keller. Eleven of the contests will be played on the home court.

A newcomer to the lineup this year is Midland college, Fremont, Neb. The Midlanders will play the Redmen in their second tilt of the season on Saturday, Dec. 3.

The Redmen will also participate in the annual Navy Pier tournament to be held in Chicago on Dec. 15-17.

NOTRE DAME football team concludes its 1955 home season next Saturday, Nov. 19, when it meets the University of Iowa in Notre Dame stadium at 1 p.m. CST.

The Notre Dame-Iowa rivalry is a bitterly contested one. The Hawkeyes were victorious the first 3 times they met Notre Dame. Iowa topped the Irish 10-7, in 1921, in the first football meeting between the 2 schools. In 1930, Iowa was victorious, 7-6, and in 1940, the Hawkeyes shut out Notre Dame 7-0.

Three times the 2 schools have fought to a deadlock. The most memorable of the tie games was the 1953 contest when N.D. scored in the final seconds of each half on passes from Ralph Guglielmi to Dan Shannon to make it 14-14. In 1950, the score was 14-14 and in 1951, 20-20. Notre Dame has won the other seven games in the 13-game series.

MICHIGAN STATE Spartans will close out the 1955 season Saturday at Macklin Field when they entertain the Marquette Warriors.

However, Daugherty is not taking the Marquette team lightly. The Warriors haven't beaten the Spartans since 1942, when they won 28-7, but twice in the last 4 years they have battled 2 of the State's finest teams right down to the wire before bowing by 1 touchdown.

In 1951 the Spartans were undefeated, but had to go all out to down Marquette, 20-14, in one of the toughest games of the season. In 1953, when State was waiting for the Rose Bowl bid, the Warriors forced MSU to come from behind to win, 21-15.

Last year, the Spartans ended their dismal season on a high note by trouncing the Warriors, 40-10, and in 1952, they handed Marquette its worst licking by a Michigan State team since 1915, 62-13.

ILLINOIS WILL BE attempting to deadlock its football series with Northwestern when the 2 teams meet at Evanston Saturday. Of their 48 games, the Wildcats have won 23, Illini have won 22, and there have been 3 ties.

Northwestern took the lead in the series with a 20-7 victory at Champaign last year. The previous season had brought a 39-14 Illinois victory in Dyche Stadium. The Wildcats won 28-26 in 1952.

Probably one of the most thrilling of the many contests was one which produced as little scoring as any game since 1900. That was the 1951 tussle at Evanston.

Little Sam Rebecca, who had specialized in place kicks for Illinois for 3 seasons, got off an extra special kick in that 1951 game. It wasn't a particularly booming kick in itself, but its impact was immediately felt in the Big Ten and ultimately was to echo in the Pacific Coast conference, 2,000 miles away.

Made from Northwestern's 17-yard line at Dyche Stadium, it went straight and true between the goal posts and was worth the works as far as 1951 Illinois football was concerned.

The victory over NU clinched the Big Ten title—Illinois' 10th—and completed an undefeated season—the first for Illinois since 1927. Illinois went on to the Rose Bowl, and there the Illini treated themselves to a happy New Year's Day, routing Stanford 40-7.

No less than 18 different Boilermakers have figured on the terminal end of Purdue's 95 completed passes so far this season.

Individual honors are well divided. Bob Khoenle leads in catches with 18; Lamar Lundy in yardage with 221, and Jim Whitmer in scoring passes with 2.

Purdue's 6 leading ball carriers have all averaged approximately 4 yards a crack or better on running plans from scrimmage so far this season.

Although forced out of action early in the Northwestern game with a chest injury, co-captain and fullback Bill Murakowski, is still well out in front in the yardage column with 493 yards in 125 attempts for a 3.96 average.

Fenton Sophs Were Champs As Frosh

Starting 5 will be selected from 6 boys for the Fenton high school frosh-soph opener at Hampshire Friday night, according to Coach Bill Jonkheer. The sophomores won the Northwest conference tourney last year and will be after more of the same this year.

A big lift has been given morale at Fenton with the new gym, the baskets just a week old at this writing. Last year's frosh 5 won 10 of 12 league games, losing the opener to Glenbrook and the final to Grant. They then won 3 games in the frosh tourney for the title.

THE STARTERS Friday will include Dave Helm, 5'8" forward who may be with the varsity instead, and Bernie Sell, 5'10", at forward. At center will probably be Chuck Christiansen, 6'3".

Three guards include Bob Meyer 5'8", Jerry Biefeld 5'9" and Brian Seeman, 5'7". The squad of 16 boys still has plenty of rough spots, though Coach Jonkheer hopes they'll be smooth in time for the conference opener against Glenbrook December 2.

R-B Has 7 Lettermen

Seven lettermen form the nucleus of the Riverside-Brookfield cage squad, including 6 boys measuring 6' to 6'5". Ron Buecking is the only man failing to hit the magic mark, standing 5'11".

Astronomy Degree

With growing public and scientific interest in rocket ships, space travel, and outer space, the University of Illinois astronomy department has expanded its program to meet the increased demand for trained astronomers.

The University has had courses in astronomy since 1868. It now is one of 35 out of nearly 2,000 institutions of higher learning in the U. S. offering a degree in astronomy.

8 Seniors Head Gymnastics Team At Arlington

State gymnastic champs at Arlington Heights high school are out to repeat this year, though Tilden and other schools are "loaded for b'ar". Coach Gay Hughes' Cardinal squad is working on new, more difficult routines in an attempt to keep ahead of the field.

Sixty-five freshmen are working out during gym classes, though Coach Hughes is unable to meet with them as a complete team. A half dozen of these boys look promising, though more future team members may be discovered as they learn more about gymnastics.

EIGHT LETTERMEN, all seniors, are back to defend state title laurels won last year. Only boy missing is Bill Tegtmeyer, a soph last season, who moved to Milwaukee.

Other lettermen back for more include Bob Hawk, Norb Flowers, Dick Kimbrough, John Koeppen, Dick Neiland, Fritz Snyder, Tom Pendleton and Carl Kraustwurst. Status of Krautwurst is doubtful at this time. Returning manager is Joe Pollard.

Bob Bass, a senior, just missed a letter last year, will be back this time and may be a mainstay of the team. Three juniors who will possibly see action include John Kimbrough, Mike Spalding and Dan Schock.

$64,000 Question

The Sporting News discloses the question that Grandma Myrt would have had to answer if she had tried for the $64,000 question. It was based on the 1946 World's Series. Reportedly she would have been asked to describe in full the play in the last of the eighth inning of the seventh game when Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals scored all the way from first with the winning run on a single while Red Sox Shortstop Johnny Pesky held the ball.

Meets All Comers

There's a scramble for the No. 5 spot among frosh-soph basketball starters at Arlington Heights high school with Coach Maurice Klotz fairly certain of his first 4 boys.

They include Bruce Bjorklund 5'10" guard, Denny Thill 5'7" guard, Jack Weber 6'2" center and Bob Lockwood 6'1" forward. Beyond that are 6 boys, any of whom might make the starting 5 against Woodstock Friday night. The squad will come home to meet Palatine the night before Thanksgiving and Elgin the night after.

ALAN HUTCHINSON 5'8", Sam Caltagirone 5'11", Jim Peery 5'9", Greg Rose 5'11", Dick Fischer 5'9" and Ed Whitelaw 6'1" are all battling for that fifth spot. The squad has been cut to 19 from the original 40 reporting to Coach Maurice Klotz.

A couple of transfers that may help the sophomores after the first 4 games are Bob Mors and Jim Anderson. The pair just transferred to Arlington and will have to attend classes for 30 days before becoming eligible.

Mors is a former Heights lad just back from Kansas City. He stands 5'10". Anderson is a transfer from Morton of Cicero, stands 6'. Howie Berg, outstanding football man the last half of the season, reported to Klotz Tuesday for the first time, and may be of help to the team.

Name Hutchinson Manager In Spite Of Tradition Vs. Pitchers

In picking Freddie Hutchinson as his field manager, Frank Lane, new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has flown into the face of tradition. Hutchinson is a former pitcher. And The Sporting News this week points out that pitchers who took over managing jobs in the past made rather unimpressive records. That goes for both major leagues.

As a matter of fact and record, club owners and officials have long shied away from pitchers as pilots. Look over the present lineup. Not one manager, outside of Hutchinson, is a former pitcher. In the National League, Charlie Grimm of the Braves was a first baseman, Bill Rigney of the Giants was a second baseman, Mayo Smith of the Phillies an outfielder, Walter Alston of the Dodgers a first baseman, Birdie Tebbetts of the Redlegs a catcher and Stan Hack of the Cubs played third base. The Pirate front office has not yet named a successor to Fred Haney.

Only one former pitcher has ever won a pennant in the American Legue. That's Clark Griffith, now owner of the Washington club. He did it with the White Sox in 1901. In the National, going all the way back to 1876, only four former pitchers have won pennants. Al Spalding did it with Chicago in 1876 and Bill McGunnigle won with Brooklyn in 1890. Then it wasn't until 1918 that a former pitcher had won a pennant, when Fred Mitchell brought the Cubs out on top. It was 28 years later when Eddie Dyer, a former hurler, won the honors with the Cardinals. Dyer, incidentally, is the only former pitcher who led his club to a World Series title. Spalding and Griffith were managers before the World Series came into being in 1903.

JUST WHAT IS there abut a former pitcher that doesn't seem to fit him into a manager's role? Well, J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, says the suspicion is that a former pitcher knowing that pitching is 65 per cent of the game, is prone is pay too much attention to his mound problems and not eough to the rest of the club.

As for Hutchinson, when he succeeded Red Rolfe as manager of the Tigers in 1952, his club came in eighth. This can hardly be charged to Hutchinson, but later on his own he finished sixth, then fifth. And look what happened to Walter Johnson and Christy Mathewson, two of the greatest pitchers who ever lived. Johnson managed both Washington and Cleveland, and Mathewson piloted Cincinnati. Neither was conspicuously outstanding.

What Hutchinson will do with the Cardinals, who finished seventh this year, remains to be seen. With Lane as general manager, the Cards aren't expected to stay down very long. But it's still going to be another chapter in baseball history in which tradition is flaunted with a pitcher at the helm.

Gems Of Thought

THANKSGIVING

He who receives a benefit should never forget it; he who bestows should never remember it.

—Pierre Charron

Ingratitude is a mask of selfishness.

—Anonymous

While no offering can liquidate one's debt of gratitude to God, the fervent heart and willing hand are not unknown to nor unrewarded by Him.

—Mary Baker Eddy

—La Rochefoucauld

One of the best things about a very little child is that he never thanks you for doing things for him—he is so sure you want to.

—Maurice Harspool

Many favors which God giveth us ravel out for want of hemming, through our own unthankfulness; for though prayer purchaseth blessings, giving praise doth keep the quiet possession of them.

Savings Bonds

US Government savings bonds seem far removed from coal, but not so far as it might seem. Paper, on which the bonds are printed, the ink, the printing pigments and the metal with which the bonds are printed, all derive in some fashion from coal.

Bleeding Game Birds

Poorly bled meat is soft and watery and this applies to pheasants and other game birds just as well as it does to game animals, so care should be taken by the hunter in this respect.

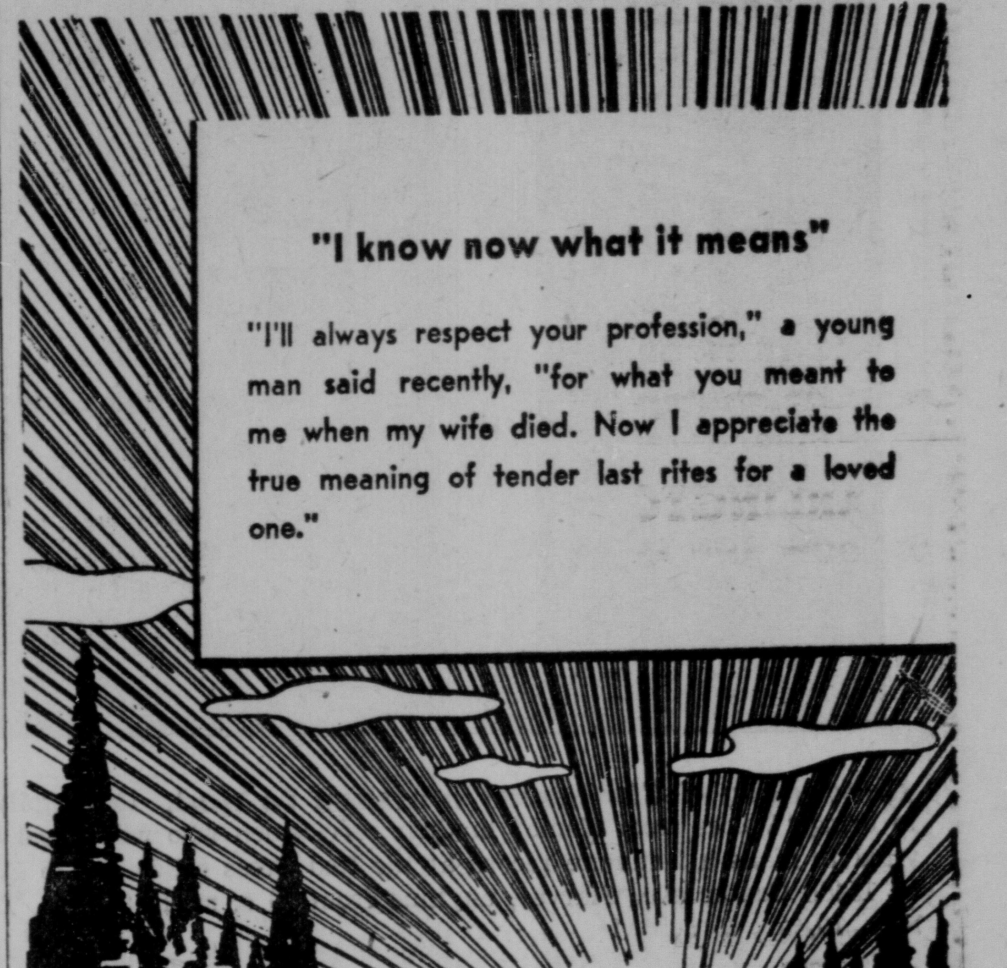
Occasionally, birds are so badly mutilated from shot that further bleeding is impossible. There's just no more blood to drain away! More often, however, the reverse is the case. Three or four pellets kill but do not create wounds sufficiently large to draw off an appreciable amount of blood.

With most game birds the solution is simple. Just cut off the head! Cock pheasants, however, are something else. With the colorful head gone and a few of the tail feathers missing through misadventure, a cantankerous game warden might take occasion to give the hunter some highly uncomfortable moments plus comments on hen-shooting before sending him on his way. Proper step is to slash the ringneck's throat!

Waterfowl probably fare the worst of all birds from hunter inattention ... possibly because a headless, disheveled duck is not a particularly attractivd trophy to lay before friend wife in justification of a day and a day's pay so spent! Again, a careful gash will save the bird! (Sp

Times Change

At one time, man thought that natural gas was a mysterious god that had to be appeased. Today, it is man's servant, supplying the heat that cooks every meal in 33 million homes.



"I know now what it means"

"I'll always respect your profession," a young man said recently, "for what you meant to me when my wife died. Now I appreciate the true meaning of tender last rites for a loved one."

The HUNGRY SPORTSMAN By Eddie Meier

Bleeding Game Birds

Poorly bled meat is soft and watery and this applies to pheasants and other game birds just as well as it does to game animals, so care should be taken by the hunter in this respect.

Occasionally, birds are so badly mutilated from shot that further bleeding is impossible. There's just no more blood to drain away! More often, however, the reverse is the case. Three or four pellets kill but do not create wounds sufficiently large to draw off an appreciable amount of blood.

With most game birds the solution is simple. Just cut off the head! Cock pheasants, however, are something else. With the colorful head gone and a few of the tail feathers missing through misadventure, a cantankerous game warden might take occasion to give the hunter some highly uncomfortable moments plus comments on hen-shooting before sending him on his way. Proper step is to slash the ringneck's throat!

Waterfowl probably fare the worst of all birds from hunter inattention ... possibly because a headless, disheveled duck is not a particularly attractivd trophy to lay before friend wife in justification of a day and a day's pay so spent! Again, a careful gash will save the bird! (Sp

Times Change

At one time, man thought that natural gas was a mysterious god that had to be appeased. Today, it is man's servant, supplying the heat that cooks every meal in 33 million homes.

"I know now what it means"

"I'll always respect your profession," a young man said recently, "for what you meant to me when my wife died. Now I appreciate the true meaning of tender last rites for a loved one."

What purposeful living and intelligent consecration to God can mean for mankind will be explained at Christian Science services this Sunday, November 20.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon "Soul and Body" will include the following from I Peter (1:22,23): "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently: Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (428:15-19): "We should consecrate existence, not 'to the unknown God' whom we 'ignorantly worship,' but to the eternal builder, the everlasting Father, to the Life which mortal sense cannot impair nor mortal belief destroy."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

What purposeful living and intelligent consecration to God can mean for mankind will be explained at Christian Science services this Sunday, November 20.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon "Soul and Body" will include the following from I Peter (1:22,23): "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently: Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (428:15-19): "We should consecrate existence, not 'to the unknown God' whom we 'ignorantly worship,' but to the eternal builder, the everlasting Father, to the Life which mortal sense cannot impair nor mortal belief destroy."

Doris Johnson Weds Peter K. Foelker Jr.

Faith Lutheran church in Arlington Heights was the scene of a 4:30 o'clock ceremony October 15 in which Miss M. Doris Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Johnson, 919 N. Yale ave., Arlington Heights, and Peter K. Foelker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Foelker of Chicago, were united in marriage. The Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, pastor of Faith church, officiated at the double ring ceremony during which Donald Busarow rendered the nuptial selections.

Soloist was Stephen Schmidt who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." White mums and chrysanthemums decorated the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style gown of white chantilly lace over satin, fashioned full length with train. The dress had a scoop neckline trimmed with pearls and sequins. A tulle headpiece decorated with pearls and sequins held her fingertip veil in place. She carried her mother's white Bible decorated with white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Beverly Reusch of Forest Park, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a ballerina-length dress of coral lace and crystalette with matching coral headpiece and shoes. She carried yellow, pink and rust chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Carole Lorden of Palatine, Miss Lorraine Tischer of Arlington Heights and Miss Theresa Foelker of Chicago, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Youth Council Invites Parent Participation

The important items of discussion at the Rolling Meadows Youth Council meeting November 10, was the best way to secure parent participation in activities of the teen clubs. A special invitation has been issued by youth council chairman Ray Walker to all parents to attend the next meeting of the council December 8.

A final report of the money raised at the summer street dance was also given at the meeting. The Guys and Dolls teen club and the Junior Hi Fellowship will each receive $160.60 as their share of the proceeds from the dance. This represents money from the ticket sales as well as money from the sale of soft drinks. It also includes the money raised by the Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's club in its sale of coffee, cake and hot sandwiches at the dance, which was turned over to the youth groups. (K

They paid their first weekly dues of a nickel to assistant treasurer Bob Carlson. Twelve new members were signed up by treasurer Andy Hayden, bringing the club roster to almost 70 members.

Energies of the group were turned to a Sadie Hawkins day party to be held Friday, Nov. 25. In his newly-acquired position of acting mayor of Dogpatch, club president Gary Moreland served each club member with an official proclamation of the scheduled party. Each proclamation carried the signature and seal (Gary's thumbprint) of the acting mayor.

Eight club members were appointed to the Sadie Hawkins day party committee. They are John Lopata, Tom Broderick, Dru White, Kathy Grundhoefer, Carol Bycroft, Barbara Barrett, Marty Jonecheck and Wayne Wilkans. Start Rehearsals For Christmas Caroling

In addition to their regular weekly dancing classes, Rolling Meadows Junior Hi fellowship has now undertaken a practice of Christmas Carols for its Christmas street caroling. The dancing class, which mets Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9, has grown so successfully that it now boasts over 50 youngsters, necessitating the use of the largest room in the community barn. Classes are under the instruction of Colette Woods.

Mrs. Woods is also an accomplished pianist and has undertaken the training of the Christmas carolers. The first group of apprentice carolers met in the Outpost last Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. Putting their lusty voices to the test, 15 members of the club started their initial preparation for the street caroling throughout the city at Christmastime. The caroling group will meet next Sunday from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. as well as the succeeding 4 Sundays to complete its preparations for the Christmas treat to the community. (K

About 20 relatives were on hand to join in the celebration and enjoy cake, ice cream and sandwiches. Gary and Janice Brankin joined in the festivities and wished their mother, cousin and great aunt a very happy birthday.

Brian Schroeder, the 4-year old son of Ken and Lorraine Schroeder, 2205 Sigwalt, celebrated his birthday 3 times over. The first party, done in the circus theme, enjoyed by all his neighborhood chums, was held Saturday afternoon, and attended by Linda Langhoff, Linda Vlanik, Danny Vlanik, Cindy Golz, Randy Kunz, Debbie Singleton, Jimmy Alvia and Diane and Carol Poulson. Saturday evening a buffet supper was held in his honor at which his maternal grandparents and relatives were invited. Sunday, the date of his birthday, Brian again was the guest of honor at a dinner party attended by his paternal grandparents and relatives.

It was a family party for Dawn Lortie who was 3 years old November 13. Dawn is the daughter of Fran and Bill Lortie of 2306 Sigwalt. Last Sunday a dinner party was given in her honor and attended by her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lortie, and Jack and Elaine Lortie, and their children, Colleen and Kevin, who also joined in the celebration. Dawn's sister, Nancy, also enjoyed the merry making.

It was the double birthday celebration of his grandsons November 13 that brought grandfather, Charles Knop, out to Rolling Meadows after having just been discharged from the hospital the day before. Paul Derezotes celebrated his second birthday on that date, and David Derezotes, was celebrating his fourth birthday, the date of which is November 15. The Mickey Mouse theme got everyone in a festive mood and the party was enjoyed by grandmother Knop, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Derezotes, Mrs. Psota, Jay and Frank of Arlington Heights, uncle Kenny and cousin Sharon. Paul and David are the sons of Ruth and Nick Derezotes, 2405 Meadow dr.

Arthur Krause, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art Krause, 2407 Win gst., celebrated his 10th birthday November 9. Arthur and his friends, among whom were Norman Widman, Danny Nelson, Robert Jennings and Kevin Mahoney, played games for prizes and after flying gliders, which were given as favors, the boys enjoyed ice cream, cake, candy and popcorn.

Leroy and Lorraine Palow and daughter, Kathy, of 3005 Hawk lane, all celebrated their birthdays last Sunday. Attending the party were the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palow, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hasselmen and children, Harold and Arlene, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Palow and daughters, Janet and Betty, Mr. and Mrs. George Palow and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson, who live on Dove st.

Occasional substitutes are also needed and anyone interested in bowling with the league is invited to call the league secretary, Doris Tatar, at Clearbrook 3-8670. Team standings this week are:

Square Dancing

Have you always envied those square dancing groups that seem to dance so smoothly and know just what to do to follow the caller? Here's your chance to become just as adept in this delightful form of recreation. Arrangements have been made with well-known caller Jack Gallery to teach a group of Rolling Meadows couples in the basement of his home. The series of lessons will be held one evening each week for six weeks. It is promised that "graduates" of the series of lessons will be able to square dance anywhere and join in the fun without qualms as to knowing what to do. If you are interested in joining this group or in obtaining more information about the square dancing group it is hoped will be formed you are invited to call Juanita Nichols at Clearbrook 5-2437. Swing your partner, and let's go!

Special Non-Sectarian Thanksgiving Service

Rolling Meadows' first annual Thanksgiving eve worship services for persons of all faiths will be presented by the Community church next Wednesday, Nov. 23, at the Barn at 8 p.m. Everyone is urged to take advantage of this opportunity to share in thanks and appreciation for the world's providings.

The Community church, which is composed of members from all faiths itself, points out the service will be non-sectarian in nature. There will be special choir music in connection with the observance of Thanksgiving.

Cub Scouts Form Four New Dens

Rolling Meadows cub scout committee had good news for boys cub scout age in the community this week. Four new cub scout den mothers have been secured, making it possible for the long waiting list of future cub scouts to actually join dens at last.

New den mothers are Mrs. Arthur Bartels, Mrs. William Grunwald, Mrs. Paul Bucholz, and Mrs. Arthur Fortune. The cub scout organization is pleased to announce that the volunteer service of these women will make it possible for additional boys from the community to become cub scouts. Inquiries from boys of cub scout age are invited and should be directed to the chairman of the pack committee, Ray Walker, at CLearbrook 5-1334. (K

Youth Council Invites Parent Participation

The important items of discussion at the Rolling Meadows Youth Council meeting November 10, was the best way to secure parent participation in activities of the teen clubs. A special invitation has been issued by youth council chairman Ray Walker to all parents to attend the next meeting of the council December 8.

A final report of the money raised at the summer street dance was also given at the meeting. The Guys and Dolls teen club and the Junior Hi Fellowship will each receive $160.60 as their share of the proceeds from the dance. This represents money from the ticket sales as well as money from the sale of soft drinks. It also includes the money raised by the Rolling Meadows Junior Woman's club in its sale of coffee, cake and hot sandwiches at the dance, which was turned over to the youth groups. (K

Junior Hi Plans Sadie Hawkins Party

Following their tour of Rolling Meadows selling tickets to benefit the local hospital fund, members of the Junior Hi fellowship returned to the Barn for the remainder of the evening to enjoy themselves.

After refreshments, served by members of the Rolling Meadows Junior Womans club had warmed them up, the group settled down to business. They paid their first weekly dues of a nickel to assistant treasurer Bob Carlson. Twelve new members were signed up by treasurer Andy Hayden, bringing the club roster to almost 70 members.

Energies of the group were turned to a Sadie Hawkins day party to be held Friday, Nov. 25. In his newly-acquired position of acting mayor of Dogpatch, club president Gary Moreland served each club member with an official proclamation of the scheduled party. Each proclamation carried the signature and seal (Gary's thumbprint) of the acting mayor.

Eight club members were appointed to the Sadie Hawkins day party committee. They are John Lopata, Tom Broderick, Dru White, Kathy Grundhoefer, Carol Bycroft, Barbara Barrett, Marty Jonecheck and Wayne Wilkans. The committee has set the time of the party from 7 to 10 p.m. and admission will be restricted to members of the club only. Each member attending must be in the costume of some "Dogpatch" character. Start Rehearsals For Christmas Caroling

In addition to their regular weekly dancing classes, Rolling Meadows Junior Hi fellowship has now undertaken a practice of Christmas Carols for its Christmas street caroling. The dancing class, which mets Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9, has grown so successfully that it now boasts over 50 youngsters, necessitating the use of the largest room in the community barn. Classes are under the instruction of Colette Woods.

Mrs. Woods is also an accomplished pianist and has undertaken the training of the Christmas carolers. The first group of apprentice carolers met in the Outpost last Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. Putting their lusty voices to the test, 15 members of the club started their initial preparation for the street caroling throughout the city at Christmastime. The caroling group will meet next Sunday from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. as well as the succeeding 4 Sundays to complete its preparations for the Christmas treat to the community. (K

Children To Share Food Gifts With Lake Villa Orphans

Rolling Meadows Community church Sunday school children will participate in a greatly-satisfying Thanksgiving activity next Sunday. Each Sunday school child will bring a food gift of his own individual choice to his Sunday school class. These food gifts will be sent to a children's home in Lake Villa with the Thanksgiving wishes of the local church children.

A group of older Sunday school children and teachers will personally take the food items to the home Sunday afternoon. The thoughtful gesture is designed to actively educate the Rolling Meadows church children in the joy of sharing as an outstanding object lesson for the Thanksgiving season.

GI Home Loans

Veterans administration in Illinois received 2,265 GI home loan applications for guaranty during October, the third highest monthly total since the current housing surge began, according to preliminary figures released by Robert D. Beer, VA's regional manager for Illinois.

The October total was nearly 20 per cent above the September total of 1,896 loan applications and only 4 per cent under the July total of 2,346.

The number of proposed homes for which VA received appraisal requests from builders dropped to 2,151.14 per cent under the August total of 2,511. Mr. Beer said seasonal factors probably contributed to this decline.

'Super Salesmen' Sell Tickets for Hospital Concert

Donating most of their usual Friday "evening of fun' 'to benefit the Northwest Community hospital fund, approximately 35 members of the Rolling Meadows Junior Hi fellowship traveled door-to-door throughout the community selling tickets for the coming hospital benefit concert November 27.

A total of 133 tickets were sold by the youngsters in spite of rain later in the evening. Covering almost the entire city, the children were given transportation to and from their assigned areas as well as splendid adult advisory assistance from Orville Rumrey, Bud Broeske and Dick Gokey. Refreshments were served to the cold ticket salesmen on their return to the community Barn by members of the Rolling Meadows Junior Womans club.

Upon finding their services had been volunteered for the cold door-to-door task, the youngsters decided to hang their chief advisor John Woods in "effigy." Since Mr. Woods was so adept at volunteering, they found the effigy was not necessary as he volunteered for the hanging, too.

In the continuing jovial mood the group set out on their sales. The greatest number of tickets sold by any team was 42, sold in unit 6. Each member of the winning team, which was led by Don Carlson and Terry Loveless, received a bag of chocolate candy as a prize.

The concert, to be held at 8 p.m., at Maine township high school, Des Plaines, will feature Willard Straight, brilliant young pianist, and Barbara Leichsenring, talented soprano. Tickets will also be sold at the door.

Sheriff Seeks Approval On Delinquency Plans

Police chiefs and officers in Barrington, Northbrook, Palatine and Rolling Meadows among other suburban towns have been asked to approve 3 aspects of a juvenile delinquency program being worked out by the sheriff's office.

Officials asked for their approval of suggestions include Barrington police chief R. E. Smith, Northbrook police chief Ed Clifford, Palatine police lieutenant Donald E. Foxforthy, and Rolling Meadows police commissioner Ed Westphal and police lieutenant C. Campbell.

THESE OFFICIALS and others represent a steering committee set up by the county's mayors and village presidents. They have given tentative approval to the program as amended in their meeting with the sheriff October 15.

The officials are now being asked for an evaluation of the proposed central juvenile file center, a 6-day training program for juvenile officers of local police departments and the sheriff's office, and representation of local police departments in Family court by the sheriff's juvenile bureau.

Explained Sheriff Lohman in a letter to committee members: "When the committee has been fully polled, we will submit the proposals to the mayors and village presidents as a preliminary to launching the program."

THE CENTRAL juvenile files will act as a clearing house for information on juveniles. If suburban officials approve coordination of the file center with the Chicago police department, Lohman promised the committee, "local police departments may anticipate complete information on any given case."

"When the subject of a card in the juvenile file center reaches the age when he is no longer a juvenile," added Lohman, "the card will be immediately returned to the police department from which it originated."

Wedgewood Terrace

Newcomers

Here since the beginning of September and in love with Wedgewood Terrace are the Harold Bowlins of 403 Meadow lane. They came from Chicago which has always been Mr. Bowlin's home. Mrs. Bowlin is from St. Louis and has been in this area for 8 years.

Mr. Bowlin is superintendent for the Freutel Roofing company and Mrs. Bowlin is also employed. She is an addressograph operator for Gregg-Moore, an advertising agency.

Verda of Sleepy Hollow is the name of the Bowlins' great dane dog. She made the news once when she gave birth to 20 pups.

Woodworking is a hobby of Mr. Bowlin, and he has been using the woodworking technique in making spice cabinets for their home in Wedgewood. Mrs. Bowlin likes to sew and knit and is busy now making a suit for herself.

Two weeks ago little Steven Melvin, almost 3, was playing in the Wedgewood park and forgot to watch a swing. He had his head cut open when the swing hit him and had to have 14 stitches in it. Last week the stitches were taken out and he is doing nicely now.

Wedgewood Terrace

Newcomers

Here since the beginning of September and in love with Wedgewood Terrace are the Harold Bowlins of 403 Meadow lane. They came from Chicago which has always been Mr. Bowlin's home. Mrs. Bowlin is from St. Louis and has been in this area for 8 years.

Mr. Bowlin is superintendent for the Freutel Roofing company and Mrs. Bowlin is also employed. She is an addressograph operator for Gregg-Moore, an advertising agency.

Verda of Sleepy Hollow is the name of the Bowlins' great dane dog. She made the news once when she gave birth to 20 pups.

Woodworking is a hobby of Mr. Bowlin, and he has been using the woodworking technique in making spice cabinets for their home in Wedgewood. Mrs. Bowlin likes to sew and knit and is busy now making a suit for herself.

Two weeks ago little Steven Melvin, almost 3, was playing in the Wedgewood park and forgot to watch a swing. He had his head cut open when the swing hit him and had to have 14 stitches in it. Last week the stitches were taken out and he is doing nicely now.

Elk Grove News

Mothers Club

Elk Grove Mothers club met Thursday in the all-purpose room of Elk Grove school. Thomas W. James, boy scout district representative, presented the charters to Mothers club, sponsor of Elk Grove boy scout and cub scout troops. Mr. James explained the main responsibilities of a sponsoring organization; seeing that the unit has adequate place to meet and that the boys have adequate leadership.

Patti Folkman, Diane Schulze and Sally Wichman discussed the "Need of an Adequate Breakfast for School Children." Patti explained why our children need a good breakfast and what mothers can do about it; Diane discussed vitamins and why we need them; and Sally told rersults of poorly balanced meals, suggestions for good breakfast menus, the advantages and disadvantages of cooked and dry cereals and urged everyone to prepare a well balanced breakfast every day.

Mr. Cavallo announced that W.M.A.Q. radio and television stations will make announcements from 7 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. if the buses will be unable to run because of bad weather.

Mr. Cavallo also explained the primary mental abilities tests that were given to students in grades 3 to 8. Results of the tests will be kept in each child's record, and will show the teacher when a student needs help. These tests show the ability of the child, not the I.Q.

Mothers were given a bulletin, "When Parents Ask About Reading." Anyone may borrow from Mr. Cavallo the book, "Your Child Learns to Read," which is a guide for parents of children using the new basic reader.

The dental program for the year was explained. A dentist will come to school and check the children's teeth; after this inspection provisions will be made for any necessary dental work to be done when the family is unable to pay for the work.

The need of a first aid kit for Elk Grove school was discussed.

All first grade mothers and mothers of children in other grades, who are new in the district, are invited to attend the tea to be given by Mothers club today, Thursday, at 1:30 p.m., at school.

In the future, Mrs. Altenburg and Mrs. Anderson will notify 4 or 5 mothers to provide and serve refreshments at each meeting.

Eighty per cent of the parents of children in Elk Grove school attended the open house November 9. Student council president, Carolyn Miedema; eighth grade president, Robert Bollmann; eighth grade vice president, Judy Wille; Charlotte Popp and Patti Folkman were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Chappelear attended the open house. Mrs. Chappelear taught third grade at school last year.

The cast has been chosen for the Christmas play, "Strangers Came to Bethlehem." The eighth grade and grade 7-1 will be the chorus. The actors in the play are from grades 6-1, 6-2 and 7-2. Patti Folkman, Bob Gates, Sally Wichman, Alex Goloskelvitch, Tom Nunamaker, Jim Kelly, Susan Kappa, Noellene Heimsoth, Theona Popp, Alice Bollmann, Andrea Duran. Lester Landmeier and Sheila Gilbert will have speaking parts. Other members of the cast are: Virginia Remidi, Susan Horbus, Esperanza Molta, Nancy Hejduk, Sharon De Palma, Reyes Salas, Darlene Wilder, Harold Fisher and other supporting players to be chosen at a later time. The band will provide music before the program.

Word has reached Frank Kessler of the death of his mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Longerich in Germany. Mrs. Longerich was a native of Dusseldorf, where she spent most of her life. NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

We should like to take this opportunity of saluting the magnificent and imaginative work of George Jennings (who we understand is a resident of Arlington Heights), as director of WBEZ, the board of educational television, radio and FM outlets to the Chicagoland school systems. Himself a profound student and lover of fine music, he has introduced much of it on his programs to the younger generation. Music appreciation is one of the basic and most vital attributes of a strongly progressive cultural society. We see already how national public taste for good music has grown, thanks to work of this kind and to modern discs and tape recordings played through high fidelity music systems in the American home. From such enterprising and creative efforts will come not only our great composers and musicians of the next generation, but also our finest citizens who draw on music for daily inspiration.

Now let's listen to some of the magnificent discs just released in time for solution to our Christmas gift problems. Columbia has just released a superb 12-inch album which serves as documentary tribute to one of the titans of our time, Winston Churchill. As another in the famous "I Can Hear It Now' series edited by Edwin R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly, this disc contains 73 excerpts from Churchill's most memorable speeches; it recalls to us his thrilling defiance of Hitler's Nazi hordes in the days when the world was shaken by terror of dictatorship. In a sense, it is the story of our times, to be handed down to posterity that those who follow us may remember that freedom must be earned and fought for when the right is challenged by evil.

From Unicorn Records, a new Boston disc firm featuring the unusual in classical music, we cite the delectable 12-inch l-p of "18th Century Children's Music," recording which adults will delight in as much as youngsters. F. Charles Adler conducts the Vienna Orchestral Society in Leopold Mozart's Cassation in G Major; in this music we discover that it was Mozart's father who actually wrote the famous "Toy Symphony" credited for generations to Haydn.

Elk Grove News

Mothers Club

Elk Grove Mothers club met Thursday in the all-purpose room of Elk Grove school. Thomas W. James, boy scout district representative, presented the charters to Mothers club, sponsor of Elk Grove boy scout and cub scout troops. Mr. James explained the main responsibilities of a sponsoring organization; seeing that the unit has adequate place to meet and that the boys have adequate leadership.

Patti Folkman, Diane Schulze and Sally Wichman discussed the "Need of an Adequate Breakfast for School Children." Patti explained why our children need a good breakfast and what mothers can do about it; Diane discussed vitamins and why we need them; and Sally told rersults of poorly balanced meals, suggestions for good breakfast menus, the advantages and disadvantages of cooked and dry cereals and urged everyone to prepare a well balanced breakfast every day.

Mr. Cavallo announced that W.M.A.Q. radio and television stations will make announcements from 7 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. if the buses will be unable to run because of bad weather.

Mr. Cavallo also explained the primary mental abilities tests that were given to students in grades 3 to 8. Results of the tests will be kept in each child's record, and will show the teacher when a student needs help. These tests show the ability of the child, not the I.Q.

Mothers were given a bulletin, "When Parents Ask About Reading." Anyone may borrow from Mr. Cavallo the book, "Your Child Learns to Read," which is a guide for parents of children using the new basic reader.

The dental program for the year was explained. A dentist will come to school and check the children's teeth; after this inspection provisions will be made for any necessary dental work to be done when the family is unable to pay for the work.

The need of a first aid kit for Elk Grove school was discussed.

All first grade mothers and mothers of children in other grades, who are new in the district, are invited to attend the tea to be given by Mothers club today, Thursday, at 1:30 p.m., at school.

In the future, Mrs. Altenburg and Mrs. Anderson will notify 4 or 5 mothers to provide and serve refreshments at each meeting.

Eighty per cent of the parents of children in Elk Grove school attended the open house November 9. Student council president, Carolyn Miedema; eighth grade president, Robert Bollmann; eighth grade vice president, Judy Wille; Charlotte Popp and Patti Folkman were ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Chappelear attended the open house. Mrs. Chappelear taught third grade at school last year.

The cast has been chosen for the Christmas play, "Strangers Came to Bethlehem." The eighth grade and grade 7-1 will be the chorus. The actors in the play are from grades 6-1, 6-2 and 7-2. Patti Folkman, Bob Gates, Sally Wichman, Alex Goloskelvitch, Tom Nunamaker, Jim Kelly, Susan Kappa, Noellene Heimsoth, Theona Popp, Alice Bollmann, Andrea Duran. Lester Landmeier and Sheila Gilbert will have speaking parts. Other members of the cast are: Virginia Remidi, Susan Horbus, Esperanza Molta, Nancy Hejduk, Sharon De Palma, Reyes Salas, Darlene Wilder, Harold Fisher and other supporting players to be chosen at a later time. The band will provide music before the program.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

We should like to take this opportunity of saluting the magnificent and imaginative work of George Jennings (who we understand is a resident of Arlington Heights), as director of WBEZ, the board of educational television, radio and FM outlets to the Chicagoland school systems. Himself a profound student and lover of fine music, he has introduced much of it on his programs to the younger generation. Music appreciation is one of the basic and most vital attributes of a strongly progressive cultural society. We see already how national public taste for good music has grown, thanks to work of this kind and to modern discs and tape recordings played through high fidelity music systems in the American home. From such enterprising and creative efforts will come not only our great composers and musicians of the next generation, but also our finest citizens who draw on music for daily inspiration.

Now let's listen to some of the magnificent discs just released in time for solution to our Christmas gift problems. Columbia has just released a superb 12-inch album which serves as documentary tribute to one of the titans of our time, Winston Churchill. As another in the famous "I Can Hear It Now' series edited by Edwin R. Murrow and Fred W. Friendly, this disc contains 73 excerpts from Churchill's most memorable speeches; it recalls to us his thrilling defiance of Hitler's Nazi hordes in the days when the world was shaken by terror of dictatorship. In a sense, it is the story of our times, to be handed down to posterity that those who follow us may remember that freedom must be earned and fought for when the right is challenged by evil.

From Unicorn Records, a new Boston disc firm featuring the unusual in classical music, we cite the delectable 12-inch l-p of "18th Century Children's Music," recording which adults will delight in as much as youngsters. F. Charles Adler conducts the Vienna Orchestral Society in Leopold Mozart's Cassation in G Major; in this music we discover that it was Mozart's father who actually wrote the famous "Toy Symphony" credited for generations to Haydn.

Hold Conference On Dutch Elm Disease

State-wide conference on the control of Dutch Elm Disease in Illinois was held Thurs., Nov. 10 at the Blackstone Hotel. The conference was sponsored by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

He suggested:

(1) Sanitation - It is believed that trimming all dead and dying wood from the Elm trees is the most important single item for control of the disease. After trimming, the dead wood must be destroyed by fire.

(2) Early detection and diagnosis - The disease is evidenced by wilting and subsequent yellowing and dropping of the leaves on one or more branches or on the entire tree. Another symptom is the presence of brown streaks on the surface of the wood, visible when the bark is stripped from a diseased specimen. Positive diagnosis cannot be made except in the laboratory, since the symptoms are common to several diseases. Trees known to have the disease must be removed and destroyed by fire, since there is no known cure.

(3) Spraying - All trees within 10 feet of a diseased tree should be sprayed with DDT.

The Dutch Elm Disease is caused by a fungus which is carried from diseased trees to healthy trees by the Elm Bark Beetle. The beetles breed only in dead and dying elm bark. Control of the disease is accomplished by elimination of the carrier.

The Elm Bark Beetle is a hard-shelled boring insect and is very difficult to kill with sprays - a very heavy application of DDT must be used. The most effective way to reduce the population of the beetles is to destroy all dead Elm Bark, since the beetles cannot reproduce except in dead or dying Elm Bark.

The purpose of spraying is to insure extermination of the beetles in an area known to be infected, since some of these beetles will probably be carrying the fungus. Spraying of an entire community is not recommended because the heavy application of DDT upsets the balance of insect life considerably. A large increase in the number of aphids usually results after heavy application of DDT. About 2-3 gallons of spray per tree is required for killing the Elm Bark Beetle, this is enough DDT to cover about 20 acres if used for mosquito fogging.

The Dutch Elm Disease was first found in the United States in 1930. It has been spreading ever since, and although no cases have been found in Palatine, many cases have been found in Cook County. Experience in Eastern United States has shown that the death rate caused by Dutch Elm Disease can be reduced to less than 1% per year if the control measures are carried out thoroughly.

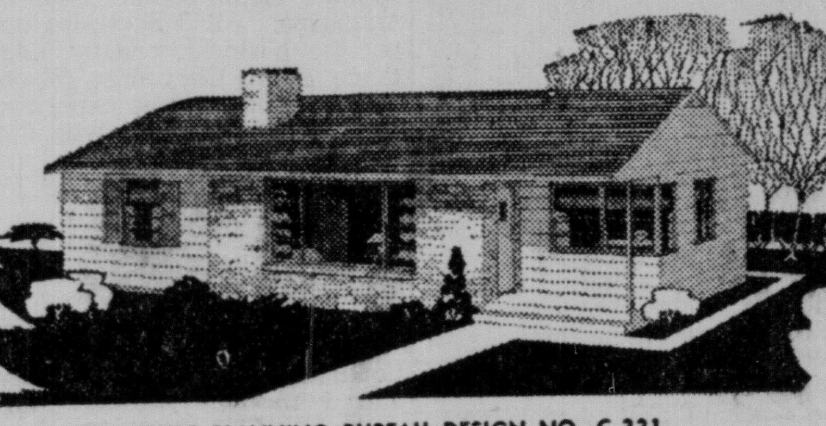
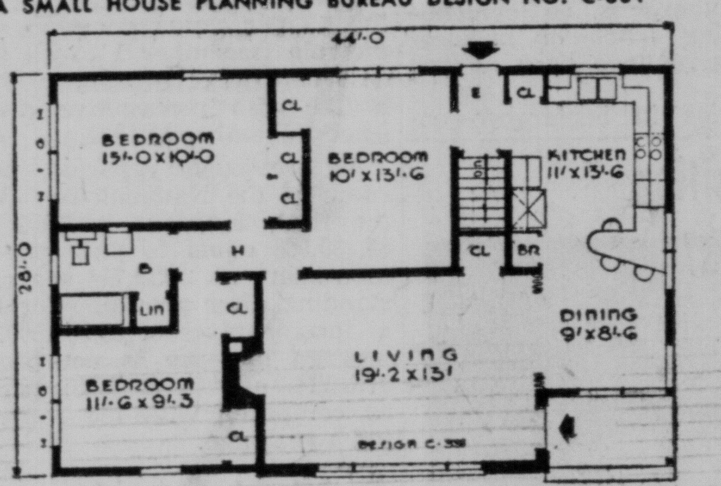
New Ideas In Homes



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-331



DESIGN C-331. Several features of outstanding interest are noteworthy in this plan, such as the delightful kitchen with a snack bar and dinette, the minimum hall space, and the variety of closets. In addition to this, there are three bedrooms, a comfortable living room and a full basement.

Kitchen cabinets are arranged to form a compact, step-saving workroom, with the advantage of having a three-way view of the side and rear yards, and overlooking the front entrance. The dinette is separated from the living room by means of folding doors. High windows in the ends of the bedrooms add to the already liberal wall space.

The exterior is attractively finished with a combination of wide siding and stone. The house includes a stone fireplace, picture window, shutters and asphalt shingles. Ground area is 1185 square feet, with a cubage of 22, 515 cubic feet.

Language Demonstration

The interlanguage teachers committee of Greater Chicago, a group composed of experienced teachers representing the eight languages taught in the Chicago area, has arranged a series of demonstrations of the teaching of foreign languages in the elementary schools.

The first of these demonstrations will be given by Dr. Norma Fornaciari of Roosevelt university, Dr. D. Farrand Baker of Oak Park-River Forest high school, and Mrs. Frances Dykes of Kelvyn Park high school, Saturday, Nov. 19, at 10:30 a.m. in rooms 510 and 512 of Roosevelt university, 430 S. Michigan avenue, Chicago. Dr. Elfriede Ackermann, Principal Emeritus of the Von Stuben high school and chairman of the committee will read a paper, Latin, what's the use?

United Effort Puts 30,700 Lots Back On Tax Rolls

A determined and aggressive drive by the Cook county treasurer, state's attorney and county board has retrieved 30,698 parcels of real estate as sources of revenue for Cook county, county treasurer Herbert C. Paschen reported today.

Paschen said the coordinated effort by county officials has resulted in that number of properties removed from the tax delinquency list since last year.

A year ago, Paschen said 98.767 properties were delinquent on 1953 taxes in Chicago proper and 128,-445 in the suburbs.

SINCE THEN, he said, officials operated with the state's attorney of the treasurer's office have co- and county board to salvage as many parcels as possible as sources of revenue for the community.

As a result, the number of tax delinquent parcels was reduced, on 1954 taxes, to 86,102 for Chicago proper and 110,421 for the suburbs.

"It is highly gratifying to have this property returned to a status where the county receives the revenue it needs to maintain essential services to the community."

Paschen pointed out that such action also has the effect of reducing levies to those taxpayers who regularly pay their bills.

PASCHEN said the county board's quick action regarding settlement of many old tax claims made hundreds of acres of idle land available to real estate developers.

"From this standpoint," Paschen said, "the program not only increased tax revenues tremendously but also helped continue the current housing boom.

"I feel confident that continued cooperation and coordination between tax-enforcement officials will result in another big reduction in tax delinquencies during the the coming year."

DuPage Considers Building Scheme

A 5-man committee was appointed by the DuPage county board of supervisors this week to study recent legislation which would enable the county to erect public buildings without referendum approval.

The bill allows formation of a county building commission, which has power to finance and construct county buildings.

Hold Conference On Dutch Elm Disease

State-wide conference on the control of Dutch Elm Disease in Illinois was held Thurs., Nov. 10 at the Blackstone Hotel. The conference was sponsored by the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

He suggested:

(1) Sanitation - It is believed that trimming all dead and dying wood from the Elm trees is the most important single item for control of the disease. After trimming, the dead wood must be destroyed by fire.

(2) Early detection and diagnosis - The disease is evidenced by wilting and subsequent yellowing and dropping of the leaves on one or more branches or on the entire tree. Another symptom is the presence of brown streaks on the surface of the wood, visible when the bark is stripped from a diseased specimen. Positive diagnosis cannot be made except in the laboratory, since the symptoms are common to several diseases. Trees known to have the disease must be removed and destroyed by fire, since there is no known cure.

(3) Spraying - All trees within 10 feet of a diseased tree should be sprayed with DDT.

The Dutch Elm Disease is caused by a fungus which is carried from diseased trees to healthy trees by the Elm Bark Beetle. The beetles breed only in dead and dying elm bark. Control of the disease is accomplished by elimination of the carrier.

The Elm Bark Beetle is a hard-shelled boring insect and is very difficult to kill with sprays - a very heavy application of DDT must be used. The most effective way to reduce the population of the beetles is to destroy all dead Elm Bark, since the beetles cannot reproduce except in dead or dying Elm Bark.

The purpose of spraying is to insure extermination of the beetles in an area known to be infected, since some of these beetles will probably be carrying the fungus. Spraying of an entire community is not recommended because the heavy application of DDT upsets the balance of insect life considerably. A large increase in the number of aphids usually results after heavy application of DDT. About 2-3 gallons of spray per tree is required for killing the Elm Bark Beetle, this is enough DDT to cover about 20 acres if used for mosquito fogging.

The Dutch Elm Disease was first found in the United States in 1930. It has been spreading ever since, and although no cases have been found in Palatine, many cases have been found in Cook County. Experience in Eastern United States has shown that the death rate caused by Dutch Elm Disease can be reduced to less than 1% per year if the control measures are carried out thoroughly.

New Ideas In Homes

DESIGN C-331. Several features of outstanding interest are noteworthy in this plan, such as the delightful kitchen with a snack bar and dinette, the minimum hall space, and the variety of closets. In addition to this, there are three bedrooms, a comfortable living room and a full basement.

Kitchen cabinets are arranged to form a compact, step-saving workroom, with the advantage of having a three-way view of the side and rear yards, and overlooking the front entrance. The dinette is separated from the living room by means of folding doors. High windows in the ends of the bedrooms add to the already liberal wall space.

The exterior is attractively finished with a combination of wide siding and stone. The house includes a stone fireplace, picture window, shutters and asphalt shingles. Ground area is 1185 square feet, with a cubage of 22,515 cubic feet.

Michigan avenue, Chicago. Dr. Elfriede Ackermann, Principal Emeritus of the Von Stuben high school and chairman of the committee will read a paper, Latin, what's the use?

United Effort Puts 30,700 Lots Back On Tax Rolls

A determined and aggressive drive by the Cook county treasurer, state's attorney and county board has retrieved 30,698 parcels of real estate as sources of revenue for Cook county, county treasurer Herbert C. Paschen reported today.

Paschen said the coordinated effort by county officials has resulted in that number of properties removed from the tax delinquency list since last year.

A year ago, Paschen said 98.767 properties were delinquent on 1953 taxes in Chicago proper and 128,445 in the suburbs.

SINCE THEN, he said, officials operated with the state's attorney of the treasurer's office have co- and county board to salvage as many parcels as possible as sources of revenue for the community.

As a result, the number of tax delinquent parcels was reduced, on 1954 taxes, to 86,102 for Chicago proper and 110,421 for the suburbs.

"It is highly gratifying to have this property returned to a status where the county receives the revenue it needs to maintain essential services to the community."

Paschen pointed out that such action also has the effect of reducing levies to those taxpayers who regularly pay their bills.

PASCHEN said the county board's quick action regarding settlement of many old tax claims made hundreds of acres of idle land available to real estate developers.

"From this standpoint," Paschen said, "the program not only increased tax revenues tremendously but also helped continue the current housing boom.

"I feel confident that continued cooperation and coordination between tax-enforcement officials will result in another big reduction in tax delinquencies during the coming year."

DuPage Considers Building Scheme

A 5-man committee was appointed by the DuPage county board of supervisors this week to study recent legislation which would enable the county to erect public buildings without referendum approval.

The bill allows formation of a county building commission, which has power to finance and construct county buildings.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NW Suburban Chairman For March Of Dimes

Nicholas M. Lattof, Hawley rd., Barrington, is the newly appointed regional chairman of the Northwest suburban area for the 1956 March of Dimes campaign in Cook county, it was announced by John William Carroll, county communities chairman. The drive runs January 3 through January 31.

Circle Aire Fetes 10th Anniversary

Combined interests of Edward G. Kreft Sr. and 2 sons, Edward R. and Robert A., made possible the organization of Circle-Aire at 141 W. Wilson, Palatine. The first entry for the concern, which specializes in air conditioning, heating and sheet metal work, was made November 10, 1945.

Their 10th anniversary was celebrated last week with a surprise party by the employees at the plant in the afternoon. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kreft Sr. and Edward R. and Robert A. and their families had an anniversary dinner at Brandt's restaurant.

The Krefts appreciate the business they have been given by local businesses, which made the anniversary possible. Their increase in business has also made it necessary to add an addition to their original building. Present quarters are 3 times the size of the original space.

The Kreft Srs. and 2 sons and their families all reside in the Palatine area. (BB

Business Growth Tapers Off Though Outlook Still Bright

Business across the nation has been growing less rapidly in recent months, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports, despite the vigorous economic activitiy recorded in early fall. Total output of goods and services rose about 7 billion dollars (at an annual rate) since June, somewhat less than the rise chalked up earlier in the year. Similarly, as additional lines reached full capacity, industrial production and employment have risen only slowly in the third quarter.

This easing in the uptrend can be traced partly to the leveling in construction and auto activity. But even more important, the bank adds, are shortages of raw materials and transportation facilities which have slowed further expansion in many lines.

PRODUCERS of both steel and nonferrous metals have been unable to meet the huge demand for their output. Freight car shortages, too, constitute an important bottleneck. On the labor scene, metal-working specialists and experienced clerical workers are in short supply. For the most part, however, the employment picture is not as tight as it was during the peak of the 1953 boom.

Although business has recently been growing at a slower rate, prospects for high and rising levels of economic activity in the months ahead remain excellent. The illness of the President added a new element of uncertainty to the economic picture, but so far the impact has been notable only in the stock market. According to the bank, there is no evidence that spending plans of business and consumers have been altered downward.

Retail sales in September—encouraged by steadily rising personal income and a further increase in consumer credit—topped a year ago by 11 per cent. Business inventories continued to swell, rising at a 3 billion dollar annual rate early in fall, with further inventory accumulation expected in the months ahead.

Also in early fall, industrial production reached an all-time high, 14 per cent above last year. In addition, construction awards exceeded September 1954 by 12 per cent, despite a 6 per cent decline in residential building. (BB

On Panel Discussion

In 17 such panel discussions during the conference, the delegates will exchange views, discuss common problems and hope to come up with some answers which will help them in carrying out their duties in their home districts.

In addition to the panel discussions, the school leaders will inspect 10,000 sq. ft. of displays, showing the latest school equipment, supplies and services, assembled by 56 companies. Keynote speaker at the convention banquet, Nov. 21, will be Dr. A. D. Holt, Vice-President, University of Tennessee. (BB

NW Suburban Chairman For March Of Dimes

Circle Aire Fetes 10th Anniversary

Combined interests of Edward G. Kreft Sr. and 2 sons, Edward R. and Robert A., made possible the organization of Circle-Aire at 141 W. Wilson, Palatine. The first entry for the concern, which specializes in air conditioning, heating and sheet metal work, was made November 10, 1945.

Their 10th anniversary was celebrated last week with a surprise party by the employees at the plant in the afternoon. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kreft Sr. and Edward R. and Robert A. and their families had an anniversary dinner at Brandt's restaurant.

The Krefts appreciate the business they have been given by local businesses, which made the anniversary possible. Their increase in business has also made it necessary to add an addition to their original building. Present quarters are 3 times the size of the original space.

The Kreft Srs. and 2 sons and their families all reside in the Palatine area. (BB

Business Growth Tapers Off Though Outlook Still Bright

Business across the nation has been growing less rapidly in recent months, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports, despite the vigorous economic activitiy recorded in early fall. Total output of goods and services rose about 7 billion dollars (at an annual rate) since June, somewhat less than the rise chalked up earlier in the year. Similarly, as additional lines reached full capacity, industrial production and employment have risen only slowly in the third quarter.

This easing in the uptrend can be traced partly to the leveling in construction and auto activity. But even more important, the bank adds, are shortages of raw materials and transportation facilities which have slowed further expansion in many lines.

PRODUCERS of both steel and nonferrous metals have been unable to meet the huge demand for their output. Freight car shortages, too, constitute an important bottleneck. On the labor scene, metal-working specialists and experienced clerical workers are in short supply. For the most part, however, the employment picture is not as tight as it was during the peak of the 1953 boom.

Although business has recently been growing at a slower rate, prospects for high and rising levels of economic activity in the months ahead remain excellent. The illness of the President added a new element of uncertainty to the economic picture, but so far the impact has been notable only in the stock market. According to the bank, there is no evidence that spending plans of business and consumers have been altered downward.

Retail sales in September—encouraged by steadily rising personal income and a further increase in consumer credit—topped a year ago by 11 per cent. Business inventories continued to swell, rising at a 3 billion dollar annual rate early in fall, with further inventory accumulation expected in the months ahead.

Also in early fall, industrial production reached an all-time high, 14 per cent above last year. In addition, construction awards exceeded September 1954 by 12 per cent, despite a 6 per cent decline in residential building. (BB

Home Owner's Life Not All Milk And Honeylocust Here

Wanted: A tree to provide beauty and shade without providing leaves to rake.

There is no such tree, for into each home owner's life some leaves must fall. One of the closest things to it, however, is the thornless honeylocust, reports O. S. Simpkins, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

The thornless honeylocust has a compound leaf made up of small leaflets only an inch or two in length. Leaflets are so small the litter is relatively light when autumnal shedding occurs.

The dark green foliage offers a light, lacy shade in summer, givness of the shade is beneficial to lawns.

Other advantages are the tree's ability to withstand disease and its wind resistant branches. It also comes in a variety of types. Some are distinctive in themselves and others are somewhat similar to the American elm. The height of native trees ranges from 60 to 80 feet.

Growth rate is good and the tree thrives in any but the most severe winter climates and in a wide range of soils.

It isn't all milk and honeylocust, however. There are some drawbacks. The most limited factor at the moment is the short supply of honeylocusts. Another drawback is some specimens develop foot-long pods that tend to stay on the tree through the winter. In the spring it may be necessary to rake up the fallen pods. (DL

Home Owner's Life Not All Milk And Honeylocust Here

Wanted: A tree to provide beauty and shade without providing leaves to rake.

There is no such tree, for into each home owner's life some leaves must fall. One of the closest things to it, however, is the thornless honeylocust, reports O. S. Simpkins, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

The thornless honeylocust has a compound leaf made up of small leaflets only an inch or two in length. Leaflets are so small the litter is relatively light when autumnal shedding occurs.

The dark green foliage offers a light, lacy shade in summer, givness of the shade is beneficial to lawns.

Other advantages are the tree's ability to withstand disease and its wind resistant branches. It also comes in a variety of types. Some are distinctive in themselves and others are somewhat similar to the American elm. The height of native trees ranges from 60 to 80 feet.

Growth rate is good and the tree thrives in any but the most severe winter climates and in a wide range of soils.

It isn't all milk and honeylocust, however. There are some drawbacks. The most limited factor at the moment is the short supply of honeylocusts. Another drawback is some specimens develop foot-long pods that tend to stay on the tree through the winter. In the spring it may be necessary to rake up the fallen pods. (DL

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Surrounded by our every day duties and responsibilities, many important facts of life such as the dignity and importance of our life on earth and responsibilities which we should bear are overlooked. We forget that we are the children of God.

God has given into our keeping our minds, our bodies, and the resources of the whole earth! He has granted us freedom of mind, to work with and plan with as we see fit. He places no restraint whatever upon us except in things that lie beyond the ability of man. We can use our power and resources for either the benefit or detriment of man. We are given, through Him, the power of creation, carry within ourselves the seeds of regeneration, first of ourselves, then of nature itself. We can build and destroy with our power. What a great, far reaching responsibility he has placed in our hands!

OUR CHILDREN are placed in our hands. What a child becomes, thinks and does in life is the parent's responsibility. Our duty as parents is awesome in its potentials for good or evil, not for the life of our children alone, but in the effect our children will have in their generation. World disunity and unbalance today finds its inception first in parenthood.

Juvenile delinquency, neurotic tendencies of the majority of our people, selfishness, pettiness, disregard for others, all of mankind's ills find their inception in the careless attitude or ruthless, selfish ambitions of poor parenthood. When God said the sins of the fathers would extend to the third and fourth generations, he meant just that.

BUT IF MAN has potentialities for evil, he has them for good also. Churches, schools, generous grants for improving moral, political and economic welfare of man are all efforts toward goodness; and serious parents, who rear their children in Christian homes and accept their trusteeship of their children as from God, are doing more than any other human force for good. One of the greatest detriments to raising good, sound children is the necessity for mothers to work away from home, or for fathers to see too little of their children. Such parents are exchanging their birthrights for a mess of pottage.

Eggs Candled

The Illinois egg law says that all eggs bought from farmers must be candled before they are paid for, all unfit eggs must be returned to the producer without being paid for and all eggs sold at retail must be either labeled according to size and grade or sold with the "ungraded" label.

Van Der Vries To Retire From Legislature

State Representative, Bernice T. Van der Vries, R, 7th district, Winnetka, has announced that she will not be a candidate for renomination in the primary election in April 1956.

In announcing her retirement from the General assembly at the close of her present term, Mrs. Van der Vries said, "I have been a member of the assembly for twenty one years. During that time the district which is composed of Cook County and parts of five Chicago wards has grown in population from 370,000 to approximately one million.

"I have participated in the enactment of laws in many fields —local and state government, health, education and welfare. It has been a wonderful privilege to have had a share in all of this.

"I feel, however, that even though the district in which I reside has become much smaller because of legislative reapportionment for which I worked strenously that this is the time to give way to some one younger as the pressures of work for a representative in and out of sessions are extremely heavy when one tries to fulfill the responsibilities of office to the best of her ability.

"I have been assured that my renomination and election would be certain, thus adding to the difficulty of the decision which I have made.

"I will, however, continue to devote the remainder of my life as a private citizen to the causes for which I have worked both in and out of the legislature and which are very dear to me.

"I am grateful to all who have assisted me through the years, the press, the Republican organizations, the hundreds of friends who have assisted in my campaigns and the thousands who have given me their votes."

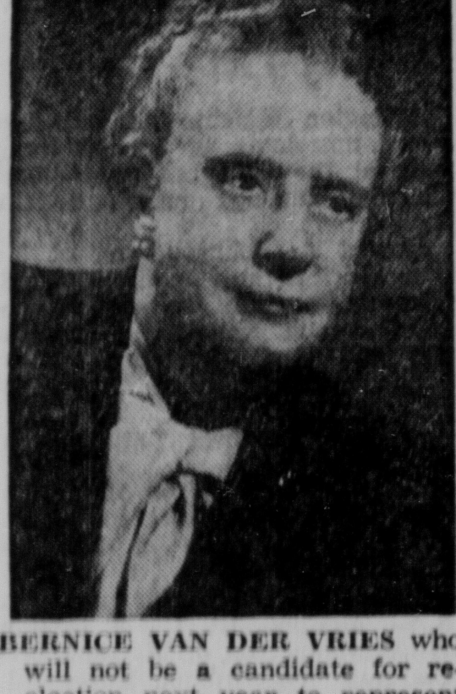
In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

"Never give a closed Bible to anyone," is the word of practical advice which comes from the Rev. John Osberg, executive secretary of the Chicago Bible Society, "always give an opened Bible, opened to a place that might be especially appropriate either to the giver or the receiver. And call attention to the place at which it is opened."



BERNICE VAN DER VRIES who will not be a candidate for reelection next year to represent the new 7th legislative district.

Rivet Story

There were 200,000 rivets used in the construction of the USS Forrestal. The Navy aircraft carrier is the largest ever built.

The American Bible Society was organized by denominational representatives, in 1816, but the work which it was organized to do, distribute the Bible, had already been a cooperative function of the denominations for more than a hundred years. The American Bible Society can say with some reason that it has been at work for 250 years.

THE MOST ROMANTIC aspect of the Bible Society's work is the work of translation. It is true of virtually all languages that they have not really become written languages until the attempt was made to translate the Bible. This was the case with German, French and English, to name the most obvious. Luther was responsible for written German, Wycliff for written English, Calvin for written French.

But the Bible Societies have been responsible for a complete Bible in 1050 languages and partial translations in another 1000. Almost every one of these had first to be reduced to a written form, grammar rules worked out from the custom of speaking, and idioms of one speech turned into the idioms of another.

For the past 50 years, the average rate of new translations into previously unwritten languages has been about one a month: A brand new Bible in a brand new language every month for 50 years!

AND WHEN it comes to distributing these Bibles, the representatives of the societies could adopt the motto of the post office, "neither sleet nor rain . . . ," "neither mountains nor deserts, things present or things to come (to bring in the Apostle Paul,) principalities or powers" stay these servants of the Lord from putting the Book in the hands of the people who yearn to read and hear the testimony of the Holy Spirit.

At the Bible House, at 310 N. Michigan ave., there is an exhibit of many rare and interesting Bibles. Also a complete line of Bibles for sale. But don't ask for discounts unless there is a real missionary need involved which cannot be met by the group with a sense of mission. Bible Societies operate on a wholesale-cost basis; a discount is a missionary grant. The Society feels that no one who wants or needs a Bible should be prevented from receiving it because of price. The Society also feels that groups with a missionary hope should do all they can to make that hope operate.

They also think it extremely valuable if some part, however small, of the cost of the Bible is borne by the person who is getting the Book.

In Arizona

Sergeant Walter Mohnsen of the Air Force Recruiting Station, 620 Lee st., Des Plaines, announced this week that Kaye A. Sheffo of Arlington Heights was commissioned a lieutenant during graduation ceremonies at Williams air force base in Arizona November 1.

Lieutenant Sheffo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Sheffo, 423 Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, received the wings of a jet pilot after a full year of training in which his most recent step was the mastery of the T-33, 2-seated version of the F-80 Shooting Star Jet.

Graduation day began with a formal flight line review of 700 aviation cadets and airmen, accompanied by a flyover of jets passing in tribute to the graduates.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Surrounded by our every day duties and responsibilities, many important facts of life such as the dignity and importance of our life on earth and responsibilities which we should bear are overlooked. We forget that we are the children of God.

God has given into our keeping our minds, our bodies, and the resources of the whole earth! He has granted us freedom of mind, to work with and plan with as we see fit. He places no restraint whatever upon us except in things that lie beyond the ability of man. We can use our power and resources for either the benefit or detriment of man. We are given, through Him, the power of creation, carry within ourselves the seeds of regeneration, first of ourselves, then of nature itself. We can build and destroy with our power. What a great, far reaching responsibility he has placed in our hands!

OUR CHILDREN are placed in our hands. What a child becomes, thinks and does in life is the parent's responsibility. Our duty as parents is awesome in its potentials for good or evil, not for the life of our children alone, but in the effect our children will have in their generation. World disunity and unbalance today finds its inception first in parenthood.

Juvenile delinquency, neurotic tendencies of the majority of our people, selfishness, pettiness, disregard for others, all of mankind's ills find their inception in the careless attitude or ruthless, selfish ambitions of poor parenthood. When God said the sins of the fathers would extend to the third and fourth generations, he meant just that.

BUT IF MAN has potentialities for evil, he has them for good also. Churches, schools, generous grants for improving moral, political and economic welfare of man are all efforts toward goodness; and serious parents, who rear their children in Christian homes and accept their trusteeship of their children as from God, are doing more than any other human force for good. One of the greatest detriments to raising good, sound children is the necessity for mothers to work away from home, or for fathers to see too little of their children. Such parents are exchanging their birthrights for a mess of pottage.

Eggs Candled

The Illinois egg law says that all eggs bought from farmers must be candled before they are paid for, all unfit eggs must be returned to the producer without being paid for and all eggs sold at retail must be either labeled according to size and grade or sold with the "ungraded" label.

Van Der Vries To Retire From Legislature

State Representative, Bernice T. Van der Vries, R, 7th district, Winnetka, has announced that she will not be a candidate for renomination in the primary election in April 1956.

In announcing her retirement from the General assembly at the close of her present term, Mrs. Van der Vries said, "I have been a member of the assembly for twenty one years. During that time the district which is composed of Cook County and parts of five Chicago wards has grown in population from 370,000 to approximately one million.

"I have participated in the enactment of laws in many fields —local and state government, health, education and welfare. It has been a wonderful privilege to have had a share in all of this.

"I feel, however, that even though the district in which I reside has become much smaller because of legislative reapportionment for which I worked strenuously that this is the time to give way to some one younger as the pressures of work for a representative in and out of sessions are extremely heavy when one tries to fulfill the responsibilities of office to the best of her ability.

"I have been assured that my renomination and election would be certain, thus adding to the difficulty of the decision which I have made.

"I will, however, continue to devote the remainder of my life as a private citizen to the causes for which I have worked both in and out of the legislature and which are very dear to me.

"I am grateful to all who have assisted me through the years, the press, the Republican organizations, the hundreds of friends who have assisted in my campaigns and the thousands who have given me their votes."

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

"Never give a closed Bible to anyone," is the word of practical advice which comes from the Rev. John Osberg, executive secretary of the Chicago Bible Society, "always give an opened Bible, opened to a place that might be especially appropriate either to the giver or the receiver. And call attention to the place at which it is opened."

BERNICE VAN DER VRIES who will not be a candidate for reelection next year to represent the new 7th legislative district.

The American Bible Society was organized by denominational representatives, in 1816, but the work which it was organized to do, distribute the Bible, had already been a cooperative function of the denominations for more than a hundred years. The American Bible Society can say with some reason that it has been at work for 250 years.

THE MOST ROMANTIC aspect of the Bible Society's work is the work of translation. It is true of virtually all languages that they have not really become written languages until the attempt was made to translate the Bible. This was the case with German, French and English, to name the most obvious. Luther was responsible for written German, Wycliff for written English, Calvin for written French.

But the Bible Societies have been responsible for a complete Bible in 1050 languages and partial translations in another 1000. Almost every one of these had first to be reduced to a written form, grammar rules worked out from the custom of speaking, and idioms of one speech turned into the idioms of another.

For the past 50 years, the average rate of new translations into previously unwritten languages has been about one a month: A brand new Bible in a brand new language every month for 50 years!

AND WHEN it comes to distributing these Bibles, the representatives of the societies could adopt the motto of the post office, "neither sleet nor rain . . . ," "neither mountains nor deserts, things present or things to come (to bring in the Apostle Paul,) principalities or powers" stay these servants of the Lord from putting the Book in the hands of the people who yearn to read and hear the testimony of the Holy Spirit.

At the Bible House, at 310 N. Michigan ave., there is an exhibit of many rare and interesting Bibles. Also a complete line of Bibles for sale. But don't ask for discounts unless there is a real missionary need involved which cannot be met by the group with a sense of mission. Bible Societies operate on a wholesale-cost basis; a discount is a missionary grant. The Society feels that no one who wants or needs a Bible should be prevented from receiving it because of price. The Society also feels that groups with a missionary hope should do all they can to make that hope operate.

They also think it extremely valuable if some part, however small, of the cost of the Bible is borne by the person who is getting the Book.

There just is no question but what this is a man's world. We had that proven to us without a shadow of a doubt this afternoon and what really got our cork is the way we knuckled under to the treatment.

We were bustling along one of our narrower streets in our motor chariot this afternoon when we came to one of those cases of cars parked in such a manner that traffic became one way.

It has been our understanding that cars which are going in the same direction the noses of the parked cars are facing, if we make ourselves clear, are obliged to cut in and give those going against the grain the right-of-way. We were going along under this premise when we met a man face to face and grill to grill.

We paused courteously to allow him to find a blank space only to have him come right up to our radiator with his radiator and start waving his arms at us imperiously to back up for a block or so to permit him to continue on his way with no interference. This struck us as unkind of him particularly as there were at least two cars in back of us who obviously were working under the same rules of the road as we were.

Our backbone stiffened almost to the consistency of rather thick jam as we decided to hold our ground. This made a rather pretty little tableau. It also made quite a nice traffic jam that threatened to become neighborhood wide. All this time, our friend, the gentleman, and we use the term loosely, sat there waving us back, back, back, and to our utter amazement that is the direction in which we went.

Did gentleman nod and thank us, nosireebob, he just gunned his motor and sailed past our little jammed up cavalacde with snoot high in the air. We had hardly gone cautiously on our way when reaction set in and we started that old futile pastime of thinking up all the nice nasty cutting things we could have done and said.

Well, let's face it, we didn't do anything, but we said plenty. We called gentleman quite a number of rather unattractive names, and we made some dire threats if we ever met on the road again and we wore another wrinkle in our already crowded forehead as the injustice of it all struck us.

All in all it was a busy afternoon and if ever faced with the same problem, things will be different. We will not even pause before backing up, we will just back up fast. The next gentleman may just barrel through.

The signed petitions will be filed with the county judge. If adequate, the formation of a mosquito abatement district will be presented to voters at a referendum election at the time of April primaries.

The board of trustees for the district will consist of 5 persons appointed by the county judge.

Funds for the district are obtained from real estate taxes. The maximum amount that may be levied for Mosquito Abatement is 25c per $1,000 assessed valuation. If a home is assessed at $10,000 the tax for mosquito abatement will be $2.50 per year If is estimated that the district will have $100,000 per year for abating mosquitoes.

The technical phase of mosquito abatement consists mainly of larviciding operations such as spraying and draining swamps, spraying catch basins, preventing stream pollution, etc. Each mosquito hatching area is actually treated as a separate problem to obtain effective control at an economic cost.

The earliest possible operating date for the district is the summer of 1957 because tax money cannot be allocated before that time.

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "I got myself a new job." Omit "myself," and say, "I secured a new job."

Do not say, "They treated us fine." It is better to say, "They treated us well."

The preposition "of" should not follow "all," unless the next word is a pronoun. Thus "All (not all of) the men were present." "All of us were absent."

Do not say, "I donated a dollar to the boys for ice cream." Say, "I gave a dollar to the boys." "Donate" is properly used when the gift is important, as, "I donated ten thousand dollars to the church."

"Most" should not be used in the sense of "almost." "Most" means greatest in number, rank, or importance. "Almost" is an adverb meaning not quite, less than, nearly. Thus, "Ted was almost (not most) killed." "It was almost (not most) midnight when she arrived."

Do not say, "I had hardly begun the work than I was interrupted." Say, "I had hardly begun the work when I was interrupted."

Words Often Mispronounced

Alimentary. Pronounce in five syllables, and not al-i-men-tri.

Frequented. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Mayoralty. Accent first syllable, not the third.

Melodic. Accent second syllable, not the first.

Comparable, able; compatible, ible. Clientele; observe the ele, which is pronounced as "tell." Equilibrum; 3 i's. Merchandise (noun and verb); ise, not ize. Decrepit; it, not id. Plebeian; observe the eian.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Forensic; belonging to courts of judicature or to public discussion and debate; argumentative. (Accent second syllable). "The dignified attorney addressed the court in a forensic manner."

Do not say, "I got myself a new job." Omit "myself," and say, "I secured a new job."

Do not say, "They treated us fine." It is better to say, "They treated us well."

The preposition "of" should not follow "all," unless the next word is a pronoun. Thus "All (not all of) the men were present." "All of us were absent."

Do not say, "I donated a dollar to the boys for ice cream." Say, "I gave a dollar to the boys." "Donate" is properly used when the gift is important, as, "I donated ten thousand dollars to the church."

"Most" should not be used in the sense of "almost." "Most" means greatest in number, rank, or importance. "Almost" is an adverb meaning not quite, less than, nearly. Thus, "Ted was almost (not most) killed." "It was almost (not most) midnight when she arrived."

Do not say, "I had hardly begun the work than I was interrupted." Say, "I had hardly begun the work when I was interrupted."

Words Often Mispronounced

Comparable, able; compatible, ible. Clientele; observe the ele, which is pronounced as "tell." Equilibrum; 3 i's. Merchandise (noun and verb); ise, not ize. Decrepit; it, not id. Plebeian; observe the eian.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

An incident so unpleasant and inexcusable happened during the Ed Sullivan show which I told you about last week, that I haven't been able to get it out of my mind and really must write to you about it. Maybe you know someone who's guilty of this sort of thing and can pass this letter along — perhaps, if the person knows what this kind of rude behavior looks like to others, he'll not do it again.

It all started during the act that preceded Marion Marlowe's. I can't even remember what the act was, probably because I was so shocked at the people who started to get up and walk out of the field house! At first it was only a small number of feet clomping down the wooden steps, between the blocks of bleachers; but, within a few minutes, the trickle grew to a broad stream—so broad that occasionally someone was squeezed off of the steps, forcing him to fall over the end of a bleacher! Over the sharp click of high heels and the dull thud of low ones, the hum and gurgle of the stream almost obliterated the sounds of the performer, whose only advantage was a microphone.

NOT EVEN when Marion Marlowe stepped out on the stage to sing did the stream of people hesitate and by the time she had finished, more than a quarter of the audience had left—a quarter of the audience was approximately 1,300 people!

Had they been asked, these people would have given any number of reasons for their leaving—all quite legitimate in their minds. It was late; the seats were getting hard; the show was too long; some of the acts were lousy; they waited too long to put Marion Marlowe on, etc. Many of us who were still seated would have agreed with these reasons—but would have disagreed that they were legitimate ones for getting up and walking out.

The important difference between those who remained in their seats, until the end of the show and those who left is the fact that those who stayed evidenced their belief that courteousness is a quality to be extended to every human being; whereas, those who left made it evident that, to them, courtesy is something you don't have to give if you don't know the people and aren't going to be seeing them again, if there are others who feel the way you do, if it is dark and no one can see who you are and if you've paid $5.00 for your ticket—after all that should entitle you to the right to walk out if you want to.

WATCHING THIS SPECTACLE, I couldn't help but wonder what happened to these people when they became adults — surely some of them were taught as little children to sit still at the table until everyone was through eating, whether or not they were finished, tired or plain bored with adult conversation. When they were in school, they surely were taught to stay put throughout their assemblies and school productions regardless of how medicore the entertainment. In the college classroom, do you suppose any of these people walked out in the middle of a professor's lecture?

My love,
Patty.

London Merchant Sees The Light And Sells Shoes One At A Time

London now has a shoe store where only the unusual customers will buy a pair of shoes. People generally purchase just one shoe at a time.

The owner of this new enterprise, a Mr. Lange, is doing a tremendous business in selling shoes to one-legged people. His customers pay exactly half the price they have been used to paying in other stores, and simply because they are purchasing one-half the value.

PEOPLE CAN GET a single shoe of almost any size, either left or right, in the latest styles. Stocks are complete enough so that a man can purchase two lefts and a right, and all three shoes are styled the same. This is a money saver to people who wear out one shoe twice as fast as the other. Mr. Lange's store, for this reason, is doing a landslide business. Orders are coming in from all over the British Isles.

When engaged in an unusual enterprise of this sort, the owner explains, one's work is never boring. Shortly after opening day two men came in and bought two new shoes. They left a story behind them which is now printed and hanging in the store window for the public to read.

For years they had always gone together on these occasions. But always they found it next to impossible to agree on the shoes to buy, one of them wanting a certain style and the other usually rejecting it in preference to something else. Although they were fast friends, their shoe-buying excursions put a heavy strain on their relationship.

When this new store opened up, however, they both came in and after making their purchases explained that for the first time in years they had felt like friends after buying a pair of shoes.

'See How They Run'

Take one disrespectful Cockney maid, three clergymen who get involved in a case of mistaken identity, add a dash of foreign intrigue, and you have the hilarious British farce, "See How They Run,' 'to be presented by the Theatre Guild December 2, 3, 8, 9 and 10 at Rand Park field house, 2025 Miner st., Des Plaines.

The mirth begins when former actress Penelope Toop plans an evening out with an American friend. She discovers that he must borrow her husband's clothes in order to make the date. Then a spinster gets intoxicated, and Penelope's husband returns only to be knocked unconscious by an escaped prisoner. The laughs come fast and furiously as in walks Penelope's uncle, the Bishop of Lax!

Way Back When

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money," — H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

Happenings 10, 20, 30, 40, And 50 Years Ago This Week

Fifty Years Ago

November 17, 1905

Hon. Peter Beyer, our esteemed friend, the successful Real Estate agent and efficient chairman of the Judiciary and Assessment committee and member of the Finance committee of the Board of Village Trustees, who has ably served the people many years as Township Treasurer and Assessor and with all is a most, honored citizen, says: "Every good republican is a democrat at heart. He says Roosevelt is alright and sure of a third term as President of the U.S. The Populists have endorsed his administration. The democrats will nominate him and the Republicans not having any other wellknown Democrats in their ranks will have to suffer an ignominious defeat at the polls." Well, neighbor, we'll not be sorry if your prophecy comes true, but we think Mr. Roosevelt will decline further political honors and continue to rise to fame as President of Harvard College.

Mr. William Ahlgrim and Miss Mamie Francis Killeen were married November 13. The wedding gifts were expensive and showed in what high esteem the recipients were held. The bride is a Chicago girl but has spent part of each summer the past six years in Palatine and Lake Zurich. During these visits the people here have grown to admire her character and to realize there are few who have such a sweet disposition. Mr. Ahlgrim has lived here (Palatine) all his life. Everyone knows him to be an upright, fearless, conscientious young man who has a bright future before him. About a year ago himself and brother John Fink, opened a general merchan dise store in Lake Zurich where they are meeting great success.

Forty Years Ago

November 19, 1915

A Chalmers "6" car 1916 model can be bought cheap at the Triangle Garage. Bill Wells and three other singers of Half Day, were returning home from an engagement in Chicago last Friday night. They were speeding up pretty lively when they crossed the Allison bridge on Milwaukee Ave. The car swayed right and left, off and on the concrete road three times, then struck a tree head on, keeled over in a badly wrecked condition. Two wheels were gone. The owner-driver and one of the passengers were badly bruised, one jumped before the accident and escaped serious injury; but Enock Nelson, who sat in the back seat was instantly killed by the top bracket penetrating his head. We understand Wells has wrecked his other autos before. Perhaps this will persuade him to become a Prohibitionist or die in the attempt.

Three couples from the Lutheran Church Circles married to make new Heights homes. Miss Alma Schoenbeck, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schoenbeck, and Mr. Herman H. Meier, third son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Meier, were married November 11.

A quiet home wedding took place Nov. 13, when Miss Martha E. Garms, daughter of Mr. Henry Garms, was married to George Heiber. Also on Nov. 13, Miss Bertha Wickenkamp was married to Mr. George Framberg of Des Plaines.

Cupid with his bow and arrow is seemingly making his headquarters in Arlington Heights of late. Last week he was happy as inside of the seven days three weddings were held in this village, which he confidentially informed the editor, has encouraged him greatly. He says that Arlington Heights presents an unusually good field for his efforts as the property owners are so easily pursuaded to build new homes and the only draw back that he has encountered has been the bashfulness of some of the eligible young men and the much advertised high cost of living. To see his friend get married is the best cure for the bashful young man and three weddings in such a short space of time insures a large number of betrothals, so said the man with a bow and arrow. He also said, "I want to thank the merchants of Arlington Heights for the support they have given me by their advertising campaigns that they have been conducting in the Herald The "high-cost-of-living" loses half of its sting, when a young man reads in his home paper the "good buys" a careful housewife can make of the home merchants The attractiveness with which the two local banks tell of the joys of saving, has also been a great help to me." The Herald rejoices over Cupid's successes and hopes Cupid's desires shall be realized until the Heights shall be advertised throughout the country as the town of new homes.

Thirty Years Ago

November 20, 1925

More than 80 miles of 20-foot concrete highways will be built by Cook county in 1926.

The holiday season is soon to open. The days for worry to the postman is fast approaching and the public should be apprised that care be given to all mail matters.

Thanksgiving, Thursday, the 26th Cheer up! Good weather coming

Potatoes, well they are potatoes

Children, keep off the streets.

Newest Woman has emerged in full glory and is one evolutionary step in advance of the New Woman of yesterday, according to Emily Lloyd, beauty expert and head of the National School of Cosmeticians, in an address here.

"The Newest Woman" does as she likes no matter what mere man thinks about it but manages to keep herself incorrigibly femine" said Miss Lloyd. "In her vanity bag there is every virtue except obedience. Where the unvarnished lips of their grandmothers were primly pursed over precise terms like plums, prunes and prisms, the new woman dares to show her teeth, fights for her ideas, and has thrown false modesty to the winds to gain health and freedom.

"She dominates her business environment. A few years ago a man bade good bye to his family after breakfast and went to business. Until evening there was for him no Eve. But today Eve is with him all day long. Into her diurnal boudoir flits the stenographer, dressed and dolled as for dinner. She prattles prettily on a typewriter, half hidden in roses. But this Mademoiselle Paderewski of the standard keyboard is not merely ornamental. Let the president of a bank be absent and the bank goes on as usual. But let the president's perfumed and powdered secretary announce to him that she has a date, imposed probably on his favorite son, and her absence leaves him helpless.

Twenty Years Ago

November 22, 1935

A new tie was formed Saturday, Nov. 16, between the Landmeier and Oehlerking families of Elk Grove township when Miss Margaret Landmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Landmeier, became the bride of Edward Oehlerking, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oehlerking.

A gain in suburban building in October of 215 per cent over last year and of 9 per cent over September, 1935, again indicates that the revival of building in the Chicago region is now firmly grounded and that continued improvement may be depended upon.

Henry Weinrich, aged 94, Arlington's oldest citizen and one of its erly pioneers, died at his home Sunday.

The need of a bank in Arlington Heights is becoming more keenly felt day by day by its citizens and especially its business men. Several business men have asked the Herald to take the initiative which is necessary to bring about the return of a bank.

Palatine has its bomb mystery. About eight o'clock Wednesday night a blast of dynamite quietly but efficiently uplifted a cement wall twenty foot long that served as a fence between the roadway and the burial lot of a prominent Palatine family.

While there was at one time a complaint that hub caps of autos were damaged by the cement, the roadway has since been raised to eliminate the danger.

Four bandits made a midnight call at the White Pines Golf club, Bensenville, last Thursday night an dmade a get away with $25 in cash, clubs, balls, cigarettes and other sundries and incidentally a hearty meal prepared by themselves to boot.

Ten Years Ago

November 23, 1945

The general public woke up Monday to discover their phones were out of service due to a strike that had been ordered by the Illinois Telephone Traffic Union.

Flentie and Behrens, Arlington Heights realtors, believe that the present Arlington business expansion is only a forerunner of what is to come. Mr. Behrens told the Herald that in his estimation Arlington will become a city of 10,000 within three years.

Miss Lorraine Garlisch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Piepenbrink became the bride of Mr Herbert Horn of Bensenville.

The third annual football banquet of Arlington Heights township high school will be held Thursday, November 29.

The Rev. Anthony Bodecker, 74, pastor of St. Mary church, Buffalo Grove died Friday. Rev. Bodecker led the fund raising drive for the building of the Sacred Heart church in Lombard and was its pastor for 22 years.

A second plat approved by the zoning board was for a tract of 66 acres immediately north of the village limits and west of State rd. It is being subdivided by Harry Eckhardt and will be called Pinegate.

A number of business and professional men have purchased lots on the John Allen property on N. Highland. These homes will be of the high type and give that section of town a gold coast of its own.

In The Future

You can get furniture that looks like wrought iron, styled to go with your small daughter's Ginny doll .... A radiant glass electric heater is offered as ideal "for that one room that always stays cold when the rest of the house is warm" ... A vinyl portfolio closes tightly simply by being pressed together with thumb and finger .... Home lights are assured during power failures by a 13-pound nickel-cadmium battery unit; it recharges itself when central power is restored.

Expect Record Crowds At City Auto Show January 7-15

The 1956 Chicago automobile show will extend the area of its position as the nation's greatest when the 48th annual edition is presented at the International Amphitheatre, January 7 through 15.

Officials of the sponsoring Chicago Automobile Trade Association said more domestic and foreign passenger cars and trucks will be displayed in one location at the same time than ever before in United States automotive history.

Use of the new Exposition Hall of the International Amphitheatre adds 180,000 square feet, all at main floor level.

Again this year, the single price of admission will be all-inclusive, covering everything from entrance to the building to seeing the twice-daily stage revue in the main arena, with accommodations for 15,000 spectators, and free protected parking privileges in the 15-acre lot adjoining the Amphitheatre.

Fire Station

One of the issues facing Arlington Heights voters November 19 will be the approval of a fire-engine station to be located on the north side of town. Even a casual examination of the facts reveals that this is not only beneficial to the residents north of the tracks by furnishing them better fire protection, but to all residents in that it will prevent another imminent increase in insurance rates through an adverse change in our classification by the Cook county inspection bureau.

The bureau makes inspections of our fire-fighting facilities for purposes of classification based upon a point system. This, in turn, determines our insurance rates. Back in 1949, based upon a population of approximately 8,600, we were rated class 5. Last summer, based upon a population of about [illegible],000, but with the same fire fighting equipment as we had in [illegible]9, the bureau retrograded us to class 6. Worse yet, we are uncomfortably close, in terms of points, to a class 7 rating.

TO HELP US get back to class 5, the Cook county inspection bureau recommends an additional fire station on the north side of town. This coincides with the recommendation of our own village fire department.

Not infrequently, when fire occurs on the north side of town, the response of our fire department is dangerously hampered by freight trains blocking the track crossings. Another station would eliminate this hazard. The town as a whole would also be better served should several fires occur simultaneously.

Approval of another fire station on the north side will result in better protection to those of us unfortunate enough to suffer from fire; and to all of us in the lower cost of buying fire insurance.

Wants Comptroller

It has been interesting to read the various letters regarding village manager in Arlington Heights appearing in the Fence Post. To me, the most amazing was one in which the author stated "if no one had ever changed the form of government, we would all still be ruled by Kings or by Tribal Chieftans". That is true – we have come a long way here in America. Our forefathers left Europe to get away from one-man rule.

Under the Illinois statute, a city manager is king, tribal chieftan, dictator -- call it what you like -- but, he rules supreme! He actually has more power in his community than the president of the United States has over our nation! Under our statute, there is no "checks and balance" system. Whatever the manager rules is law, and the six elected trustees can do nothing about it.

When a town is governed by elected trustees, you have more of an opportunity for a true democracy. If the people are dissatisfied with the trustees they can go to the polls every other year and vote half of them out. It isn't difficult at all -- it's easy -- ask any defeated candidate.

Yes, it is true that the village board can fire a manager for just cause, but just how long can you keep on firing and hiring? The City Manager's association's list of available high-calibered men is sadly inadequate.

Who is so naive as to believe our present board would leave our village government without adequate full-time leadership, if the referendum is defeated? I have no doubt that a highly-competent business manager or comptroller will be hired to take charge. Our present setup is a fiasco, and the state of affairs in our village is in a turmoil.

The proponents for the city manager system fail to mention the many towns that voted in the city manager form of government but have reverted back to their original, more democratic form. They also fail to mention the many towns who are dismally unhappy under the city manager form of government and are making plans to cast it aside—Elgin, for example.

Under our statute, the city manager act is in reality a violation of our constitution, in that there are no checks and balances. Let's try a business manager or comptroller for awhile. It's better than 6 years of something we might be sorry for!

Yes, we have made progress — let's not revert back to the "Kings of Tribal Chieftains" way of life.

Final Statement

As is often the case, during election campaigns, rumors are circulated about people who have taken a stand. It has come to my attention it is being rumored Forrest Davis will be comptroller if we have one. While I realize most people will know this is not true, I wish to make a statement publicly I would not consider at this time nor any time in the future, any such position with this village. I am definitely not interested in any administrative job with any municipality.

The only reason I have taken a stand on the village manager by state statute issue, is I did not feel the people were being advised of the facts relative to managerial government by state statute in Illinois, and since I do have some knowledge of local village government, I just could not, in good conscience, remain silent.

Having served overseas in World War II to help preserve our way of life, I again enlisted in this campaign to keep our form of government in Arlington Heights. We do not need a change of government just because of the dislike of a few of our officials.

No doubt, there will be other rumors circulated, but I sincerely hope every voter realizes we are voting on one issue only: "Shall we adopt the managerial form of government," by state statute? The people must now make the decision, and we will then abide by the decision of the voters.

If the managerial government is voted down, I can only assure the people of Arlington Heights I will exert every effort to improve our management of village affairs, and no one need worry that we will not have a full time administrator. But, it makes little difference if we call him a manager, chief clerk, comptroller, or administrative assistant, just so we have better management and cooperation of everyone.

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Dear Sir:

I am pleased to respond to your request for an evaluation of the operation of the council-manager plan here in Evanston since I am enthusiastic in my praise for this form of government and how it has been working in Evanston. Moreover, many of the skeptics on our city council and in the city at large are now convinced that this new form provides for a more effective and responsive municipal government.

It should be pointed out that the adoption in November of 1952 by a favorable vote of 22,964 to 12,839 was in no sense a reform movement nor an attempt to secure a magical slashing of expenditure. Evanston has been proud of the good government it has maintained and this new plan was an insurance policy for the continuation of good government and for its possible improvement.

ACCORDINGLY, the improvements noted in the past year under our first city manager are truly significant since the caliber of service and performancy was already at a high level. Since 70 per cent of our budget goes to pay the people that work for the city, our recent emphasis on improvement of personnel administration has been noted by the city council with great interest. A position classification and pay plan has been developed and adopted, two in-service training courses have been undertaken for supervisory personnel, and a full-range of personnel services has been inaugurated.

The Evanston city council is also appreciative of the better communications that have been noted during the past year. The use of agendas for council meetings; the publication and distribution of an attractive pamphlet including a roster of officers and an enumeration of services; the development of a comprehensive budget report outlining for the first time the purposes and cost of various services in a clear manner; and the issue of a weekly newsletter from the City Hall all have brought our city government closer to our people.

We have noted also an improvement in employee morale through the emphasis of personnel administration, through better communications and through the recent recognition of 59 employees who have accumulated more than 25 years of loyal and efficient service.

IN CLOSING I wish to give you the following facts; as to our municipal tax rate as published and set for 3 years were as follows:

1952 — .91 per 100
1953 — 1.0184 per 100
1954 — 1.0281 per 100

The slight increase in our rate was the result of bond and interest levys for a bond issue voted by referendum of the citizens of Evanston, which became effective in '53 levy.

This had nothing to do with the operation of the city manager. As a matter of fact, the actual operations cost for the city have been reduced. Another factor is that our city manager was not appointed until December 1953 although the plan became effective in April 1953.

I am stating the above in answer to certain misleading statements, which I understand from you, have been made concerning Evanston's fiscal affairs.

John R. Kimbark

Scared To Pieces

Nothing flatters me quite as much as an appeal to my reason. Makes me a sucker for any emotional hay-maker that follows. That's why I was floored by a wonderfully illiterate "information sheet . . . prepared, printed at personal expenses, and mailed by private funds by a group of Arlington Heights residents interested in retaining self government in our village."

"Don't be fooled," my modestly anonymous neighbors advised me. "Before throwing this folder away," they suggested with great foresight, "take a few minutes to read it."

So I did. It took me just one minute and thrity-seven seconds. Slow reader, too.

Well, the burden of their carefully reasoned appeal ran about as follows: "Watch it, bud, or you'll find a city manager under your bed." Not quite as uncouth as that, understand, but when someone whispers to me in bold face letters a half-inch high, I get a ringing in my ears. Red is a scary color, after all, and when you edge it in black, there's no telling where this city manager plan may lead us!

NO TELLING? On the contrary. These anonymous guardians of my conscience told me plenty. They told me that a city manager would "change" the form of government. (Everybody knows we don't want any changes made.) They invoke the Constitution of the United States. They warned me against the "unlimited authority" of a local Hitler. They threatened me with the international city managers' association of Chicago. (You can't say that doesn't sound sinister!)

Then they hit me where it really hurt. I caught a sizzling left-cross right on my sense of greed. Higher taxes. That's what they hit me with! I may never walk upright again.

Oh, well, their "information sheet" did contain one bit of information —that the polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Saturday. Now I have a word of advice for these nameless neighbors of mine. They won't even get to vote if they don't come up with their right names. Check your driver's license, fellas! You'll find your name on the top line.

That's what I did. My name is

Budget Facts

Gentlemen:

In reply to the Fence Post letter of Village Trustee Forrest Davis published last week, it is true that the $100,000 item included in the budget of the Village Board for the current fiscal year for off-street parking does not represent an expenditure of general funds, since it must be paid off by parking meter receipts. Hence this amount was not "saved" by the Village Manager in his recommended budget. A number of people have been misled by the inclusion of this item in the budget by the majority of the Board. As Mr. Davis knows, or should know, this item should not have been included in the Board's budget for two reasons: (1) because the amount was not to be spent in the current fiscal year, and (2) because it represented the expenditure of special funds. But let's omit this $100,000 item from the Board's budget and take a look at the budget recommended by the Village Manager and the budget adopted by a majority of the Board, for these illustrate the difference between the competent service provided by a trained Village Manager and the so-called "good management" Mr. Davis asks us to return to.

For the current fiscal year the Village Manager recommended a budget for the general corporate fund amounting to $302,868. This was a liberal budget, providing for an extra policeman and salary increases for many employees. It did not include an additional $27,000 available from the State as a motor fuel tax rebate, since this amount was not an expenditure of Village funds. The Village Manager had discovered this rebate had not been collected from the State in the two previous years due to oversight by Village officials. (This is another example of the Village Manager saving the Village many thousands of dollars, Mr. Davis.) The Village Manager's budget was drawn up only after the department heads were consulted and on many items their requests were raised. More than 100 hours of work by the Village Manager went into the preparation of this budget. When it was presented, Village Trustee John Hoover commented that the Village Manager had done an outstanding job.

Now compare what happened when the Village Board took over. In about two hours' time the Board went through all twenty pages of the budget, raising appropriations right and left and finally coming up with a budget of $446,809 for the general corporate fund (or $346,809 after deducting the $100,000 item referred to above). The majority of the board increased 36 items recommended by the Village Manager and reduced only 5, resulting in increased appropriations of $43,941. This amount was substantially more than the village had available to spend in the current year. You can talk all you want, Mr. Davis, about village manager form of government being more costly, but the record shows you are wrong.

We have also been warned that village manager form of government is not really democratic. Then I ask why the following nearby towns have adopted the statutory form in recent years: Brookfield, Deerfield, Elgin, Elmhurst, Elmwood Park, Evanston, Homewood, Northbrook, Oak Lawn, Oak Park, and Woodstock.

This list can be supplemented by the other Chicago suburbs that have a village manager by ordinance: Deerfield, Glencoe, Glenview, Hinsdale, Kenilworth, LaGrange, Maywood, Park Forest, Park Ridge, Riverside, Rochelle, Westchester, Western Springs, Wilmette, and Winnetka. Has anyone ever heard a resident of one of these towns complain about their village manager or the loss of liberty suffered? The truth is Arlington Heights has fallen behind these other communities in adopting good government. It is time the voters do something about it.

Yours very truly,
Edwin W. Bragdon

A Look At Facts

In his recent letter to the Fence Post, Floyd T. Fulle states that if the village manager referendum on November 19 carries, "Arlington Heights will have a new 'form' of government," and he implies that this will mean we are somehow abandoning our constitutionally and traditionally established form of government.

Mr. Fulle's letter states only his own conclusions and gives nothing upon which they can be supported. The question upon which we will vote on November 19 is, of course, a very important one and every aspect of the proposition should be considered when we cast our vote.

I suppose it could be argued back and forth that it is or is not a change in "form." There is nothing important in that question one way or the other. We had a change in "form" of government around here in 1776, and that wasn't bad.

Whatever we decide on this "form of government" question, we should keep in mind the fact that the managerial form of municipal government is established and authorized by the legislature and the law of the State of Illinois all within the authority and limitations of the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State.

Certainly the opinions of our neighbors should be considered, but perhaps if we take a look at the law itself, we will be aided in drawing our own conclusions on the merit of Mr. Fulle's implication that there is something bad about a change in "form" of local government.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN if most of us vote "yes" on the village manager referendum?

First, the board of trustees shall appoint a village manager. Section 20-7 of the Illinois cities and villages act provides:

"The council or board of trustees, as the case may be, shall appoint a municipal manager, who shall be the administrative head of the municipal government and who shall be responsible for the efficient administration of all departments. He shall be appointed without regard to his political beliefs and need not be a resident of the municipality when appointed. The manager shall be appointed for an indefinite term. In the case of the absence or disability of the manager, the council or village board may designate a qualified administrative officer of the municipality to perform the duties of the manager during such absence of disability. The manager may at any time be removed from office by a majority vote of the members of the council or the board."

WHAT ARE THE POWERS and duties of the manager? Section 20-7 continues to provide:

"The powers and duties of the manager shall be:

(1) To enforce the laws and ordinances within the municipality;

(2) To appoint and remove all directors of departments. No appointment shall be made upon any basis other than that of merit and fitness;

(3) To exercise control of all departments and divisions thereof created in this article, or that may be created by the council or board of trustees.

(4) If the municipality was subject to the provisions of article 9 at the time of adoption of this article, to appoint and remove all officers who are not required to be elected by article 9 of this article.

(5) To have all the powers and exercise all the duties granted elsewhere in this act to municipal clerks and comptrollers with respect to the preparation of a report of estimated funds necessary to defray the expenses of the municipality for the fiscal year for the consideration of the corporate authorities prior to the preparation of the annual appropriation ordinance;

(6) To attend all meetings of the council or board of trustees with the right to take part in the discussions, but with no right to vote;

(7) To recommend to the council or board of trustees for adoption such measures as he may deem necessary or expedient;

(8) To perform such other duties as may be prescribed by this article or may be required of him by ordinance or resolution of the board of trustees or council.

WHAT IS THE EFFECT of a "yes" vote on the functions of the village board of trustees? Section 20-6 provides:

"The powers of the council or board shall be purely legislative except as may be otherwise provided by any other act or by any article of this act other than articles 9 or 19. The executive and administrative powers conferred on the commissioners by Article 19 shall only be exercised when delegated to the appointive officers provided in this Article.

"The council or board shall approve for payment all expenses and liabilities of the municipality."

Mr. Fulle says that the passage of the referendum will tend "to subordinate elected officials to that of an appointed official". I suggest we re-read the sections of the law quoted above and try to find just where this observation is justified.

AS A FINAL conclusion, Mr. Fulle implies that the village manager form of government will "throw off the balance between elected executives and elected legislature as defined in the Constitution of the United States". Let's look at this proposition. We know that our government is established on the pattern that there shall be three major departments, each independent of the other, i.e., executive, legislative and judicial. We elect the legislature and we elect the chief executive. However, the executive does appoint and delegate duties to many others. For example, the secretary of state, secretary of agriculture, postmaster general, etc. These executives are not elected, nor are the great many others in national, state and city government who perform executive functions.

Look again at the statute quoted above. The village board still has its legislative functions unimpaired. The manager administers and enforces the enactments and policies of the board of trustees. The board president continues his executive capacity.

MR. FULLE raises a purely academic point. So far as control of our local government affairs goes, the law specifically states (1) "the board shall approve for payment all expenses and liabilities of the municipality" and (2) that "the manager may at any time be removed from office by a majority vote of the members of the board".

The net result is that control and legislative functions remain where they always have been and should be – with the people's elected representatives – and the task of getting the actual work done is in the hands of a trained administrator on the job full time.

Guilty Drivers

Many times this year our school bus drivers have reported accidents and near tragedies that occur on U. S. Highway No. 12 in our district. Cars travel at a high speed on this highway and generally disregard the law requiring a vehicle to stop for a school bus that is stopped for loading and unloading children.

Mrs. Ralph Boyer, who resides on Route 12, rode a school bus each day during the week of October 17-21, 1955, and made a record of a number of such violations. These are her findings:

Cars involved in traffic violations on Route 12, Palatine Township, Cook County, Illinois, during the week of October 17-21, 1955.

Monday, October 17, 2:50 bus: 1 car—license 1807469; 3 other cars.

Tuesday, October 18, 8:18 bus from Palatine: 2 cars; 1 Salvation Army truck; 1 car—license 911481—1955 Pontiac, green and cream.

WEDNESDAY, October 19, 7:35 bus from Palatine:

We respectfully ask that you do everything in your power to use your influence in helping to correct the hazardous situation on Rte. 12. We believe that it is most urgent that action be taken as early as possible. Our records show clearly that the life of a child is at stake.

We All Helped

I would like to call to your attention an item which appeared in your DuPage Register Nov. 3, 1955. It had to do with a project which several organizations strived for, but your paper gives one man the credit for completion. It was really a community project.

I have in my office a copy of a petition with the signatures of 60 people of Addison urging that the state install traffic lights at the intersection of Lake st. and Addison rd. in our community. I am a member of the Addison chamber of commerce and was on a special committee backing the drive for lights.

This petition was addressed to R. T. Cash, Traffic division, Illinois State Highway dept., Elgin, and dated by me May 26, 1954. Would you kindly correct the impression given in your paper for this was the wrong way to publicize something that was really a community project.

In Des Plaines, Too

In big red scare type we are warned, "don't be fooled." It seems somebody is trying pretty desperately to defeat the village manager plan. Just who it is we don't know because the scare propaganda was unsigned.

The folder is the same one distributed in Des Plaines, with "Arlington Heights" imprinted in place of Des Plaines.

But the propaganda's origin is no more dubious than its "message." "We must retain self government," it shrieks. Who's trying to take it away? Under the manager plan, the village board retains all its legislative power and is the final authority for the conduct of village business.

Furthermore, the board members, acting as the elected representatives of the people, can fire the village manager any time his actions displease them.

UNDER SUCH a setup how can anyone claim the manager plan is dictatorial, undemocratic or bureaucratic? An estimated 25,000,000 of our fellow Americans are now living under the manager plan. Does anyone actually suggest that they voted "dictatorship", upon themselves?

If anything, the greater efficiency and economy of the manager plan has given them a greater incentive to interest themselves in their local governments. One of the manager's major functions is to keep the people informed about their government through periodic reports to the village board.

Furthermore, with a full-time manager in the village hall you can call and get a prompt answer to your problem. Try that under the old setup, in which there were 2 classes of citizens in Arlington Heights —the "oldtimers" with an "in," and the newcomers or "commuters."

THE FOLDER cites the constitution and warns that the manager plan will subordinate elected to appointed officials. Actually, it separates the legislative and executive branches, as provided for in the constitution. In doing so it frees the trustees from a lot of administrative detail they haven't time for, anyway.

And just where they got the notion the manager plan means higher taxes nobody can say. Comparative tax figures are meaningless unless they are on a per capita basis. A survey in Michigan shows the cost of government services in manager towns is 15 per cent lower. The surest way for a manager to lose his job is to spend more than the people deem necessary, and the board holds the purse strings, anyway.

JUST ONE MORE of the folder's falsifications. It cites the "vast power exerted by the international city managers' association." According to Clarence Ridley, executive director of the association, it is a professional organization dedicated to the job of keeping its manager-members informed on how they can improve their administrations and cut costs.

Ridley said I could quote him, and added: "Our association has never spent a nickel on promoting the manager plan of government in any community. We lean over backwards to avoid meddling in local affairs and we don't exert any sort of sinister 'vast power.'"

Who Is It

On behalf of the many Arlington Heighters who must feel as I do, I want to express my indignation and resentment at the anonymous brochure headed "Don't Be Fooled."

If that was an honest statement of an honest opinion, why was it unsigned? Some one is spending a lot of money on a barrage of misstatements and half truths. Who? And why?

If we have elected honest and personally disinterested trustees, surely they can be trusted to select an able and competent city manager.

IF WE HAVE BEEN unwise in our selection of trustees, a city manager will solve the problem until we can rectify the mistake at the next election.

Any large, thriving business has a manager operating under a board of directors for the good of the stockholders. Arlington Heights is big business and as stockholders in it we are entitled to demand proper management.

Under the statute form of city manager we are not relinquishing any rights. We are just demanding and receiving a cohesive and efficient management for our "business."

Fire Station

One of the issues facing Arlington Heights voters November 19 will be the approval of a fire-engine station to be located on the north side of town. Even a casual examination of the facts reveals that this is not only beneficial to the residents north of the tracks by furnishing them better fire protection, but to all residents in that it will prevent another imminent increase in insurance rates through an adverse change in our classification by the Cook county inspection bureau.

The bureau makes inspections of our fire-fighting facilities for purposes of classification based upon a point system. This, in turn, determines our insurance rates. Back in 1949, based upon a population of approximately 8,600, we were rated class 5. Last summer, based upon a population of about [illegible],000, but with the same fire fighting equipment as we had in [illegible]9, the bureau retrograded us to class 6. Worse yet, we are uncomfortably close, in terms of points, to a class 7 rating.

TO HELP US get back to class 5, the Cook county inspection bureau recommends an additional fire station on the north side of town. This coincides with the recommendation of our own village fire department.

Not infrequently, when fire occurs on the north side of town, the response of our fire department is dangerously hampered by freight trains blocking the track crossings. Another station would eliminate this hazard. The town as a whole would also be better served should several fires occur simultaneously.

Approval of another fire station on the north side will result in better protection to those of us unfortunate enough to suffer from fire; and to all of us in the lower cost of buying fire insurance.

Wants Comptroller

It has been interesting to read the various letters regarding village manager in Arlington Heights appearing in the Fence Post. To me, the most amazing was one in which the author stated "if no one had ever changed the form of government, we would all still be ruled by Kings or by Tribal Chieftans". That is true – we have come a long way here in America. Our forefathers left Europe to get away from one-man rule.

Under the Illinois statute, a city manager is king, tribal chieftan, dictator -- call it what you like -- but, he rules supreme! He actually has more power in his community than the president of the United States has over our nation! Under our statute, there is no "checks and balance" system. Whatever the manager rules is law, and the six elected trustees can do nothing about it.

When a town is governed by elected trustees, you have more of an opportunity for a true democracy. If the people are dissatisfied with the trustees they can go to the polls every other year and vote half of them out. It isn't difficult at all -- it's easy -- ask any defeated candidate.

Yes, it is true that the village board can fire a manager for just cause, but just how long can you keep on firing and hiring? The City Manager's association's list of available high-calibered men is sadly inadequate.

Who is so naive as to believe our present board would leave our village government without adequate full-time leadership, if the referendum is defeated? I have no doubt that a highly-competent business manager or comptroller will be hired to take charge. Our present setup is a fiasco, and the state of affairs in our village is in a turmoil.

The proponents for the city manager system fail to mention the many towns that voted in the city manager form of government but have reverted back to their original, more democratic form. They also fail to mention the many towns who are dismally unhappy under the city manager form of government and are making plans to cast it aside—Elgin, for example.

Under our statute, the city manager act is in reality a violation of our constitution, in that there are no checks and balances. Let's try a business manager or comptroller for awhile. It's better than 6 years of something we might be sorry for!

Yes, we have made progress — let's not revert back to the "Kings of Tribal Chieftains" way of life.

Final Statement

As is often the case, during election campaigns, rumors are circulated about people who have taken a stand. It has come to my attention it is being rumored Forrest Davis will be comptroller if we have one. While I realize most people will know this is not true, I wish to make a statement publicly I would not consider at this time nor any time in the future, any such position with this village. I am definitely not interested in any administrative job with any municipality.

The only reason I have taken a stand on the village manager by state statute issue, is I did not feel the people were being advised of the facts relative to managerial government by state statute in Illinois, and since I do have some knowledge of local village government, I just could not, in good conscience, remain silent.

Having served overseas in World War II to help preserve our way of life, I again enlisted in this campaign to keep our form of government in Arlington Heights. We do not need a change of government just because of the dislike of a few of our officials.

No doubt, there will be other rumors circulated, but I sincerely hope every voter realizes we are voting on one issue only: "Shall we adopt the managerial form of government," by state statute? The people must now make the decision, and we will then abide by the decision of the voters.

If the managerial government is voted down, I can only assure the people of Arlington Heights I will exert every effort to improve our management of village affairs, and no one need worry that we will not have a full time administrator. But, it makes little difference if we call him a manager, chief clerk, comptroller, or administrative assistant, just so we have better management and cooperation of everyone.

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc., Arlington Heights, Ill.

Dear Sir:

I am pleased to respond to your request for an evaluation of the operation of the council-manager plan here in Evanston since I am enthusiastic in my praise for this form of government and how it has been working in Evanston. Moreover, many of the skeptics on our city council and in the city at large are now convinced that this new form provides for a more effective and responsive municipal government.

It should be pointed out that the adoption in November of 1952 by a favorable vote of 22,964 to 12,839 was in no sense a reform movement nor an attempt to secure a magical slashing of expenditure. Evanston has been proud of the good government it has maintained and this new plan was an insurance policy for the continuation of good government and for its possible improvement.

ACCORDINGLY, the improvements noted in the past year under our first city manager are truly significant since the caliber of service and performancy was already at a high level. Since 70 per cent of our budget goes to pay the people that work for the city, our recent emphasis on improvement of personnel administration has been noted by the city council with great interest. A position classification and pay plan has been developed and adopted, two in-service training courses have been undertaken for supervisory personnel, and a full-range of personnel services has been inaugurated.

The Evanston city council is also appreciative of the better communications that have been noted during the past year. The use of agendas for council meetings; the publication and distribution of an attractive pamphlet including a roster of officers and an enumeration of services; the development of a comprehensive budget report outlining for the first time the purposes and cost of various services in a clear manner; and the issue of a weekly newsletter from the City Hall all have brought our city government closer to our people.

We have noted also an improvement in employee morale through the emphasis of personnel administration, through better communications and through the recent recognition of 59 employees who have accumulated more than 25 years of loyal and efficient service.

IN CLOSING I wish to give you the following facts; as to our municipal tax rate as published and set for 3 years were as follows:

1952 — .91 per 100
1953 — 1.0184 per 100
1954 — 1.0281 per 100

The slight increase in our rate was the result of bond and interest levys for a bond issue voted by referendum of the citizens of Evanston, which became effective in '53 levy.

This had nothing to do with the operation of the city manager. As a matter of fact, the actual operations cost for the city have been reduced. Another factor is that our city manager was not appointed until December 1953 although the plan became effective in April 1953.

I am stating the above in answer to certain misleading statements, which I understand from you, have been made concerning Evanston's fiscal affairs.

John R. Kimbark

Scared To Pieces

Nothing flatters me quite as much as an appeal to my reason. Makes me a sucker for any emotional hay-maker that follows. That's why I was floored by a wonderfully illiterate "information sheet . . . prepared, printed at personal expenses, and mailed by private funds by a group of Arlington Heights residents interested in retaining self government in our village."

"Don't be fooled," my modestly anonymous neighbors advised me. "Before throwing this folder away," they suggested with great foresight, "take a few minutes to read it."

So I did. It took me just one minute and thirty-seven seconds. Slow reader, too.

Well, the burden of their carefully reasoned appeal ran about as follows: "Watch it, bud, or you'll find a city manager under your bed." Not quite as uncouth as that, understand, but when someone whispers to me in bold face letters a half-inch high, I get a ringing in my ears. Red is a scary color, after all, and when you edge it in black, there's no telling where this city manager plan may lead us!

NO TELLING? On the contrary. These anonymous guardians of my conscience told me plenty. They told me that a city manager would "change" the form of government. (Everybody knows we don't want any changes made.) They invoke the Constitution of the United States. They warned me against the "unlimited authority" of a local Hitler. They threatened me with the international city managers' association of Chicago. (You can't say that doesn't sound sinister!)

Then they hit me where it really hurt. I caught a sizzling left-cross right on my sense of greed .Higher taxes. That's what they hit me with! I may never walk upright again.

Oh, well, their "information sheet" did contain one bit of information —that the polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. next Saturday. Now I have a word of advice for these nameless neighbors of mine. They won't even get to vote if they don't come up with their right names. Check your driver's license, fellas! You'll find your name on the top line.

That's what I did. My name is

Budget Facts

Gentlemen:

In reply to the Fence Post letter of Village Trustee Forrest Davis published last week, it is true that the $100,000 item included in the budget of the Village Board for the current fiscal year for off-street parking does not represent an expenditure of general funds, since it must be paid off by parking meter receipts. Hence this amount was not "saved" by the Village Manager in his recommended budget. A number of people have been misled by the inclusion of this item in the budget by the majority of the Board. As Mr. Davis knows, or should know, this item should not have been included in the Board's budget for two reasons: (1) because the amount was not to be spent in the current fiscal year, and (2) because it represented the expenditure of special funds. But let's omit this $100,000 item from the Board's budget and take a look at the budget recommended by the Village Manager and the budget adopted by a majority of the Board, for these illustrate the difference between the competent service provided by a trained Village Manager and the so-called "good management" Mr. Davis asks us to return to.

For the current fiscal year the Village Manager recommended a budget for the general corporate fund amounting to $302,868. This was a liberal budget, providing for an extra policeman and salary increases for many employees. It did not include an additional $27,000 available from the State as a motor fuel tax rebate, since this amount was not an expenditure of Village funds. The Village Manager had discovered this rebate had not been collected from the State in the two previous years due to oversight by Village officials. (This is another example of the Village Manager saving the Village many thousands of dollars, Mr. Davis.) The Village Manager's budget was drawn up only after the department heads were consulted and on many items their requests were raised. More than 100 hours of work by the Village Manager went into the preparation of this budget. When it was presented, Village Trustee John Hoover commented that the Village Manager had done an outstanding job.

Now compare what happened when the Village Board took over. In about two hours' time the Board went through all twenty pages of the budget, raising appropriations right and left and finally coming up with a budget of $446,809 for the general corporate fund (or $346,809 after deducting the $100,000 item referred to above). The majority of the board increased 36 items recommended by the Village Manager and reduced only 5, resulting in increased appropriations of $43,941. This amount was substantially more than the village had available to spend in the current year. You can talk all you want, Mr. Davis, about village manager form of government being more costly, but the record shows you are wrong.

We have also been warned that village manager form of government is not really democratic. Then I ask why the following nearby towns have adopted the statutory form in recent years: Brookfield, Deerfield, Elgin, Elmhurst, Elmwood Park, Evanston, Homewood, Northbrook, Oak Lawn, Oak Park, and Woodstock.

This list can be supplemented by the other Chicago suburbs that have a village manager by ordinance: Deerfield, Glencoe, Glenview, Hinsdale, Kenilworth, LaGrange, Maywood, Park Forest, Park Ridge, Riverside, Rochelle, Westchester, Western Springs, Wilmette, and Winnetka. Has anyone ever heard a resident of one of these towns complain about their village manager or the loss of liberty suffered? The truth is Arlington Heights has fallen behind these other communities in adopting good government. It is time the voters do something about it.

Yours very truly,
Edwin W. Bragdon

A Look At Facts

In his recent letter to the Fence Post, Floyd T. Fulle states that if the village manager referendum on November 19 carries. "Arlington Heights will have a new 'form' of government," and he implies that this will mean we are somehow abandoning our constitutionally and traditionally established form of government.

Mr. Fulle's letter states only his own conclusions and gives nothing upon which they can be supported. The question upon which we will vote on November 19 is, of course, a very important one and every aspect of the proposition should be considered when we cast our vote.

I suppose it could be argued back and forth that it is or is not a change in "form." There is nothing important in that question one way or the other. We had a change in "form" of government around here in 1776, and that wasn't bad.

Whatever we decide on this "form of government" question, we should keep in mind the fact that the managerial form of municipal government is established and authorized by the legislature and the law of the State of Illinois all within the authority and limitations of the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State.

Certainly the opinions of our neighbors should be considered, but perhaps if we take a look at the law itself, we will be aided in drawing our own conclusions on the merit of Mr. Fulle's implication that there is something bad about a change in "form" of local government.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN if most of us vote "yes" on the village manager referendum?

First, the board of trustees shall appoint a village manager. Section 20-7 of the Illinois cities and villages act provides:

"The council or board of trustees, as the case may be, shall appoint a municipal manager, who shall be the administrative head of the municipal government and who shall be responsible for the efficient administration of all departments. He shall be appointed without regard to his political beliefs and need not be a resident of the municipality when appointed. The manager shall be appointed for an indefinite term. In the case of the absence or disability of the manager, the council or village board may designate a qualified administrative officer of the municipality to perform the duties of the manager during such absence of disability. The manager may at any time be removed from office by a majority vote of the members of the council or the board."

WHAT ARE THE POWERS and duties of the manager? Section 20-7 continues to provide:

"The powers and duties of the manager shall be:

(1) To enforce the laws and ordinances within the municipality;

(2) To appoint and remove all directors of departments. No appointment shall be made upon any basis other than that of merit and fitness;

(3) To exercise control of all departments and divisions thereof created in this article, or that may be created by the council or board of trustees.

(4) If the municipality was subject to the provisions of article 9 at the time of adoption of this article, to appoint and remove all officers who are not required to be elected by article 9 of this article.

(5) To have all the powers and exercise all the duties granted elsewhere in this act to municipal clerks and comptrollers with respect to the preparation of a report of estimated funds necessary to defray the expenses of the municipality for the fiscal year for the consideration of the corporate authorities prior to the preparation of the annual appropriation ordinance;

(6) To attend all meetings of the council or board of trustees with the right to take part in the discussions, but with no right to vote;

(7) To recommend to the council or board of trustees for adoption such measures as he may deem necessary or expedient;

(8) To perform such other duties as may be prescribed by this article or may be required of him by ordinance or resolution of the board of trustees or council.

WHAT IS THE EFFECT of a "yes" vote on the functions of the village board of trustees? Section 20-6 provides:

"The powers of the council or board shall be purely legislative except as may be otherwise provided by any other act or by any article of this act other than articles 9 or 19. The executive and administrative powers conferred on the commissioners by Article 19 shall only be exercised when delegated to the appointive officers provided in this Article.

"The council or board shall approve for payment all expenses and liabilities of the municipality."

Mr. Fulle says that the passage of the referendum will tend "to subordinate elected officials to that of an appointed official". I suggest we re-read the sections of the law quoted above and try to find just where this observation is justified.

AS A FINAL conclusion, Mr. Fulle implies that the village manager form of government will "throw off the balance between elected executives and elected legislature as defined in the Constitution of the United States". Let's look at this proposition. We know that our government is established on the pattern that there shall be three major departments, each independent of the other, i.e., executive, legislative and judicial. We elect the legislature and we elect the chief executive. However, the executive does appoint and delegate duties to many others. For example, the secretary of state, secretary of agriculture, postmaster general, etc. These executives are not elected, nor are the great many others in national, state and city government who perform executive functions.

Look again at the statute quoted above. The village board still has its legislative functions unimpaired. The manager administers and enforces the enactments and policies of the board of trustees. The board president continues his executive capacity.

MR. FULLE raises a purely academic point. So far as control of our local government affairs goes, the law specifically states (1) "the board shall approve for payment all expenses and liabilities of the municipality" and (2) that "the manager may at any time be removed from office by a majority vote of the members of the board".

The net result is that control and legislative functions remain where they always have been and should be – with the people's elected representatives -- and the task of getting the actual work done is in the hands of a trained administrator on the job full time.

Guilty Drivers

Many times this year our school bus drivers have reported accidents and near tragedies that occur on U. S. Highway No. 12 in our district. Cars travel at a high speed on this highway and generally disregard the law requiring a vehicle to stop for a school bus that is stopped for loading and unloading children.

Mrs. Ralph Boyer, who resides on Route 12, rode a school bus each day during the week of October 17-21, 1955, and made a record of a number of such violations. These are her findings:

Cars involved in traffic violations on Route 12, Palatine Township, Cook County, Illinois, during the week of October 17-21, 1955.

Monday, October 17, 2:50 bus: 1 car—license 1807469; 3 other cars.

We respectfully ask that you do everything in your power to use your influence in helping to correct the hazardous situation on Rte. 12. We believe that it is most urgent that action be taken as early as possible. Our records show clearly that the life of a child is at stake.

We All Helped

I would like to call to your attention an item which appeared in your DuPage Register Nov. 3, 1955. It had to do with a project which several organizations strived for, but your paper gives one man the credit for completion. It was really a community project. ject.

I have in my office a copy of a petition with the signatures of 60 people of Addison urging that the state install traffic lights at the intersection of Lake st. and Addison rd. in our community. I am a member of the Addison chamber of commerce and was on a special committee backing the drive for lights.

This petition was addressed to R. T. Cash, Traffic division, Illinois State Highway dept., Elgin, and dated by me May 26, 1954. Would you kindly correct the impression given in your paper for this was the wrong way to publicize something that was really a community project.

In Des Plaines, Too

In big red scare type we are warned, "don't be fooled." It seems somebody is trying pretty desperately to defeat the village manager plan. Just who it is we don't know because the scare propaganda was unsigned.

The folder is the same one distributed in Des Plaines, with "Arlington Heights" imprinted in place of Des Plaines.

But the propaganda's origin is no more dubious than its "message." "We must retain self government," it shrieks. Who's trying to take it away? Under the manager plan, the village board retains all its legislative power and is the final authority for the conduct of village business.

Furthermore, the board members, acting as the elected representatives of the people, can fire the village manager any time his actions displease them.

UNDER SUCH a setup how can anyone claim the manager plan is dictatorial, undemocratic or bureaucratic? An estimated 25,000,000 of our fellow Americans are now living under the manager plan. Does anyone actually suggest that they voted "dictatorship", upon themselves?

If anything, the greater efficiency and economy of the manager plan has given them a greater incentive to interest themselves in their local governments. One of the manager's major functions is to keep the people informed about their government through periodic reports to the village board.

Furthermore, with a full-time manager in the village hall you can call and get a prompt answer to your problem. Try that under the old setup, in which there were 2 classes of citizens in Arlington Heights —the "oldtimers" with an "in," and the newcomers or "commuters."

THE FOLDER cites the constitution and warns that the manager plan will subordinate elected to appointed officials. Actually, it separates the legislative and executive branches, as provided for in the constitution. In doing so it frees the trustees from a lot of administrative detail they haven't time for, anyway.

And just where they got the notion the manager plan means higher taxes nobody can say. Comparative tax figures are meaningless unless they are on a per capita basis. A survey in Michigan shows the cost of government services in manager towns is 15 per cent lower. The surest way for a manager to lose his job is to spend more than the people deem necessary, and the board holds the purse strings, anyway.

JUST ONE MORE of the folder's falsifications. It cites the "vast power exerted by the international city managers' association." According to Clarence Ridley, executive director of the association, it is a professional organization dedicated to the job of keeping its manager-members informed on how they can improve their administrations and cut costs.

Ridley said I could quote him, and added:"Our association has never spent a nickel on promoting the manager plan of government in any community. We lean over backwards to avoid meddling in local affairs and we don't exert any sort of sinister 'vast power.'"

Who Is It

On behalf of the many Arlington Heighters who must feel as I do, I want to express my indignation and resentment at the anonymous brochure headed "Don't Be Fooled."

If that was an honest statement of an honest opinion, why was it unsigned? Some one is spending a lot of money on a barrage of misstatements and half truths. Who? And why?

If we have elected honest and personally disinterested trustees, surely they can be trusted to select an able and competent city manager.

IF WE HAVE BEEN unwise in our selection of trustees, a city manager will solve the problem until we can rectify the mistake at the next election.

Any large, thriving business has a manager operating under a board of directors for the good of the stockholders. Arlington Heights is big business and as stockholders in it we are entitled to demand proper management.

Under the statute form of city manager we are not relinquishing any rights. We are just demanding and receiving a cohesive and efficient management for our "business."

Cook County Farm Bureau Again Leads Nation

With a record high membership of 202,313 farmer members, Illinois leads all other state Farm Bureau organizations, it was reported by Charles S. Mayfield, secretary of organization for the Illinois agricultural association.

Mayfield said the 202,313 farmer members enables the statewide farm bureau organization to hold its position as the largest state farm organization in the United States.

COUNTIES with the largest number of new members and the organization man in charge were: Cook, C. H. Mills, Arlington Heights, 306; Lake, Frank Thomas, Grayslake, 249; McHenry, Virgil Smith, Woodstock, 242; Henry, Hans Hiltbrand, Cambridge, 170; and Kane, G. W. Blanchard, Geneva, 152.

Counties and leaders in signing new farm bureau members during 1955 and their percentages of new member quota were: Jackson, Howard J. Struck, Murphysboro, 235 per cent; Marshall-Putnam, Erle A. Derry, Henry, 208 per cent; St. Clair, Ray Fuller, Belleville, 180 per cent; Cook, C. H. Mills, Arlington Heights, 173 per cent, and Tazewell, Howard Dagley, Pekin, 173 per cent.

The 10 top counties and their total memberships are: Cook, 5,840; McLean, 4,800; LaSalle, 4,243; Champaign, 4,128; Will, 4,125; Whiteside, 3,550; Henry, 3,503; Iroquois, 3,495; Livingston, 3,374; and DeKalb, 3,308.

Future Homes Holds Halloween Party Table Tennis League

Future Homes 4-H club held its Halloween party October 31 at the home of Susan Kapper. Members played games including "pass the corn kernel" and pantomimes. Later in the evening, refreshments were served.

While the girls were eating, Mary Kaiser read the book "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

Adequate Protein Diet For All Could Solve Surpluses

An adequate protein diet for every man, woman, and child would go far toward solving many of agriculture's problems, according to E. V. Stadel, associate secretary of marketing for the Illinois Agricultural Association.

He spoke to rural youth members in their conference at the 41st annual meeting of the IAA, statewide farm bureau organization, in the Sherman hotel.

"The United States ranks fifth among nations in the per capita consumption of meat, and 13th among nations in per capita consumption of milk," Stadel said.

"INCREASED consumption of these high-protein foods would be an excellent health measure, in addition to going a long way toward helping farm surplus problems."

Stadel pointed out that while total farm output is rapidly increasing, net farm income has declined for the past several years.

"Large amounts of wheat, feed grain, cotton and other farm products are in government storage," he told the young farm people.

"These products in government storage have not been marketed. They must be moved into consumption before the marketing process is completed," Stadel said.

OUR JOB is to move farm production into channels of consumption, and not rely on government aid," he added.

"We are letting other nations outshine us in quality of diet. If every American citizen would eat an adequate breakfast, this alone would bring consumption into line with production," Stadel stated.

"American farmers, through their ingenuity, have demonstrated their ability to produce. The application of research findings, and perhaps new research in marketing, along with hard work and straight thinking, can bring the same results in marketing that they have in production," he concluded.

Honor 64,000 State 4-Hers On Achievement Day

The more than 64,000 Illinois 4-H club boys and girls were given special recognition for a year's work well done on national 4-H achievement day Saturday November 12.

Members of the state's 3,811 clubs were honored in their own counties for their club activities, their efforts in project work and the records they keep of their accomplishments.

Work of the more than 7,000 adult and junior leaders who guide the activities of the clubs were given public recognition.

FARM ADVISER John H. Bicket, reports a special program was held in Cook county at Arlington Heights on November 10th Parents, leaders and members attended and saw the county's outstanding 4-H club members receive their honors.

Project honor and outstanding members were named from the county's 15 agricultural and 25 home economics clubs.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson sent the following greetings in honor of 4-H Achievement.

"On this occasion of National 4-H achievement day, my associates and I in the department of agriculture and land-grant colleges extend warm commendations. You 4-H club members, enrolled more than 2,100,000 strong, have excelled in both number and quality of achievements during the past year. Sharing your honors, of course, are the thousands of volunteer leaders, parents, extension agents and many others who have contributed immeasurable in the support of your 4-H club work.

ALTHOUGH your program is national in scope and world-wide in influence, emphasis for this day properly belongs in your local community, town, and county. There your families, friends and neighbors may see and know firsthand what you are doing, and proudly acknowledge your efforts 'to make the best better.'

Many of your accomplishments will show up in displays and exhibits on achievement day, no doubt - in the quality of livestock, poultry, garden products, baked and canned goods, sewing, handicraft, and other items. They will reflect creditably on the excellence with which you have carried on a wide variety of projects in farming and homemaking, and with which you have followed this year's 4-H theme of 'improving family and community living.'

OF GREATEST significance in your 4-H experience is your training in character building, citizenship, and leadership. So I would salute you not only for what you have done in a tangible, material way, but for what you have gained this past year in initiative, self-reliance, and ability as homemakers, farmers and citizens of tomorrow, in greater knowledge and appreciation of your leadership responsibilities, and in more worthwhile and purposeful citizenship.

Training for leadership and citizenship is training for service. And when you are in the service of your fellow man, you are in the service of God, and are working toward not only a better America but a more peaceful, prosperous world."

Stock Show To Headline Farm Youth Activities

Hundreds of farm boys and girls from many states will spend their Thanksgiving holiday in Chicago to play a major role in the 1955 International live stock exposition November 25 through December 3.

Farm youth will be in the spotlight the first two days of the show. The national 4-H live stock judging contest will start the activities of the International Friday, November 25.

The junior livestock feeding contest is scheduled for Saturday, November 26. In this contest 4-H and FFA boys and girls will show their prize winning stock from county and state fairs earlier in the season. The management reports that over 500 head of 4-H and FFA raised livestock have been entered in the junior competitions of this year's show.

COLLEGIATE livestock judging contest will also be held on the opening Saturday. More than 35 teams of agricultural college students will compete in matching their judging skill of cattle, sheep, and hogs.

The grand champion steer award, the most coveted honor in the show, has been won by junior showmen 12 times in recent years. They have also shown grand champion swine and sheep in competition with veteran livestock breeders and exhibitors.

The 34th annual 4-H club congress will also be held in conjunction with the International Livestock exposition. It will bring nearly 2,000 of the country's top 4-H winners to Chicago. They will stage a spectacular parade at the International Horse Show Wednesday night, November 30.

Farmers To Question Experts On Program

A special radio program devoted to answering questions of farmers attending the 41st annual meeting of the Illinois agricultural association will be broadcast over radio station WGN, from 5:05 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19.

Norm Kraeft, WGN farm service director, said the 25-minute program will be unrehearsed and farmers will direct questions to two farm leaders.

Allan B. Kline, former president of the American farm bureau federation, and Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois agricultural association, are the two men to be quizzed, Kraeft said.

Subjects upon which farmers' questions are based will not be limited, Kraeft stated, although he expects farmers to be interested in raising farm income, changes that may be needed in the nation's farm program, and expansion of agricultural markets.

Cook County Farm Bureau Again Leads Nation

With a record high membership of 202,313 farmer members, Illinois leads all other state Farm Bureau organizations, it was reported by Charles S. Mayfield, secretary of organization for the Illinois agricultural association.

Mayfield said the 202,313 farmer members enables the statewide farm bureau organization to hold its position as the largest state farm organization in the United States.

A net gain of 1,278 members during the fiscal year was noted by Mayfield.

COUNTIES with the largest number of new members and the organization man in charge were: Cook, C. H. Mills, Arlington Heights, 306; Lake, Frank Thomas, Grayslake, 249; McHenry, Virgil Smith, Woodstock, 242; Henry, Hans Hiltbrand, Cambridge, 170; and Kane, G. W. Blanchard, Geneva, 152.

Counties and leaders in signing new farm bureau members during 1955 and their percentages of new member quota were: Jackson, Howard J. Struck, Murphysboro, 235 per cent; Marshall-Putnam, Erle A. Derry, Henry, 208 per cent; St. Clair, Ray Fuller, Belleville, 180 per cent; Cook, C. H. Mills, Arlington Heights, 173 per cent, and Tazewell, Howard Dagley, Pekin, 173 per cent.

The 10 top counties and their total memberships are: Cook, 5,840; McLean, 4,800; LaSalle, 4,243; Champaign, 4,128; Will, 4,125; Whiteside, 3,550; Henry, 3,503; Iroquois, 3,495; Livingston, 3,374; and DeKalb, 3,308.

Future Homes 4-H club held its Halloween party October 31 at the home of Susan Kapper. Members played games including "pass the corn kernel" and pantomimes. Later in the evening, refreshments were served.

Adequate Protein Diet For All Could Solve Surpluses

An adequate protein diet for every man, woman, and child would go far toward solving many of agriculture's problems, according to E. V. Stadel, associate secretary of marketing for the Illinois Agricultural Association.

He spoke to rural youth members in their conference at the 41st annual meeting of the IAA, statewide farm bureau organization, in the Sherman hotel.

"The United States ranks fifth among nations in the per capita consumption of meat, and 13th among nations in per capita consumption of milk," Stadel said.

"INCREASED consumption of these high-protein foods would be an excellent health measure, in addition to going a long way toward helping farm surplus problems."

Stadel pointed out that while total farm output is rapidly increasing, net farm income has declined for the past several years.

"Large amounts of wheat, feed grain, cotton and other farm products are in government storage," he told the young farm people.

"These products in government storage have not been marketed. They must be moved into consumption before the marketing process is completed," Stadel said.

OUR JOB is to move farm production into channels of consumption, and not rely on government aid," he added.

"We are letting other nations outshine us in quality of diet. If every American citizen would eat an adequate breakfast, this alone would bring consumption into line with production," Stadel stated.

"American farmers, through their ingenuity, have demonstrated their ability to produce. The application of research findings, and perhaps new research in marketing, along with hard work and straight thinking, can bring the same results in marketing that they have in production," he concluded.

Honor 64,000 State 4-Hers On Achievement Day

The more than 64,000 Illinois 4-H club boys and girls were given special recognition for a year's work well done on national 4-H achievement day Saturday November 12.

Members of the state's 3,811 clubs were honored in their own counties for their club activities, their efforts in project work and the records they keep of their accomplishments.

Work of the more than 7,000 adult and junior leaders who guide the activities of the clubs were given public recognition.

FARM ADVISER John H. Bicket, reports a special program was held in Cook county at Arlington Heights on November 10th Parents, leaders and members attended and saw the county's outstanding 4-H club members receive their honors.

Project honor and outstanding members were named from the county's 15 agricultural and 25 home economics clubs.

In addition the many awards made available by commercial business were presented to the award winners.

SECRETARY of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson sent the following greetings in honor of 4-H Achievement.

"On this occasion of National 4-H achievement day, my associates and I in the department of agriculture and land-grant colleges extend warm commendations. You 4-H club members, enrolled more than 2,100,000 strong, have excelled in both number and quality of achievements during the past year. Sharing your honors, of course, are the thousands of volunteer leaders, parents, extension agents and many others who have contributed immeasurable in the support of your 4-H club work.

ALTHOUGH your program is national in scope and world-wide in influence, emphasis for this day properly belongs in your local community, town, and county. There your families, friends and neighbors may see and know firsthand what you are doing, and proudly acknowledge your efforts 'to make the best better.'

Many of your accomplishments will show up in displays and exhibits on achievement day, no doubt - in the quality of livestock, poultry, garden products, baked and canned goods, sewing, handicraft, and other items. They will reflect creditably on the excellence with which you have carried on a wide variety of projects in farming and homemaking, and with which you have followed this year's 4-H theme of 'improving family and community living.'

OF GREATEST significance in your 4-H experience is your training in character building, citizenship, and leadership. So I would salute you not only for what you have done in a tangible, material way, but for what you have gained this past year in initiative, self-reliance, and ability as homemakers, farmers and citizens of tomorrow, in greater knowledge and appreciation of your leadership responsibilities, and in more worthwhile and purposeful citizenship.

Training for leadership and citizenship is training for service. And when you are in the service of your fellow man, you are in the service of God, and are working toward not only a better America but a more peaceful, prosperous world."

Stock Show To Headline Farm Youth Activities

Hundreds of farm boys and girls from many states will spend their Thanksgiving holiday in Chicago to play a major role in the 1955 International live stock exposition November 25 through December 3.

Farm youth will be in the spotlight the first two days of the show. The national 4-H live stock judging contest will start the activities of the International, Friday, November 25.

The junior livestock feeding contest is scheduled for Saturday, November 26. In this contest 4-H and FFA boys and girls will show their prize winning stock from county and state fairs earlier in the season. The management reports that over 500 head of 4-H and FFA raised livestock have been entered in the junior competitions of this year's show.

COLLEGIATE livestock judging contest will also be held on the opening Saturday. More than 35 teams of agricultural college students will compete in matching their judging skill of cattle, sheep, and hogs.

The grand champion steer award, the most coveted honor in the show, has been won by junior showmen 12 times in recent years. They have also shown grand champion swine and sheep in competition with veteran livestock breeders and exhibitors.

The 34th annual 4-H club congress will also be held in conjunction with the International Livestock exposition. It will bring nearly 2,000 of the country's top 4-H winners to Chicago. They will stage a spectacular parade at the International Horse Show Wednesday night, November 30.

Farmers To Question Experts On Program

A special radio program devoted to answering questions of farmers attending the 41st annual meeting of the Illinois agricultural association will be broadcast over radio station WGN, from 5:05 to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19.

Norm Kraeft, WGN farm service director, said the 25-minute program will be unrehearsed and farmers will direct questions to two farm leaders.

Allan B. Kline, former president of the American farm bureau federation, and Otto Steffey, president of the Illinois agricultural association, are the two men to be quizzed, Kraeft said.

Subjects upon which farmers' questions are based will not be limited, Kraeft stated, although he expects farmers to be interested in raising farm income, changes that may be needed in the nation's farm program, and expansion of agricultural markets.

Plan Live Stock Show In City

The world's largest livestock show, the International Livestock Exposition, will celebrate its 56th anniversary in Chicago November 25 to December 3.

Early entries are reported in such volume that the management predicts record numbers of exhibits in many divisions of this famous agricultural event.

More than $100,000 in prices is offered in competitions featuring 27 breeds of farm animals that produce the nation's meat. Polled Herefords will be exhibited at the International for the first time this year in the year's national showing of that popular beef cattle breed.

Plans are being shaped for an action packed 8-day program filled with interest to both farm and city visitors.

Fourten performances of the International horse show will provide the daily entertainment feature. An evening horse show, November 25 will officially open the exposition. In addition to 9 evening performances, matinee horse shows are scheduled Sunday, Nov. 27, and the following Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and the final Saturday, Dec. 3. (Fm

Beef Cattle Outlook For '56 About Same

Cattle feeders can look forward to "more of the same" during the 1955-56 feeding year says National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock publication.

This outlook is based on an analysis which indicates the 1956 calf crop and the number of cattle on feed will be about the same as last year.

NO SIGNIFICANT changes in price levels are expected and price margins between feeder cattle and fat cattle will again be low. Returns from beef cow herds are expected to remain at relatively low levels.

Lower fed costs will reduce the cost of putting gains on cattle in feedlots but profits will be low.

FEED PRICES have dropped sufficiently to restore the situation which existed in the early 1950's. Gains can be put on cattle below the level of eventual selling price making favorable price margins unnecessary, although desirable.

It also puts the feeder of light cattle in a somewhat stronger position because of lower gain costs. Wider grade price differentials are expected than in most of 1955, but when differences in costs are considered, the highly finished top cattle will again show lower profits than those of lower grades. S-D Day has been designated Safe Driving Day by President Eisenhower's committee on traffic safety. December 1 is the day set aside. Help keep our community free of traffic accidents that day and every day. It is alarming when one reads in the newspapers the number of people killed on the highways in our area. I am sure all of us take unnecessary chances at times. Let all of us study our safety habits and see if we cannot improve them.

NEAR THE END of the year one always thinks of the kind of job he has done in keeping records of his farming business. Records are easy to neglect. The University of Illinois, department of agricultural economics publishes the Illinois farm record book.

There were 30,000 used in Illinois last year. You can use these books for 3 purposes; Income Tax Reports, Credit Statements and study of your farm business. If you haven't seen one of the books ask for a copy the next time you visit the office.

WITH SOME CORN still to pick, most operators will work with necessary caution and have a successful season. Others will violate safe practices and suffer a shocking calamity - loss of a hand or arm, a leg or perhaps even a life. If you observe a few simple rules maybe you can prevent a tragedy. Some of the rules are:

1. Always stop the machine when making adjustments, oiling etc.
2. Dress for the job. Wear close fitting clothing. Extra thick gloves are dangerous.
3. Avoid extra riders.
4. Keep small children away.

ILLINI SNOWDRIFT -- Illini Goldilocks -- Illini Starflower - Illini I Glow, are the colorful names floriculturists at the University of Illinois have given to some of the many. varieties of beautiful chrysanthemums. They have developed. Illini Snowdrift was introduced in 1949. Illini I Glow in 1952. Starflower last year and Goldilocks made her debut this year.

Much of the breeding program at Illinois, however has been done on Mums. The University has developed more than 100 varieties in the past 47 years. There are over 800 varieties listed in seed cataloges.

Mums are one of the "least buys" in flowers. The reasons are that they keep so long as cut flowers or potted plants and they come in a wide variety of colors and types.

Farmers Discuss Soil Bank And Expanding Markets Here

Practical administration of a soil bank type of national farm program and methods of expanding agricultural markets are two of the problems Illinois farmers are discussing now.

Farm bureau members are mulling over these questions as part of the Illinois agricultural association's 1955 policy development program, according to R. V. McKee, chairman of the organization's tentative resolutions committee.

Members of the committee, farmers from every part of Illinois, will conclude a three-day meeting here tomorrow. They are beginning preparation of rersolutions to be submitted to voting delegates at the 41st IAA annual meeting next week at the Sherman hotel.

Consideration of these resolutions will conclude the four-day convention Thursday, Nov. 17.

THE COMMITTEE is being guided by reports gathered at five area meetings the last week in October. The report meetings followed a month of discussion by Farm Bureau members in township and community gatherings.

McKee, Marshall county farmer, said the soil bank plan, endorsed in principle by the 1954 voting delegates, is being discussed from the standpoint of practical application and administration.

The soil bank type of national farm program contains the basic idea that farmers should store fertility in the soil rather than produce unneeded crops, McKee said.

"We also find that many Illinois farmers are recommending increased promotion and advertising of farm products to expand markets," the chairman stated.

McKee said that consideration is being given to IAA position on the proposed revenue amendment to the state constitution. In the past, he pointed out, the Association policy has been to favor liberalization of the constitution's revenue article.

ANOTHER SUBJECT on the minds of farmers, according to McKee, is possible revision of the state welfare program to eliminate abuses. Some of the provisions of the welfare laws he said, seem to encourage practices which are not in the public interest.

Other subjects discussed by farmers in local meetings include taxation, toll roads, water use, and school problems, McKee added.

Farm bureau members will have another chance to set forth their opinions on current issues at an open session of the resolutions committee during the annual meeting. The committee will hear testimony at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. (Fm

State Farm Coops Close Record Year Of Sales

That fact is revealed in annual reports of affiliated companies holding meetings in conjunction with the 41st convention of the IAA, the statewide Farm Bureau group.

Closing its books on 29 years of operation, Illinois Farm Supply company, a purchasing cooperative, reported an all-time record volume of goods and services of $63,104,000.

THE FARM cooperative distributed 227.4 million gallons of petroleum and 120,433 tons of feed. Completion of a new $2,000,000 fertilizer plant in Tuscola, Douglas county, was reported at the meeting.

"Illinois Farm Supply company's dividends and refunds to members were at a record level," according to IAA President Otto Steffey.

Three insurance companies affiliated with the farm organization also reported successful business operations in fiscal 1955.

Country Life Insurance company reported $670 million of life insurance in force--a record for the 26-year-old company. A new medical catastrophe policy to protect farm families against costly accidents and illnesses was reported at the meeting.

A 25 PER CENT dividend, totaling $1,235,750 on crop hail insurance, was announced at the annual meeting of Country Mutual Fire company.

Country Fire continues to be the largest underwriter of crop hail insurance in the country. An all-time high of $1.7 billion of fire, wind, and extended coverage insurance in force was reported.

A record number of the new farmers comprehensive liability policies was written in 1955 by Country Mutual Casualty company, according to reports at its annual meeting. Country Casualty has returned more than $22.5 million in dividends since the company was formed.

Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Convention

Over the weekend of November 26 and 27 delegates and members of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association from throughout the United States, Canada, and several foreign countries will begin arriving in Chicago. The occasion will be the 72nd annual meeting of the national breed registry association, traditionally held in conjunction with the International Livestock exposition, which this year gets an earlier-than-usual start, because Thanksgiving comes early. The famous stock show always begins the Saturday following the November holiday.

Headquarters for the Angus breeders and their guests will again be the Palmer House, where many of the activities of the week will take place.

Hog Marketing System Lags Behind, Must Be Modernized

"WE MUST GEAR our hog marketing system to the 'true value' of the hogs to the packer," Henning told farmers gathered at the conference.

Farmers are receiving a differential in some markets for No. 1 hogs, he said. "But even in these markets there is still no significant difference in the market price of No. 2 and No. 3 hogs," he continued.

No. 2 hogs are those of average finish while No. 3 hogs are ones classed as fat or over-fat.

Henning believes the recognition of the difference in value must be accepted generally and must be put into practice.

PART OF the reason for failure to get such a system working is due, Henning believes. to the fact that farmer producers have not universally accepted the idea that they would be better off producing meat-type hogs.

As a consequence, there still is a large volume of fat or over-fat market offerings, Henning points out.

"So long as packers buy these animals, and producers don't sustain any significant discount on them, it's likely such producers will continue to raise lardy hogs," he said.

THE OHIO economist says the continuous decline over the last several years in the market value of lard is a positive sign the public doesn't want to buy pork fat to the extent it once did.

"The relatively lower value of hog fat to the processor should be reflected in lower prices for live animals carrying excess fat," Henning said.

"THESE TESTS have shown that meat-type strains gain just as rapidly as other strains, and in some instances, even faster. At the same time, meat-type hogs have made their gains on less feed--or at best no more than the others," he explained.

On the rail, Henning said meat-type hogs have yielded six per cent more of their carcass weight in the four lean cuts--hams, loins, picnics, and Boston butts.

"This makes them relatively more valuable to the buyer," he

Beef Cattle Outlook For '56 About Same

Cattle feeders can look forward to "more of the same" during the 1955-56 feeding year says National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock publication.

This outlook is based on an analysis which indicates the 1956 calf crop and the number of cattle on feed will be about the same as last year.

NO SIGNIFICANT changes in price levels are expected and price margins between feeder cattle and fat cattle will again be low. Returns from beef cow herds are expected to remain at relatively low levels.

Lower fed costs will reduce the cost of putting gains on cattle in feedlots but profits will be low.

FEED PRICES have dropped sufficiently to restore the situation which existed in the early 1950's. Gains can be put on cattle below the level of eventual selling price making favorable price margins unnecessary, although desirable.

It also puts the feeder of light cattle in a somewhat stronger position because of lower gain costs. Wider grade price differentials are expected than in most of 1955, but when differences in costs are considered, the highly finished top cattle will again show lower profits than those of lower grades. S-D Day has been designated Safe Driving Day by President Eisenhower's committee on traffic safety. December 1 is the day set aside. Help keep our community free of traffic accidents that day and every day. It is alarming when one reads in the newspapers the number of people killed on the highways in our area. I am sure all of us take unnecessary chances at times. Let all of us study our safety habits and see if we cannot improve them.

NEAR THE END of the year one always thinks of the kind of job he has done in keeping records of his farming business. Records are easy to neglect. The University of Illinois, department of agricultural economics publishes the Illinois farm record book.

There were 30,000 used in Illinois last year. You can use these books for 3 purposes; Income Tax Reports, Credit Statements and study of your farm business. If you haven't seen one of the books ask for a copy the next time you visit the office.

WITH SOME CORN still to pick, most operators will work with necessary caution and have a successful season. Others will violate safe practices and suffer a shocking calamity - loss of a hand or arm, a leg or perhaps even a life. If you observe a few simple rules maybe you can prevent a tragedy. Some of the rules are:

1. Always stop the machine when making adjustments, oiling etc.
2. Dress for the job. Wear close fitting clothing. Extra thick gloves are dangerous.
3. Avoid extra riders.
4. Keep small children away.

ILLINI SNOWDRIFT -- Illini Goldilocks -- Illini Starflower - Illini I Glow, are the colorful names floriculturists at the University of Illinois have given to some of the many varieties of beautiful chrysanthemums. They have developed. Illini Snowdrift was introduced in 1949. Illini I Glow in 1952. Starflower last year and Goldilocks made her debut this year.

Much of the breeding program at Illinois, however has been done on Mums. The University has developed more than 100 varieties in the past 47 years. There are over 800 varieties listed in seed cataloges.

Mums are one of the "least buys" in flowers. The reasons are that they keep so long as cut flowers or potted plants and they come in a wide variety of colors and types.

Farmers Discuss Soil Bank And Expanding Markets Here

Practical administration of a soil bank type of national farm program and methods of expanding agricultural markets are two of the problems Illinois farmers are discussing now.

Farm bureau members are mulling over these questions as part of the Illinois agricultural association's 1955 policy development program, according to R. V. McKee, chairman of the organization's tentative resolutions committee.

Members of the committee, farmers from every part of Illinois, will conclude a three-day meeting here tomorrow. They are beginning preparation of rersolutions to be submitted to voting delegates at the 41st IAA annual meeting next week at the Sherman hotel.

Consideration of these resolutions will conclude the four-day convention Thursday, Nov. 17.

THE COMMITTEE is being guided by reports gathered at five area meetings the last week in October. The report meetings followed a month of discussion by Farm Bureau members in township and community gatherings.

McKee, Marshall county farmer, said the soil bank plan, endorsed in principle by the 1954 voting delegates, is being discussed from the standpoint of practical application and administration.

The soil bank type of national farm program contains the basic idea that farmers should store fertility in the soil rather than produce unneeded crops, McKee said.

"We also find that many Illinois farmers are recommending increased promotion and advertising of farm products to expand markets," the chairman stated.

McKee said that consideration is being given to IAA position on the proposed revenue amendment to the state constitution. In the past, he pointed out, the Association policy has been to favor liberalization of the constitution's revenue article.

ANOTHER SUBJECT on the minds of farmers, according to McKee, is possible revision of the state welfare program to eliminate abuses. Some of the provisions of the welfare laws he said, seem to encourage practices which are not in the public interest.

Other subjects discussed by farmers in local meetings include taxation, toll roads, water use, and school problems, McKee added.

Farm bureau members will have another chance to set forth their opinions on current issues at an open session of the resolutions committee during the annual meeting. The committee will hear testimony at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 15. (Fm

That fact is revealed in annual reports of affiliated companies holding meetings in conjunction with the 41st convention of the IAA, the statewide Farm Bureau group.

Closing its books on 29 years of operation, Illinois Farm Supply company, a purchasing cooperative, reported an all-time record volume of goods and services of $63,104,000.

THE FARM cooperative distributed 227.4 million gallons of petroleum and 120,433 tons of feed. Completion of a new $2,000,000 fertilizer plant in Tuscola, Douglas county, was reported at the meeting.

"Illinois Farm Supply company's dividends and refunds to members were at a record level," according to IAA President Otto Steffey.

Three insurance companies affiliated with the farm organization also reported successful business operations in fiscal 1955.

Country Life Insurance company reported $670 million of life insurance in force--a record for the 26-year-old company. A new medical catastrophe policy to protect farm families against costly accidents and illnesses was reported at the meeting.

A 25 PER CENT dividend, totaling $1,235,750 on crop hail insurance, was announced at the annual meeting of Country Mutual Fire company.

Country Fire continues to be the largest underwriter of crop hail insurance in the country. An all-time high of $1.7 billion of fire, wind, and extended coverage insurance in force was reported.

A record number of the new farmers comprehensive liability policies was written in 1955 by Country Mutual Casualty company, according to reports at its annual meeting. Country Casualty has returned more than $22.5 million in dividends since the company was formed.

Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Convention

Over the weekend of November 26 and 27 delegates and members of the American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association from throughout the United States, Canada, and several foreign countries will begin arriving in Chicago. The occasion will be the 72nd annual meeting of the national breed registry association, traditionally held in conjunction with the International Livestock exposition, which this year gets an earlier-than-usual start, because Thanksgiving comes early. The famous stock show always begins the Saturday following the November holiday.

Headquarters for the Angus breeders and their guests will again be the Palmer House, where many of the activities of the week will take place.

Hog Marketing System Lags Behind, Must Be Modernized

Our hog marketing system lags behind those dealing with other farm commodities, contends George F. Henning, Ohio State University agricultural economist.

Henning expressed this view here at the livestock conference of the 41st annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural Association, the statewide farm bureau organization. The IAA's four-day convention ends Thursday in the Sherman hotel.

"WE MUST GEAR our hog marketing system to the 'true value' of the hogs to the packer," Henning told farmers gathered at the conference.

Farmers are receiving a differential in some markets for No. 1 hogs, he said. "But even in these markets there is still no significant difference in the market price of No. 2 and No. 3 hogs," he continued.

No. 2 hogs are those of average finish while No. 3 hogs are ones classed as fat or over-fat.

Henning believes the recognition of the difference in value must be accepted generally and must be put into practice.

PART OF the reason for failure to get such a system working is due, Henning believes, to the fact that farmer producers have not universally accepted the idea that they would be better off producing meat-type hogs.

As a consequence, there still is a large volume of fat or over-fat market offerings, Henning points out.

"So long as packers buy these animals, and producers don't sustain any significant discount on them, it's likely such producers will continue to raise lardy hogs," he said.

THE OHIO economist says the continuous decline over the last several years in the market value of lard is a positive sign the public doesn't want to buy pork fat to the extent it once did.

"The relatively lower value of hog fat to the processor should be reflected in lower prices for live animals carrying excess fat," Henning said.

Henning says farmers who believe they cannot produce meat-type hogs advantageously should take a second look at their operations. He says results obtained at the Ohio swine evaluation station substantiate his position.

"THESE TESTS have shown that meat-type strains gain just as rapidly as other strains, and in some instances, even faster. At the same time, meat-type hogs have made their gains on less feed--or at best no more than the others," he explained.

On the rail, Henning said meat-type hogs have yielded six per cent more of their carcass weight in the four lean cuts--hams, loins, picnics, and Boston butts.

"This makes them relatively more valuable to the buyer," he

Purchases Guernsey

Fort Dodge Creamery Co., Fort Dodge, Iowa, has just purchased the young Guernsey sire, Rosewood D. Nobleman, from W. H. Odlum, Roselle, according to the American Guernsey Cattle club.

This richly bred young bull is out of the high-producing cow, Lockshore Leda, that has three times been classified Excellent for type, and has two production records of 11,194 pounds of milk and 575 pounds of fat, made on two times daily milking for 305 days as a junior three-year-old and met calving requirements, and 14,121 pounds of milk and 736 pounds of fat, made on two times daily milking for 365 days as a junior four-year-old. He is sired by Norgert's Royal Diamond.
